PURGERS FACING TEST TOMORROW IN 3 PRIMARIES

Missouri, Virginia, Kansas Voting.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Primaries in Virginia, Kansas, and Missouri, will provide tests on Tuesday for the current campaign to smear and purge prewar noninterventionists and other anti-New Deal members of congress. Coöperating in the smear-purge enterprise are the Roosevelt administration, the Marshall Field press, the Henry Luce press, the so-called Union for Democratic Action, and affiliated Communist front organizations.

Rep. H. W. Smith.

The bitterest contest to be decided Tuesday and the one in which the purgers expect to make their best showing is in Virginia's eighth congressional district, where Rep. Howard W. Smith, a Democrat, is opposed for renomination in the Democratic primary by Emmett C. Davison, a labor union official and former mayor of Alexandria. Davison was defeated a few years ago after he had been indicted and tried twice on a charge of perjury. The first jury disagreed; the second acquitted him.

Smith Victory Expected.

Informed observers expect Rep. Smith to be renominated, altho his supporters concede that his huge majorities of previous years will be reduced by the thousands of government pay rollers who have moved across the Potomac.

Rep. Smith, the foremost advocate of labor reform legislation in congress, is rivaled only by Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], the leading prewar noninterventionist, for the distinction of being first on the list of congressmen marked for liquidation.

The special purge supplement of the pinko New Republic, published last May 18, for the Union for Democratic Action, denounced Smith as an outstanding "obstructionist." "From his position on the rules committee, Smith is an effective bottleneck for progressive measures and a vigorous expediter of all anti-labor legislation," the New Republic added.

Dies Condemned by UDA.

This was cited by the Dies committee on un-American activities as evidence that the purgers are not sincere in their pretense of demanding a "congress to win the war," but are "trying to use the war to advance their own revolutionary programs."

The Dies committee report condemned the UDA as the spearhead of a widespread conspiracy to destroy representative government.

The UDA, aided by Marshall Field's PM and other radical publications, has flooded Rep. Smith's district with propaganda urging voters to retire him from public life. Kenneth Crawford, Washington correspondent of PM, is a member of the UDA executive committee.

"Deserted" President.

Notwithstanding his support of all national defense legislation and all but one of the Roosevelt war policy measures, Smith's opponents are charging that he deserted the President just before Pearl Harbor.

After an exhaustive investigation of the National Labor Relations board in the last congress, a committee headed by Smith obtained overwhelming house approval of legislation completely overhauling the labor relations act. Last year Smith put thru the house a bill to curb strikes in armament factories. Both measures were bottled in committee.

Sen. Arthur Capper, Rep. Thomas Winter, and Rep. William P. Lambertson, all Republicans, are the only members from Kansas on the UDA's official purge list. Sen. Capper and Rep. Lambertson are expected to be easy winners over two opponents each in Tuesday's primary, while Rep. Winter has no opposition.

Rep. Dewey Short, another Republican, is the only Missourian on the purge list and has no serious primary opposition.

COUNCIL OF AFL TO DISCUSS NEW CIO PEACE PLAN

Program Submitted by Murray.

New peace proposals from the Congress of Industrial Organizations will be considered by the American Federation of Labor executive council at a conference in the Drake hotel tomorrow.

Philip Murray, CIO president, yesterday sent a letter from his Pittsburgh, Pa., headquarters to William Green, AFL president, outlining a peace program. Green was reported already on the way to Chicago with George Meany, AFL secretary and other AFL chiefs.

Peace proposals between the two labor organizations have been discussed for some time as a step toward speeding war production. Labor men believe work stoppages can be ended by eliminating jurisdictional controversies between the rival forces.

Murray Qualifies Offer.

Murray said in his letter that the CIO is willing to enter into negotiations provided they do not interfere with the existing system of functional coöperation between the organizations.

Labor men were unable to predict whether the actual peace conference might be held in Chicago while the AFL executive council meets here.

Murray named a committee of three to represent the CIO in a conference which he said should be held to discuss "possible establishment of organic unity between our organizations." He asked Green to appoint a similar committee.

Murray Heads Committee.

Murray heads the CIO committee, which includes R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers, and Julius Emspak of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and former CIO head, who ousted Murray from the UMW vice presidency, was a member of the original CIO peace committee.

It is rumored that Murray's peace move was made to forestall an attempt by Lewis to take his United Mine Workers union back into the AFL fold. This would injure Murray and the CIO.

Murray said in his letter that his organization is concerned about work stoppages and charged they had been caused "by certain affiliates of the AFL because of some jurisdictional dispute."

Points to WLB Suggestion.

Murray warned that the peace discussions must not, "under any circumstance, be permitted to interfere with the all important matter of continued joint action between the CIO and AFL on issues affecting the fullest possible prosecution of the war effort."

He said he had suggested to the AFL that jurisdictional disputes be submitted to arbitration by the War Labor board, but that the suggestion had not been accepted.

CANADA TO START TEA AND COFFEE RATIONING TODAY

IT TAKES FAITH TO WIN, U. S. TOLD

Ackerman Demands End of 'Fear Propaganda.'

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 2 [Special].—The government's practice of disseminating "fear propaganda" as a part of the war effort is a source of confusion to the American people, Dean Carl W. Ackerman of Columbia university's school of journalism, said in an interview here today.

Ackerman urged an aggressive leadership that would drop the "fear motif" in favor of faith. He praised the American press for the job it has done in presenting the war news and described the newspapers as "operating between censorship at the source, on one hand, and sniping by government officials on the other."

Tells Value of Faith.

"At every turn we face the fear emotion," Ackerman said, "the danger of defeat, of invasion, of domination by the Nazis or the Japs, of lack of rubber and gasoline. Yet everything this nation has accomplished has been based on faith, not fear—faith in our industries, our railroads, our schools, our homes.

"I wonder why the government doesn't realize that Americans can be inspired to vastly greater and heroic efforts by faith.

"This fear angle can be overplayed as it was by the boy who cried, 'Wolf, wolf.' People generally are less frightened than they were, and their attitude is being reflected in news reporting and in editorial and interpretive comment.

Confusion in Capital.

"We are fooling ourselves and weakening our war effort with the notion that we can win the conflict with propaganda. We're not fooling our enemies."

Ackerman asserted that the "mass of contradictory information flowing out of Washington" shows confusion in the administration of the war effort.

War Drum Beats for Yanks—but It Plays "Adeste Fidelis!"

[Here is the first of three dispatches on the adventures of an American pilot and his radioman in the Coral sea. The second is made up of excerpts from the pilot's diary, and the third will complete the story of his experiences.]

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, T. H., July 27 [by air mail].—A pilot from the aircraft carrier Lexington which was sunk almost three months ago during the Coral sea battle, has just made his way back to Honolulu after a sojourn with reformed cannibals and a trip thru the Louisiade archipelago on an Australian warship searching for Coral sea survivors—and Japs.

The pilot is Lieut. [JG] Anthony J. Quigley, 27 years old, of San Francisco, Cal. The fact that he was safe was reported in the Coral sea stories of Stanley Johnston, Chicago Tribune correspondent who was aboard the Lexington. But details of his rescue—with a diary kept by Quigley during part of his absence—are here told for the first time.

Lieut. [then ensign] Quigley, with R. E. Wheelhouse, 23, of Rushville, Ill., radioman third class, took off from the Lexington the morning of May 7 to bomb a Jap carrier. Lieut. Quigley — now recovering in the naval hospital at Pearl Harbor from malaria—has no trouble at all remembering what happened during the next couple of hours.

Fired on by Cruiser.

"I had just pulled out of a dive," he said, "after releasing a bomb, when Wheelhouse yelled that there was a fighter on our tail and I heard a .20 millimeter cannon and saw tracer bullets. He must have come up from underneath, but I never saw any more of him than his shadow.

"He got a lucky hit on our left aileron and it jammed up. The rudder jammed too, and I had to give it full right stick to keep in the air. It was a peculiar situation. I was about 1,500 feet high, doing perhaps 100 miles, and had to pass right next to a heavy Jap cruiser which fired its 3 inch anti-aircraft gun at us.

"We saw another fighter a half mile off our starboard quarter and I thought: 'It not only rains but it pours.' He could have picked us off, but instead he hopped another of our planes. I could see tracer bullets going past it, and then a second American plane came up and got on the Jap's tail.

"The Zero did a loop about 10 feet off the water, and came in behind this guy's tail, and by then I couldn't watch them any more.

Tells Plight to Skipper.

"I knew I couldn't get aboard the carrier and I couldn't land in rough water, because when I slowed down the left wing dropped. So I called the skipper and told him I thought I'd take a little vacation on the islands. He asked if there were any way I could get back, and I said I didn't think so, so he said to do what I thought best.

"Meanwhile some joker in a plane piped in to tell me to 'watch out for those brown skinned beauties.'

"The skipper asked where I was

DAILY EXPRESS WARNS OF LONG, HARD WAR AGAINST SUBMARINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 3 [Monday].—A Daily Express editorial this morning warns against pinning hopes on any panacea for the present war problems of the united nations. "Do not look for American brainwaves for using transport planes in place of ships to save us," it declares. "We shall find safety and victory only from our own efforts. We must double the output of our own shipyards."

The paper says Germany has mastered the problem of mass production of U-boats and that her submarine fleet today has twice its peak strength of the last year. It deprecates the notion that Germany must eventually run short of U-boats and points out that "Hitler has 300 million human beings in his power. If he cannot force conquered seamen to serve in his navy he can put them at work which releases young German seamen for the U-boat service."

RUSSIAN AIRMEN SLOW UP FOE'S PUSH IN CAUCASUS

Battle Hitler Chute Troops; Execute Scores of Spies.

MOSCOW, Aug. 3 [Monday]—(AP).—Soviet troops were reported early today to have smashed repeated German tank attacks in the Don river elbow northwest of Stalingrad while Red air squadrons rushed to the western Caucasus slowed the Nazi drive in the Kushchevka-Salsk areas.

The midnight communique indicated little change on the long curving front, but said the Russians were reaping a heavy toll in Nazi men and material.

Aside from the grave military situation the Russians reported another menace in the appearance of fifth columnists. Scores of these spies, aided by German parachutists dropped behind the soviet lines, were executed after the discovery of a monster spy ring operating along the Don river. The Russians said 45 men were executed in one sector.

Repel Nazis at Kletskaya.

In the Kletskaya area, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, the Russians announced, soviet troops "are repelling the enemy attacks by counterblows, inflicting heavy losses upon the enemy."

At one point south of that town one Nazi detachment which broke thru the Russian lines was wiped out, the communique said. Some 1,300 Germans were reported slain in one day.

Altho the Germans still were crossing the Don in the Tsimlyansk area, 120 miles upstream from Rostov, the communique indicated soviet troops south of the river were holding in that critical middle sector. It was previously announced that 4,000 Germans were slain in this area while attempting to cross the river.

The communique did not mention any further Russian withdrawals at Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, or at Kushchevka, 50 miles south of Rostov on the road to Kuban province. Both cities are on the important soviet railway network in the area—a network which no longer effectively links the western Caucasus troops with Stalingrad in the east.

Down 23 Planes.

Few details of the Salsk fighting were given, but the Russians said the Germans lost 8 tanks, 11 guns, 23 planes, 17 motor vehicles, and 800 men yesterday in the Kushchevka sector.

On the upper Don the Russians said their troops in the Voronezh area still were sapping the strength of the Hungarian and German brigades.

Russian airmen and anti-aircraft artillery batteries were credited with destroying 286 enemy planes last week. Soviet losses were listed as 201 for the same period.

Fleet Bombs Port.

Joining in the fight of all arms against the enemy, a strong force of the Russian navy's Black sea fleet heavily bombarded a German-occu-

THREE SHIPS TO LEAVE MONTREAL THIS WEEK WITH FOOD FOR GREECE

New York, Aug. 2 [Special].—Three Swedish steamers under charter to the Greek War Relief association will leave Montreal, Que., early this week for Greece with 15,000 tons of grain and 50 tons of medical supplies. In the cargo will be 10 automobiles to be used in distribution of the food.

This will begin a series of monthly grain shipments to Greece, with three more vessels leaving the latter part of this month and two in September. The chartering of the eight Swedish vessels was handled by the Swedish Red Cross. Safe conduct guarantees have been granted by all belligerent nations. Distribution will be handled by the Swedish and International Red Cross.

Officials of the Greek War Relief association said previous food shipments have been insufficient to prevent widespread starvation in Greece.

Moscow Press Hails U. S., British Pleas for Second Front.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—All Moscow newspapers today prominently displayed dispatches from London and New York describing agitation in favor of an early opening of a second front. The dispatches referred particularly to an editorial of the Washington [D. C.] Post and to a recent mass meeting in London's Trafalgar Square.

This was the first time since mid-June that the second front has been mentioned in the press altho it has been discussed publicly and with growing anxiety recently. Germany is trying to play on the nerves of Russian soldiers by dropping millions of small leaflets bearing only the words, "and, the second front?"

Believed Nazis Feared Invasion.

When Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov returned from England and the United States in June it was popularly believed that the war had entered a new phase and that if the Germans opened an offensive their commanders would fear the mounting danger in the west which would handicap the speed and weight of their attack. On the contrary, the Germans are believed to have transferred significant strength from occupied areas.

It is said that recently 16 divisions, including two armored divisions, left France and the Low Countries for the east, leaving nine divisions in France.

Neither is there any indication Hitler's allies are worried about the second front bogey.

It is believed that the equivalent of 15 Hungarian divisions must now be added to the 12 Rumanian and the 10 Hungarian divisions fighting between Voronezh and the Kuban province steppes.

"11TH HOUR" WARNINGS

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 2.—A growing feeling thruout this country that the eleventh hour has been reached for a decision on a second front to save Russia was expressed today by newspapers of all political faiths.

Aneurin Bevan, Laborite member of parliament and one of the most effective leaders in the recent censure debate against the government and in the Labor party insurrection last week, wrote in a specially requested article in the Sunday Pictorial: "A second front now or never."

The military correspondent of the very conservative Sunday Observer demanded "action without delay—no half measure will do."

Rips Leaders for Inaction.

Bevan took the British government to task for failing to take advantage of the one fact which "everybody knew"—that "Hitler would have to go all out to smash soviet resistance this year." He charged that the war leaders have done "precisely nothing" toward taking advantage of this situation and that every day of delay is immensely strengthening Germany at the expense of Russia.

The British people, Bevan said, witness this spectacle with remarkable forbearance because they have been led to believe from statements of Sir Stafford Cripps, leader of the house of commons, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and Prime Minister Winston Churchill that a second front is contemplated.

Demands Cabinet Changes.

"It will go hard with the British government if it turns out that the Russians have been cruelly deceived," Bevan warned.

"Time is against us," wrote the military correspondent of the Sunday Observer.

He recommended an immediate "drastic and imaginative" reorganization of the war cabinet under a general staff which would control all the services as a preliminary to action. He asserts this would convince every one that the British "mean to carry out the most solemn pledge that this nation has ever given, and would give us a means which would guarantee its most effective execution."

CHINESE THROW BACK NEW JAP LANDING FORCE

Drive Them from Heights in Chekiang.

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 2 (AP).—Chinese forces in the seaboard province of Chekiang have halted the inland advance of a Japanese column which landed 30 miles below the port of Wenchow, the Chinese high command announced today.

On the United States aerial front in China, a communique from headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell said all was quiet.

In Pursuit of Japs.

The Chinese said their troops in an action south of Lishui, 55 miles northwest of Wenchow, dislodged Japanese invaders from heights and repulsed an enemy counterattack.

"At present the Chinese are in hot pursuit of the enemy south of Lishui," the command added.

Traffic on the Peking-Hankow railroad was disrupted between Hankow and Sinyang by demolition work of Chinese sappers. Reports said many bridges along a highway paralleling the railway were blown up and several stretches of the highway were rendered impassable.

"Ready for Offensive."

High quarters said today they believed Lauchlin Currie, President Roosevelt's personal emissary, would tell the latter that the Chinese are ready to start a general counter offensive as soon as they receive sufficient air support.

These quarters said they believed the Chinese forces, given proper air support, could retake Nanchang in Kiangsi province, and push on to stride the Yangtze river. They would thus cut the Japanese supply route to Central China.

United States air headquarters denied reports circulating abroad that American planes had attacked Hongkong. The report originated in the Chinese newspaper Ta Kung Pao July 23 and has recurred since. It was believed to have been a garbled version of the American raid on Kiukiang, a Yangtze river port, July 20.

NEGRO SOLDIERS, POLICE CLASH IN FLORIDA; 6 HELD

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 2 (AP).—All places of business along a four block strip in the Negro section here were ordered temporarily closed by Police Chief A. J. Roberts following a clash today between Negro soldiers and Jacksonville police. Six of the soldiers were arrested.

Military police and local police were summoned to restore order after Negro soldiers attempted to take a soldier prisoner away from two policemen, Chief Roberts said. The soldier was arrested after he allegedly threatended a Negro woman with a knife.

CAPTURE ROBBERY SUSPECT.

James Leslie Ladd, 18 years old, was captured by Policemen Leonard Kruesler and Leo Mikell yesterday after they said he had stolen a purse from Mrs. Anna Weyer of 1258 Norwood avenue at Balmoral and Lakewood avenues. Ladd lives at 5925 Magnolia avenue.

JAPS REPORTED SLOWLY MOVING TO ATTACK INDIA

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 2 (AP).—Japanese movements in Burma suggest preparations for an invasion of India, said intelligence service reports received here today.

The Japanese, according to these reports, are moving slowly from Akyab, on the west coast of Burma, in the direction of the Indian border.

Advance Very Carefully.

The reports said the Japanese were carrying out "seepage tactics." Advances, it was stated, were being made carefully and new positions consolidated mile by mile.

[Another indication that the Japanese may contemplate some action against India was contained in a dispatch from Bangkok broadcast by the Berlin radio. It said Rash Behari Bose, exiled leader of a Japanese-sponsored Indian independence movement, in a radio address warned that the "Japanese troops are in readiness on the eastern border of India." He was quoted as saying they could start "fresh operations at any moment," but were waiting to see whether India would throw off British rule without Japanese intercession. Last week, however, dispatches from India quoted travelers from Burma as saying the Japanese had withdrawn most of the 8,000 troops in the Chindwin valley in Burma.]

RAF Bombs Jap Base.

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 2 (AP).—An RAF communique today said: "The RAF attacked an enemy base on the Chindwin river in northern Burma Friday. Among the objectives attacked were motor transport vehicles. Intense antiaircraft fire was encountered, but the bombs dropped with effect, damaging roads and buildings. From these operations our aircraft returned safely."

NEGRO STABBED TO DEATH.

David Jackson, 24 years old, colored, of 3303 Vernon avenue, was found stabbed fatally early yesterday at 30th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

FIGHTING MAORIS EXPAND THEIR AID TO NEW ZEALAND

Natives Act to Boost War Production.

BY QUENTIN POPE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 2.—New Zealand's war effort was stepped up today when the brown skinned Maoris created an organization to extend their services to war production. Already the Maoris have won honors on the field of battle, but now the warriors, and the Maori women, will be directed by tribal committee into other channels of national service as well. The program will be under the direction of P. K. Paikea, a Maori owning cabinet rank as minister in charge of the native war effort.

Win Honors in Crete.

Altho they are the only race in New Zealand exempted from the draft, the Maoris began enlisting in large numbers as soon as the army called for men at the start of the war. They offered full participation in the war in September, 1939, and won the right to form a battalion for employment either at home or abroad.

This was the spearhead of a regiment which won honors in bayonet fighting in Crete and in covering the retreat of the British 8th army against German Marshal Erwin Rommel's latest advance in Libya and Egypt.

Register Maori Manpower.

The natives' enthusiasm for combat is shown in the fact that when voluntary enlistment ended here in July, 1940, the defense ministry revealed that 40 per cent of the natives were asking for a chance to serve.

A year ago 67 recruiting stations were created thru the native territory for the creation of a register of Maori manpower.

Early this year the government approved formation of a new native battalion for home service.

PARIS STORE RIOT WAS "FOR U. S.," BERLIN REPORTS

BERLIN, Aug. 3 [Monday] [From German broadcasts]—(AP).—The Berlin radio said today that a French woman jumped on a table in a Paris store Saturday, shouted, "Rise against the oppressors—as the Americans asked you to do," and started a riot in which one person was killed and seven were wounded, including a German soldier who is not expected to recover.

[Vichy, France, dispatches said Saturday that one Frenchman was killed and 12 were wounded in a food store riot.]

The Berlin broadcast said that when French police intervened, a group of gunmen opened fire to "cover the retreat of the woman agitator" and other women who were distributing propaganda leaflets. Among the wounded were two French policemen. The Vichy chief of government, Pierre Laval, visited a Paris hospital Sunday to give the policemen distinguished service medals, the radio said.

BANDIT ROBS CONDUCTOR.

A bandit invaded a Damen avenue street car at Webster avenue early yesterday and took $16 from the conductor, Otto Weber of 2201 24th street.

FREE INDIA OR SHE WILL WELCOME JAPS, GANDHI WARNS ALLIES

BOMBAY, Aug. 2 (AP).—India's Nationalist leader, Mohandas K. Gandhi warned the united nations today that "we know if India doesn't become free now, hidden discontent will burst forth into a welcome to the Japanese."

"We feel," he wrote in his newspaper Harijan, "that such an event would be a calamity of the first magnitude, but we can avoid it if India gains her freedom."

The All-India Congress party is to reach a final decision Friday on Gandhi's projected nonviolence campaign against the British. Gandhi wrote that the "chorus of indignation" from Britain and the United States over his resistance plans would not deter India.

A riot broke out last night in the old city of Delhi. Seventeen persons were taken to a hospital after a Hindu-Moslem quarrel in which the general populace waded in.

6 ENEMY PLANES DOWNED IN FIGHT OVER NEW GUINEA

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 3 [Monday]—(AP).—Allied planes shot down six Japanese aircraft over the Kokoda-Gona area of southeastern New Guinea yesterday as coöperating allied ground patrols dispersed Japanese outpost groups in a jungle fight near Kokoda, it was announced officially today. Three allied planes were reported missing, but one listed as missing yesterday returned today.

A seventh Japanese plane was bagged by an aerial reconnaissance unit over Salamaua, New Guinea, the communique said, and in a night raid allied bombers also scored hits "on an airdrome and anti-aircraft positions" at nearby Lae.

In the Banda sea allied planes successfully fought off Jap fighters and two flying boats in their relentless pursuit of the Japanese cruiser they have harried for three days. Results of the latest attack were "unknown."

Of the fighting at Kokoda, which is about 60 miles east of the allied base at Port Moresby, the communique said: "Our fighters and bombers strafed enemy positions and supply dumps, starting many fires. Our ground patrols dispersed enemy outpost groups in jungle fighting."

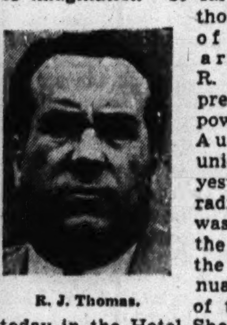
AUTO WORKERS DEMAND OPENING OF SECOND FRONT

Union Opens Convention in City Today.

Labor is disappointed at the "lack of imagination" so far displayed by those in charge of American armed forces, R. J. Thomas, president of the powerful United Auto Workers' union, CIO, said yesterday in a radio speech that was a prelude to the opening of the seventh annual convention of the UAW-CIO today in the Hotel Sherman.



R. J. Thomas.

Thomas also spoke at a mass meeting sponsored by the CIO in Grant park to welcome the delegates to the convention. The theme of the meeting was "win the war with a second front against the Germans now."

Calls for Second Front.

Thomas sketched the growth of his union to its present membership of 612,702, its labor agreements with 1,328 plants employing 898,860 workers. He said labor's first responsibility—to produce without letup—is being met. The second responsibility, he said, is to insist on "bold aggressive policies which will insure victory." He called for the establishment of a second front and added:

"Labor would be derelict in its duty if it did not also express its disappointment at the lack of imagination which has thus far been displayed by those in charge of our armed forces, and those who have been entrusted with supplying them."

Find Short Sighted Attitude.

Thomas said Donald Nelson, head of the WPB, had promised there would be no more tragic delays such as the year that elapsed before automobile plants were converted to aircraft production.

"Yet today we find," he continued, "in sections of the armed force and of industry, that there is still a short sighted 'can't be done' attitude. Labor demands that these hands so enmeshed in red tape be removed from our defense setup."

About 8,000 persons attended the Grant park rally.

Kelly Upholds Roosevelt.

Mayor Kelly greeted the delegates and told them: "You and I don't know when it's time for a second front. We'll leave that to the President of the United States.

"He hasn't made any mistakes in strategy," the mayor said. "The President has been a Godsend from heaven." He asked that each person watch for subversive activities and warned against the sly propaganda of Hitler's witting and unwitting agents.

Local CIO leaders who made speeches at the meeting were unanimous in their denunciation of "sixth column" newspapers.

SECOND FRONT IMPERATIVE NOW! WRITERS ASSERT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Pleas for the immediate opening of a second front against Hitler were voiced tonight by two military experts on the American Forum of the Air, broadcast by W-G-N and coast to coast by the Mutual Broadcasting system.

In a discussion on whether a second front can be opened now, Capt. Sergei Kournakoff, author of the best seller, "Russia's Fighting Forces," and Alexander Kiralfy, author of "Victory in the Pacific," claimed that such a front can and must be established. Two other participants, Forrest Davis, a magazine writer, and John MacCormac of the Washington staff of the New York Times, said the united nations are not prepared for a second front.

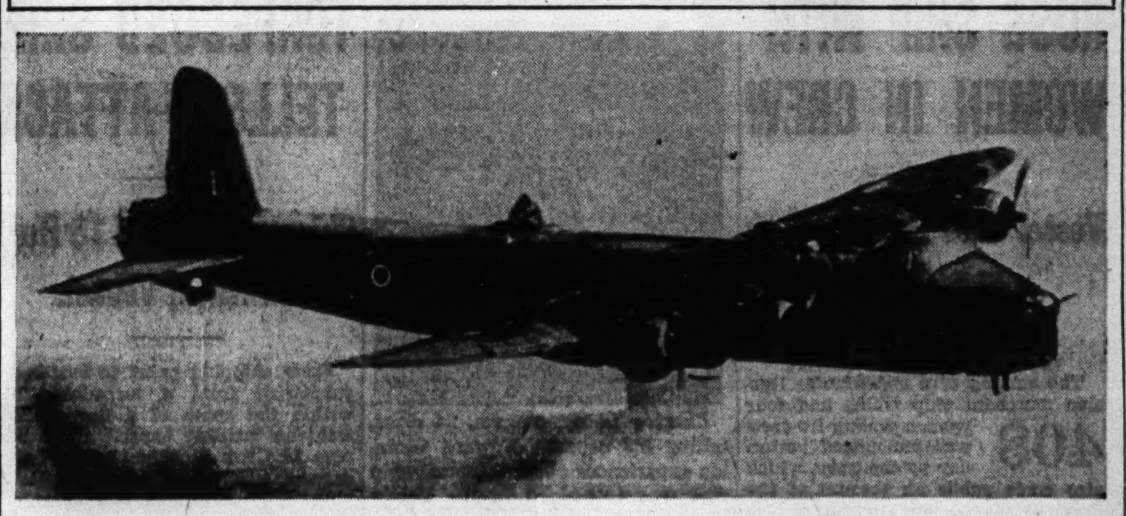
"From a military viewpoint the opening of a second land front in Europe now is an absolute necessity," Capt. Kournakoff said.

Kiralfy suggested that the middle east offers a better opportunity for the united nations to press a second front than by invading western Europe.

Credit Nazi with 9 Planes in 24 Hours for 102 Total

BERLIN, Aug. 2 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—An announcement from a competent source today credited the German top sergeant and pilot, Beerensbrock, with a record of nine victories in aerial combat within 24 hours. According to German statistics, seven air victories by the German Capt. Philipp was the best previous 24 hour score. Sergt. Beerenbrock was credited with making his high run on the central section of the Russian front. He is credited by German accounts with 102 victories in the war.

British Sky Terror Carries 8 Ton Bomb Load



In flight thru a cloud formation is a heavy Stirling, one of Britain's biggest bombers, which—to the Germans, at least—is becoming something of a sky terror. These were the planes used in the 1,000 bomber raids on German industrial centers. A Stirling has a speed of 300 miles an hour and a bomb load of eight tons.

RUSSIANS SMASH NAZI TANK DRIVE NEAR STALINGRAD

Battle Air Troops on Don Front.

pied port last Friday, leaving many fires and destroying much equipment. The fleet returned home without a loss. The name of the bombarded port was not given.

Following up the sea thrust, the Russians said planes attached to Black sea formations bombed German airdromes and railway junctions and wrecked scores of two-motored planes.

To the south of the great Don bend battle, the Germans were seeking to develop their mass attacks on the north Caucasus by throwing huge task forces against the Russians.

The Nazi column which attacked Salsk is trying to turn northeastward toward Stalingrad to relieve German units near Tsimlyansk but has been pounded badly by the Russians.

Should the Germans between Salsk and Tsimlyansk connect, another threat would develop toward Stalingrad—this from the southwest up the Stalingrad-Krasnodar railroad.

The German column in the Kushchevka area at present is the most dangerous to the north Caucasus mineral treasures. Here the Germans are seeking to push down the only north-south railroad in the north Caucasus.

Nazi Power Drive Below Rostov.

BERLIN, Aug. 2 (AP)—[From German broadcasts]. — Motorized formations of the German army and infantry were said by the high command today to be storming forward south of Rostov in the direction of the Kuban river.

The German pursuit of the Russian rearguard was described as "relentless," and the language of the supreme command's communique gave an impression that another power drive of terrific force was under way.

In the thrust toward the Kuban, which flows into the Black sea slightly more than a hundred miles south of Rostov, the Germans said they encircled groups of Russians who had become detached from the main body of Russian forces.

Supported by Air Force.

The German air force again supported ground operations, and also ranged far afield to the Russian supply zones. Rail lines, the Germans said, were attacked, while German aviators who flew to the Volga reported they had sunk five ships and damaged five other vessels and a ferry boat.

North of Rzhev, the high command asserted, the Russians attacked repeatedly yesterday, and the German defense there got down to a hand-to-hand basis. The Germans said the Russians were thrown back "with heavy casualties."

From July 23 to Aug. 1, according to a high command tabulation, the German tank corps northwest of Kalach in the Don bend destroyed 482 enemy tanks, mostly of heavy types.

WRIGHT ENGINE PLANT TO LAY OFF 500 EMPLOYES

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 2 [Special].—Five hundred workers in the Wright Aeronautical corporation warplane engine plant here will be laid off temporarily, effective tomorrow, because of the failure of raw materials to arrive at the plant.

Three thousand workers at one of the other factories of the Wright corporation in this area were laid off Wednesday, also because of a lack of raw materials, and are to return tomorrow.

The corporation has five plants in this vicinity, with approximately 18,000 workers. A spokesman said the 500 would return to work as soon as the shipments, ordered a year ago for delivery at this time, are resumed.

Jack Decker, 52 years old, a bartender, was found dead in bed yesterday in his home at 7834 Ellis avenue. Police said they believed he died of natural causes.

BRITISH DESTROY 424 AXIS PLANES IN JULY; LOSE 432

LONDON, Aug. 3 [Monday]—(AP).—The destruction of 424 axis planes during July in Britain, continental Europe, the middle east, and at sea was claimed today by the air ministry which acknowledged loss of 432 by the RAF in the same month.

Three German planes were downed over Britain during the night, British reports said today, as bombers flew over the Midlands, East Anglia, and London. London had a brief alert which passed without incident. Incendiary bombs fell in one Midland area.

German raiders bombed Norwich, east coast town, Saturday night, killing a few persons, as British fighter planes on offensive patrol attacked railway targets and barges in the low countries. The RAF renewed the attacks yesterday afternoon. Three British planes failed to return from these missions.

Secret Weapons Set Record.

In its tabulation of axis and RAF plane losses, the ministry said 55 axis planes were destroyed over Britain, 58 in Europe, 307 in the middle east [149 shot down at Malta], and 4 at sea. The RAF lost 251 planes over Europe and 181 in the middle east.

The ministry said Britain's night defenses — including reliable night fighters, and new secret weapons including anti-aircraft guns — had marked up the best record since the heavy raids of May, 1941.

Since the first of the year, the ministry said, pilots sweeping over Europe and the home defenses had destroyed 173 German bombers.

Nazis Make Widespread Raids.

BERLIN, Aug. 2 [from German broadcasts] — (AP). — The German air force's smashes against the allies covered the war map yesterday from Norwich, on England's east coast, to the Volga river in Russia, and from the Bay of Finland to Cairo, Egypt, the German high command announced today.

British planes "yesterday afternoon carried out harassing raids in western Germany from a great height," it was said, damaging residential quarters of several towns.

Norwich was attacked by night raiders with incendiary and high explosive bombs, the communique said.

Attack Cairo Airport.

German fighter planes sent to Egypt attacked the airport at Helpipolis, near Cairo. The flyers reported several hangars were set afire and that seven enemy machines were destroyed on the ground.

German bombers over the Finnish bay and along the Volga concentrated on enemy shipping. The high command said five vessels were destroyed on the Volga, and that two soviet freighters were damaged in the Finnish bay.

The Voelkischer Beobachter today said that 19,500,000 tons of mercantile shipping had been lost by the allies since the beginning of the war.

A CHRISTENING PARTY NETS $6 FOR RED CROSS

On the second floor, rear, at 4956 South Loomis street, 25 relatives and friends of John and Mrs. Helen Mrozek gathered, last night at a reception in honor of the christening of their first child, Mary Ann, two weeks old, earlier in the day.

The guest sang Polish songs and they ate Polish foods. Then Henry Mrozinski, 5250 South Wolcott avenue, interrupted. "There is a war going on, how about helping out the Red Cross?" he asked.

Mrs. Mrozek dusted off a kitchen plate, and passed it around. Six dollars was collected, which will be sent to the Red Cross today in the name of Mary Ann.

NORWAY CLAMPS DRASTIC RULES ON NEWSPAPERS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 2.—The Norwegian press and propaganda department has now reserved the right to hire and fire "the personnel of all Norwegian newspapers in both editorial and business departments," thus making these employés state functionaries.

The department has also assumed dictatorial rights regarding the editing of newspapers as well as the right to inflict disciplinary and other punishments. A provincial newspaper recently failed to make a front page box out of Hitler's wire to Premier Vidkun Quisling on the latter's birthday and the editorial staff was fined collectively 5,000 crowns [about $1,000].

Another newspaper omitted to repeat one of three headlines chosen by the propaganda department for the story on Quisling's birthday and the entire staff was dismissed. For so-called lesser infringements, warnings are issued. These warnings are tantamount to dismissal and the newspaper man is barred from working on any Norwegian newspaper.

TORPEDO SINKS RUSS SHIP WITH WOMEN IN CREW

Vessel Goes Down in Gulf; Eight Killed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The sinking of a medium-size Russian merchant ship which had four women among its crew was announced yesterday by the navy, which also made public an account of the previously reported sinking of the Dutch ship Flora.

Two of the women crew members and six seamen aboard the soviet vessel were killed in the submarine attack, which occurred July 4 in the Gulf of Mexico. It was the first sinking of a Russian ship in the gulf area.

Anna Vorotnikova, writing a letter.
[AP wirephoto.]

The sinking brought the total allied and neutral ship losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor to 408, an Associated Press compilation disclosed. The death toll rose to 1,676, with 1,628 persons missing and 12,068 rescued.

Two Women Rescued.

Survivors of the Russian ship—two women, two British gunners, and 32 other seamen—said four torpedoes smashed into the vessel. All of the survivors were picked up by a Swedish merchantman and later transferred to a United States naval ship which brought them to an east coast port.

A woman doctor aboard the soviet ship, Anna Vorotnikova, 22 years old, was praised for working calmly "like a machine" to care for two seriously wounded men and several others slightly hurt.

With Chief Boatswain Alexander Salus acting as interpreter, the blonde doctor told of her decision to go to sea after she was graduated two years ago from a medical school in Krasnodar.

Wanted to See World.

"I wanted to see the world," she said. "Now I prefer the land, but I will sail again because of the war."

Salus said women served as crew members on many Russian ships, adding that he knew two women captains. The dead women were a stewardess and a dishwasher.

The Dutch ship Flora's chief engineer, G. E. Lazeron, and Radio Operator Hendrick Rietmyer, both of New York, said the merchantman's two man gun crew fought a duel with two submarines June 17 before the vessel burst into flames and sank in the Caribbean.

The gunners fired six shots, they said, but the submarine riddled the ship with 63 shells. One crew member died of wounds in a lifeboat, but 33 reached the South American coast in two boats.

Tells Experiences

(Story in adjoining column.)

Charles Laver, seaman, 2d class, telling his nephew, Edward Giola, his experiences aboard a naval ship that was torpedoed in the Caribbean.

GUNS AND RADIO STOLEN.

Burglars stole two new hunting guns and a radio yesterday from the home of Joseph De Filetto at 1812 South Ridgeway avenue while the family was away.

SEAMAN ABOARD TORPEDOED SHIP TELLS OF ATTACK

Chicagoan One of 13 Hurt on Naval Vessel.

From chipping paint to battling a submarine from a torpedoed ship within the space of a few seconds was the thrilling experience of Seaman 2d Class Charles Laver, of Chicago, a survivor of a United States naval ship torpedoed two miles out of a Carribean port.

A "tin fish" from a lurking axis sub struck the ship without warning, the terrific explosion tearing away most of the vessel's bow, missing its forward magazine by inches.

"I was chipping paint on deck," Laver said, "when the torpedo struck. So violent was the detonation that I was hurled 25 feet.

"The entire deck was covered by about two inches of oil, as the 'fish' hit us in the oil tanks, which luckily were full; partially filled tanks would not have absorbed the force of the explosion, and the magazines would have let go, taking the whole ship with them.

"The oil on her decks prevented us from carrying the order to abandon ship. It was impossible to get the lifeboats overside, and in a few minutes it became apparent that the ship would stay afloat, so we got a more thrilling order, 'Man the guns'!"

Whether this particular sub fell prey to the guns of her victim remains a military secret.

Engineers Do Their Stuff.

"The explosion disrupted the power for about a half hour," Laver continued, "and we wallowed in the gentle swell of the ocean until the engineers got things running again. We couldn't drop our ash cans [depth charges] while we were motionless, as the explosions from them would have blown us out of the water.

"I was hurt—one of the 13 who were injured—but in the excitment I didn't realize it. Sure there was excitment, but not confusion.

Oil Shoots Into Air.

"The oil was the worst feature, slowing everything up, but I suppose we should have felt grateful for it, as it prevented the ship from being blown to bits by her own powder. Oil from the tanks geysered 200 feet into the air, hanging there for an instant in a black column; and then fell back onto the deck, drenching everything and every one. It required about six alcohol baths to get it off of me."

While the gun crews searched the surrounding sea for a glimpse of the submarine, the below deck hands labored furiously to repair electric lines and restore the engines to working order. This was accomplished in slightly more than a half hour, Laver said, and the crippled ship limped slowly back into harbor.

Laver will be interviewed by John Holbrook on W-G-N tonight at 8:15.

The 22 year old seaman is on furlough at his home at 2839 South Tripp avenue.

"Yes, Darling, a Little Present for HITLER!"

MARY: Hot grease for Hitler! Who's going to fry him in it?

MOM: It's not for frying, honey. It's for shooting—in machine guns and great big cannons.

MARY: Do they shoot bacon grease in cannons?

MOM: No. But kitchen fats make glycerine. And glycerine makes explosives. And explosives fire the shells that help us and our allies bring down planes, stop tanks and sink warships. We need millions of pounds of glycerine. And we women, right in our own kitchens, can help provide it.

MARY: I never knew that about bacon grease!

MOM: And not only bacon grease, Mary, but all fat—drippings, vegetable shortening, everything. We'll save them till we get a pound and then we'll take them to the meat dealer and he will start them on their way to the war factories. We'll make it a wartime habit—for the duration.

Here's what you should do

1. After you've got all the cooking good from your fats, strain them through a kitchen sieve into a clean, wide-mouthed can, as a coffee or shortening can. Please don't use glass containers or paper bags. Keep the can in a cool, dark place.

2. Take to your meat dealer when you've collected a pound or more. He will pay you the established price for your fats and send them on their way to the war factories. But it will help him greatly if you can deliver them early in the week.

M'NARY URGES QUICK START ON CARGO PLANES

Holds Transport Solution Vital to 2d Front.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—Asserting Russia's demand for a second front in Europe could be met only by solving the transportation problem, Sen. Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader, proposed today that the United States begin immediately the "bold venture" of constructing giant cargo planes.

Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, has proposed construction of 5,000 such planes in ship yards, and Chairman Donald M. Nelson said his War Production board was prepared to coöperate if materials could be found without disrupting the aircraft production program.

However, McNary said he believed a start should be made at once, even if it delayed other activities.

Stresses Russia's Pleas.

"Russia is crying for a second front, and our answer lies in transportation, because no new front can be undertaken unless we can sustain an army there with all its essentials," he said.

Sen. Josh Lee [D., Okla.] has asserted that the united nations must be prepared for a possible "darker phase" of the war. He said that if the Caucasus oil fields should fall to the axis it would be necessary to have flying tankers to keep the allies' motorized equipment operating.

Suggests Trial Plan.

Kaiser has said he could build flying boats on some west coast ways where he now is turning out ships. McNary suggested that a few ways might be given over to this purpose while plans were being worked out for mass production.

Sen. Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], an author of cargo plane fleet legislation, said he believed sufficient authority now existed for letting contracts for craft of this nature.

Thomas was inclined to regard aerial transportation as a solution to the problem of submarine sinkings, but Sen. Chan Gurney [R., S. D.], a military committee member, said he did not believe planes alone could do the job.

Favors Capturing Bases.

He said the way to defeat submarines was to capture their bases, a move that would require an invasion of Europe. He expressed conviction that such an attack was not far off.

A military subcommittee, headed by Sen. Lee, will resume hearings on the cargo plane proposal tomorrow, with Col. Hugh Knerr, retired chief of the army's general headquarters air force, as a witness. Knerr pioneered in developing cargo planes.

INDICATE FATE OF 8 SPIES HAS BEEN DECIDED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—Indications were seen today that the military commission pondering the fate of eight Nazi saboteurs had reached a decision and might present its findings to President Roosevelt tomorrow.

The basis for this impression was the following statement, authorized by Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, head of the commission of seven army officers:

"The commission is sitting today in closed session at the department of justice. The commission will reconvene tomorrow in open session at the same place."

Because all sessions of the tribunal have been closed to the press and public, it was assumed McCoy's reference to an open session meant that the defendants and opposing counsel would be called before the commission. The fact that he said specifically such a session would be held tomorrow brought belief the generals had concurred on a decision.

Should a decision be reached, the findings presumably would not be made public immediately. The commission's findings must be reported to the President, and first word of a verdict is expected to come from the White House.

Malta's Air Force Twice Turns Back Axis Raiders

VALETTA, Malta, Aug. 2 (AP).—Malta's aerial defenders twice today intercepted axis bombers and fighters intent on attacking the island and forced them to flee, tonight's communique reported. Two of the enemy bombers in the first attack this morning slipped thru with the sun at their backs but were chased away, their bombs dropping harmlessly. In the afternoon, the RAF caught an enemy squadron of fighters and bombers far at sea and drove them away.

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Marguerite Gibbs today sought a return from the place of hero's widow to her day-by-day life as a worker at the Albuquerque army air base and mother of a curly haired boy of 4 years. Yesterday she received a distinguished service cross awarded posthumously to her husband, Maj. David R. Gibbs, for gallantry during the Jap raid on Clark field in the Philippines. The major survived the raid, but was reported lost in action later in the Philippines.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 2 (AP).—An array of "big name" witnesses subpenaed in the William Dudley Pelley sedition trial apparently had dwindled today to a trio of prominent personalities—Charles A. Lindbergh, Rush A. Holt, ex-senator from West Virginia, and Dr. Jacob Thorelson, former Montana congressman.

After the government rested its prosecution, the former leader of the Silver Shirts of America announced he would testify in his own defense when the trial resumes tomorrow.

Meanwhile, William Allen White, Emporia, Kas., publisher, was the latest subpenaed witness to reply he was unable to attend. Previously, Marriner Eccles, Federal Reserve board chairman, said he could not leave Washington, but would substitute Virgil Jordan, chairman of the National Industrial Conference board. Maj. Gen. George van Horn Moseley, retired 5th service area commander, also begged to be excused. Lindbergh, however, accepted a summons.

BRITISH SINK TWO NAZI E-BOATS IN SWIFT SEA FIGHT

Foe Fires on Own Vessels in Confusion.

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Swift British motor boats dashed across the channel last night and defying German shore defenses at close range, sank two German motor torpedo boats off Cherbourg in the ninth sea fight along the jittery invasion coast in less than three weeks.

The foray, it was said in official quarters, so confused the Germans that the Nazi naval units shot at their own torpedo boats, and German shore batteries also started firing at their own seamen.

Four Nazi Ships Damaged.

As this extraordinary phase of the operations developed, the British, according to a communique, disengaged themselves from the action and from a distance watched the show.

The British said two more of the Nazi light motor torpedo vessels, or "E-boats," were damaged and two larger 600 ton torpedo vessels were hit.

[The German version, as told by Berlin broadcasts, was that German outpost boats encountered British speed boats and gunboats, and that in the ensuing action two British speed boats "probably were destroyed, and hits were observed on other craft." According to German broadcasts the Nazi forces were undamaged.]

Official British sources declined to disclose whether the recent flareup of night channel battles, in which the British said at least 15 German warships were sunk or damaged, was due to the English feeling out of continental coastal defenses, or to increased Nazi patrols to guard against commando raids, or an invasion.

Keep Germans Agitated.

This intensified action took place in a period of comparatively short summer nights when there is barely time enough to slip across the channel, carry out a patrol, and return before daylight.

Constant harassing of the invasion coast by fighter planes and the small British patrol craft is keeping the Germans so agitated that the British report Nazi minesweepers, trawlers, and anti-aircraft vessels frequently fire upon one another.

In unofficial quarters it was pointed out that the frequency of these clashes at sea indicates both sides are operating a large number of small craft in the region.

RUBBER, QUININE, FIBERS SOUGHT IN COLOMBIA WILDS

Hope to Help Fill U. S. Wartime Needs.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 2.—This South American republic—a strange geographical combination of savage coastal jungles, cold remote mountains, and broad fertile inland plains—may become an important source of raw materials desperately needed by the United States if the war lasts long enough.

Colombia has millions of rubber trees. It has cinchona trees from which the quinine so greatly needed in the United States may be obtained. It has fique, pita, and malba, tough fibrous plants which might replace the hemp lost to the Japanese invaders in the far east. It has copper, manganese, and vanadium in its great Andes ranges.

Rubber Deep in Jungles.

But the rubber, for instance, is deep in the unhealthy coastal jungles, growing wild far from transportation. Years ago Colombia had extensive rubber plantations under cultivation, but with the development of the enormous plantations of the far east, which produced much better rubber at cheaper prices, Colombia's plantations for the most part were allowed to go back to the jungle.

The story of cinchona is the same. This bark was first studied for its medicinal value in 1793 in Colombia. Despite the low return from the Colombian trees [4 to 5 per cent of volume], the industry became relatively important. But again the Dutch East Indies, Java, and the Malay States produced better and cheaper quinine.

Cultivation of fique is already well developed, and large plantations and factories are turning out great quantities of sacking and rope. The trouble is that this production at present barely meets the needs of Colombia herself.

United States to Buy Output.

Expansion of the fique production or development of pita and malba plants, which still grow only in a wild state, presents the same sort of problem as rubber and quinine. Mineral production also is relatively undeveloped.

But the United States apparently has great hopes for Colombia. Just recently American representatives signed a contract with Colombia by which the United States will receive all of the republic's rubber output at a specified price. In return we will supply Colombia with automobile tires and other rubber products.

Thru the Chicle Developments corporation, which has power of attorney from the Rubber Reserve corporation, United States funds will be advanced immediately for the development of rubber production and the purchase of Colombia's output. A Rubber Reserve corporation mission now is establishing headquarters here in Bogota to aid in the task.

Contract with Individuals.

Development of rubber production is being supervised by Colombia's government bank of agriculture, mining, and industry. Experts of the bank are dividing the rubber producing jungle lands into plats, and private individuals are being contracted with to get the rubber.

As an emergency measure it has been suggested that, instead of going thru the slow process of tapping the wild rubber trees, these contractors be allowed to cut them down in order to extract all the rubber possible immediately.

"After all, when the war is over the rubber production of the far east will again ruin Colombia's market," one spokesman said.

ARGENTINES CALL ON WALDO FRANK AND SLUG HIM

Give Critical Lecturer Brain Concussion.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 2 (AP).—Waldo Frank of Truro, Mass., noted United States author and lecturer on American culture and civilization, was attacked and beaten by six men today, 24 hours after the Argentine government had declared he was no longer welcome.

Waldo Frank.

Dr. William B. Giles, who attended the author, said he had suffered a severe concussion of the brain but was resting easily tonight and could probably leave the hospital in a week.

Police Chief Domingo Martinez visited Frank soon after the attack and expressed his regrets on behalf of the authorities. He told newspaper men the incident was "most regrettable, since Frank had almost diplomatic status."

"Argentina Is Avenged."

As Frank was carried out of the apartment building a youth shouted, "Argentina is avenged."

The foreign ministry had declared the author persona non grata yesterday after newspapers had published a letter in which he stated that everywhere in Argentina he had found "confusion, discontent, and discouragement not far from consternation."

The first account of the assault on the 53 year old writer came from José Stanek, porter at the apartment house where Frank lived. He said the six men forced him to accompany them to Frank's apartment.

"We are investigating agents and want to examine your papers," one of the men said. Five of the men then entered. The porter said he saw Frank go to a desk, and as his back was turned one of the men struck him on the head with the butt of a revolver. Frank fought back, but was overcome and pummeled.

The five then left, while the sixth stayed behind with Stanek and threatened to shoot him if he followed. As the last man left he fired a shot.

IDENTIFY PAIR AS BANDITS.

Two Negroes were arrested yesterday as strong arm robbers. Police said the victims of two robberies identified them. The prisoners are Everett Ballard, 18 years old, 740 East 42d street, and Leroy Atkins, 28, of 4707 Calumet avenue.

NAZI DIPLOMATS' CHARGE CALLED SLANDER BY PERU

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Peruvian foreign office today publicly denied charges made in a Berlin Spanish broadcast that axis diplomats had been badly treated during their internment at the fashionable winter resort of Los Angeles, 18 miles east of Lima.

The foreign office statement labeled the broadcast "slander and false and typical of the Nazi propaganda system." A foreign office spokesman said the interned diplomats and their families could not have received more correct treatment.

Denying the presence of malaria in the neighborhood, the foreign office pointed out that Willy Noebel, German minister, used to spend long periods in the vicinity with his family.

Plan to Finish Mexico Rail Link to Pacific in 9 Months

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, Aug. 2 (AP).—The president of the Kansas City, Mexico, and Oriente railroad said today the long projected 150 mile link across the Sierra Madre mountains to connect the Pacific port of Topolobampo with the rest of Mexico would be completed within nine months.

A NEW EMBLEM JOINS an OLD

YARDSTICKS for the measurement of Illinois Central participation in the war continue to develop from day to day. One shows how Illinois Central enlistments are running well into the second thousand—not relatives of workers, but workers themselves. Another shows how Illinois Central rails are humming under the unprecedented wartime traffic and how efficiency is increasing despite the lack of materials that would make the increase less difficult.

And now there comes an additional measure in the announcement that Illinois Central workers have substantially passed the 90 per cent mark in the purchase of war bonds on the payroll plan. That accomplishment brings us—all of us—the right to display the Minute Man emblem and to roll up our sleeves anew for the final drive to the 100 per cent position.

Up to the middle of July some 93 per cent of the Illinois Central's 37,256 employes had subscribed for war bonds. Monthly payroll deductions totaled $283,671. On a yearly basis these would account for purchases totaling $3,404,052. Cash purchases otherwise, including pre-campaign deductions, were reported to total $1,788,924. Combined, these indicate a total year's purchases aggregating $5,192,976, a sum not so very far short of 10 per cent of the railroad's total payroll of $65,362,288 in 1941.

We may confidently expect some such goal to be reached in the not-so-distant future. For all of which we want to thank the members of the Illinois Central war bond solicitation committee which has functioned so successfully in the campaign to date.

In this connection also, I want to pay a sincere tribute of approval to the personnel of the railway labor organizations, who went to bat in great style for this essential patriotic enterprise and assured its success. The labor executives assumed a degree of initiative and leadership which took the project largely out of the normal status of a management-sponsored idea and made it truly a co-operative effort—the forerunner, it is to be hoped, of many enterprises both in and out of railroading itself on which we shall go forward shoulder to shoulder in the future for the common good.

going, and I told him Rossell Island. He said that was the best of the bunch, and that everything would be done to pick us up. I wanted to find a beach to land on—so I could see what made the plane react so oddly—but there wasn't any on Rossel. So I got inside a reef and made a high speed landing.

"Looks Like the Pot."

"I was stunned a little but the water coming in revived me. We got the rubber boat out and I took the chart aboard. We rowed for 45 minutes, but got nowhere because the current was too strong, then saw an outrigger and three of the wildest looking natives you can imagine.

"Two of them had red hair and all had been chewing betel nut—as I found out later—which made their teeth red and their mouths look as tho maybe they'd just been chewing on an arm. They all had spears. I said to Wheelhouse: 'Looks like we go into the pot here.'

"I figure they don't know any English, so I start making signs to show we're friendly, meanwhile keeping my .45 ready, when all of a sudden the black haired one popped up in English with: 'I'm a missionary.'

That Pot Looms Again.

"They hauled our boat aboard and offered us green oranges, which were sweet as sugar. I offered the missionary a cigaret and he took the whole pack. They took us ashore and we walked two miles thru swamp. Meanwhile the missionary native rowed around in our rubber boat, tickled silly. Everybody on shore gathered around to shake hands and say: 'Thank you. So sorry.'

"Then they took us to the local missionary's house—he was another native—where we stayed for a week. We never had any time to ourselves because there were always 25 or 30 natives sitting around watching us, and once in a while saying: 'So sorry. Too bad.' They came in from the outlying villages to see us.

"The first night a funny thing happened. They got out a big hollow drum—made out of a tree trunk—about 7 o'clock and started pounding it. It sounded like a war chant and everybody gathered around. I figure they're going to get the pot ready for us, when pretty soon they start singing 'Adeste Fidelis' in their native tongue. They held vesper services every night."

PLANES BLAST 4 AXIS SHIPS, BOMB TROOPS IN EGYPT

British Smash Foe from Air; Lull in Land War.

CAIRO, Aug. 2 (AP).—British and United States bombers hammered Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's supply lines and troop concentrations yesterday, destroying three motor lighters and probably sinking a big axis cargo ship, British headquarters announced today.

Coincidentally United States army headquarters in the middle east announced that the United States repair plant for aircraft in the British conquered Italian colony of Eritrea on the Red sea is operating so smoothly that planes which only a short time ago appeared ready for the junk pile were now being rebuilt and sent back to the front.

Details of the facilities of the plant were not disclosed except that it is equipped to rebuild any type of plane of American construction. Repair services have been extended to all American built aircraft of the united nations.

British fighter bombers, ranging over the El Alamein front, blew up an ammunition dump and destroyed many enemy vehicles, said the communique. One Messerschmitt 109 was shot down.

The attack on the motor lighters occurred off the coast at Sidi Barrani and Matruh. Fighters swooped down on the boats, and besides sinking three, damaged others.

The merchant ship was left sinking north of the Libyan port of Derna following attacks by allied heavy bombers.

Ground forces were relatively inactive except for skirmishing by patrols, the British said.

[An Italian communique claimed axis planes successfully attacked the British rear and airdromes at Bug El Arab and El Almeira.

FRENCH CUT TRAVEL ON RAILROADS TO AID FOOD TRANSPORT

[By Wireless to The New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

VICHY, France, Aug. 2.—To improve the transport of food measures have been taken to increase the use of railway cars in service and new reductions have been made in the transportation of passengers.

The bread ration has been maintained at the expense of a decline in quality. The abnormally dry season has reduced the crop of hay, which will not be sufficient to allow building up the reserves of live stock as was hoped, making it necessary to slaughter a large percentage of young animals.

DRAFT OFFICIALS ACT TO CUT CALL ON MARRIED MEN

Order Classifying of Late Registrants Speeded.

Local draft boards have been urged to speed classification of men who registered Feb. 16 and June 30 in an effort to avert the need for calling married men to the colors, state draft board officials said yesterday.

Boards have been asked to step up their classification meetings to three and four days a week in a move to bolster the waning number 1-A men available.

Altho Chicago and Illinois have thus far ranked high in the nation in the filling of quotas requisitioned by the army, many boards, it was warned, are nearing the bottom of their list of 1-A registrants.

To Reclassify 3-A's and 3-B's.

When there are no more 1-A men, the demands of the army for man power must be met by reclassifying men now in 3-A and 3-B, officials said. In Illinois this is expected to occur any time after Dec. 1.

Quotas are considered military secrets and as no state or city-wide survey has been conducted recently, officials declined to comment upon the number of married men who may expect induction, except to say that the present induction rate is high and that it will continue so.

Key to the situation lies with the local boards, it was pointed out, and reclassification and induction of current 3-A's will hinge solely upon the 1-A's available in individual boards. An attempt will be made, however, to effect a leveling off process, whereby boards with unduly large reserves of 1-A men will find their quotas hiked to compensate for lowered quotas of less fortunate boards.

Three Factors Considered.

Reclassification of 3-A men will follow the pattern recently laid down by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, which provides for the summoning of men with collateral dependents first and works down thru six stages to married men with wives and/or children solely dependent upon them. National instructions must be issued before this latter class may be called, however. Boards are empowered at present to draft husbands with working wives.

Governing the induction of married men will be these three factors, in order: The need for man power for the armed forces; for man power for defense industry, and dependency of family units. Previously the order of last two was reversed.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

B. A. N. asks: "What is the pay of volunteer officer candidates? How long is the period of training? Where does one apply, and are all 3-A men eligible?"

ANSWER: When the volunteer officer candidate is inducted and begins the period of basic training, he is classed as a private and receives $50 a month the same as any other soldier. After he completes the basic training, he becomes a private 1st class at $54, and after further training he may advance to the rank of corporal at $66 and so on, and he holds whatever rank he may have achieved when he enters the officer training period. If he completes officer training, the candidate may be commissioned second or first lieutenant according to age. The average period of the basic and officer training combined is from six to nine months. The candidate must have minimum visual acuity of 20/100, correctible to a minimum of 20/40 in both eyes, altho waivers may be granted in special cases where the vision is between 20/100 and 20/200, if correctible to a minimum of 20/40 in both eyes. A robust physical condition is required. All men with a 3-A classification may apply thru the local draft board offices.

P. H. W. writes: "I was 28 years and 10 months old when I was sworn in as an aviation cadet, and that was 7 months ago, so I am now way past my 27th birthday. Will I be rejected because of my age when I'm called? Will I get paid while I'm waiting? I have a 1-C classification and I can't get work while I wait."

ANSWER: As long as you were sworn in, you do not have to worry about being rejected because of being overage. "Enlisted reserves" do not receive payment until they are called to active duty. We were informed that aviation cadets sworn in during April are being called very fast. Perhaps you should communicate with the cadet selection board thru which you cleared.

E. K. writes: "From time to time in your column we notice you say allotments from a soldier to his wife are compulsory. What about his aged, dependent parents? Ought he not be compelled to take care of them?"

ANSWER: If the service man has no class "A" dependents, he must allot $22 of his pay, to which the government will add $15 to make $37 payable for one parent. If the man in service has two parents, he allots $27 from his pay, to which the government adds $20, making $47 a month payable to the parents on or after Nov. 1.

PRAISE OF SKILL CHEERS LOSERS AT MANEUVERS

'Red' Cavalry and Artillery Lauded by Umpires.

Wadesboro, N. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—In their dispersed bivouacs on opposing sides of the brown, sluggish Pee Dee river, the Red and Blue forces engaged in the army's first wartime maneuvers had an opportunity today to study in detail the results of their most recent field operations.

To all officers down to company commanders went two detail maps, the first showing the disposition of the troops before the operation began, and the second, their positions, with the stronger Blues having effected a decisive breakthru, at the time the umpires called a halt.

With the maps went a minute critique from Maj. Gen. E. J. Dawley, commander of the 6th army corps and director of the maneuvers.

"Found, Fixed, Finished."

Tho the Reds, with a Texas infantry division as the bulk of their force, were beaten and the Blues, with full air support, achieved their goal of "finding, fixing, and finishing" the foe, there must have been satisfaction for several Red unit commanders in such references as:

Cavalry regiment which "skilfully maintained contact at all times until the end of the problem" with a Blue task force which was slowed up thereby in a semiflanking, semifeint operation.

Night artillery and gas barrages by battalions of 155 mm. and 105 mm. howitzers which delayed relief of the Blue's motorized infantry division by a division of "walking army" infantry.

Surprise Attack Fails.

A reconnaissance patrol, only one of six to escape capture, which on the night before the Blues' big push "returned with information that Blue armored units were poised for an attack on the Red right of the line" and this kept it from being a surprise, "tho the information was received too late to enable a shift of forces sufficient to prevent a breakthru."

In the final and winning attack, three Blue army components shared the bulk of the credit—the air force which, supporting field artillery, helped break a wide gap in the Red lines on their right flank, despite the fact it was anchored against the boundary of a "neutral state"; an armored division, which followed into the gap with infantry close on its heels, and the infantry division, which meanwhile maintained "pressure on the main line of resistance."

Air-ground coöperation, "a salient feature of this exercise," also will play a big part in the next problem, for which the troops will start moving into position tomorrow afternoon. The Reds—again on the defensive, but with changed personnel—will be called on to hold river crossings.

The engineers, "shaggy ears" and all, will be exceptionally important to both sides this time—to the Reds for demolition work, to the Blues for emergency bridge building with all the latest equipment.

KIDNAP SCARE GIVES WAY TO THEFT QUIZ AS NURSE RETURNS CHILD

A kidnap scare ended last night when 5 year old Mary Frances Unger, missing since early forenoon, was safely returned to her home at 344 South avenue in Glencoe by the family maid, Adele Andrews, colored, in whose care she had been placed. The maid said they had been for an automobile ride in the country.

Mary Frances Unger.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Unger—he owns men's wear shops in the Palmer House and Board of Trade building—left home for church with the maid at 10:30 a. m. Later, when they failed to return home, police were notified, and learned that the maid and the child had entered an automobile driven by a Negro. At the same time the Ungers discovered $20 and a $165 diamond ring missing.

While police were searching for the child and the Andrews woman, the two returned home. That was at 7:34 p. m. The maid was wearing the diamond ring. She said she had found it on the floor. She denied taking the $20. She said she had gone for an automobile ride to Elgin with a friend, Clinton Brooks, colored, 412 Glencoe avenue, Glencoe, and had taken Mary along. Police held her pending investigation.

Condition your heating plant Now to save coal Next Winter

"EVERY TON OF COAL must do double duty this winter", says Luther Harr, Bituminous Coal Consumers' Counsel. "Use the warm summer months to get your heating apparatus in first-class condition, to cut down your consumption of coal to free it for war purposes, and ease the burdens of our transportation system."

Here are ways to preserve your heating plant and improve its efficiency

Clean furnace or boiler thoroughly. Remove ashes, and clean flues and smoke pipe * Do not drain water from boiler; be sure it is full * Place an opened pound can of lime inside furnace or boiler to prevent rust. Leave firing door unlatched * Have chimney and insulation checked for repairs * Remove coal from stoker. Place oiled shavings in hopper and run into retort to prevent rusting * Make necessary repairs now. They may be impossible later.

For detailed instructions, consult free folder obtainable from members of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association. If you have any questions about coal size, type or grade, or if you haven't yet ordered coal for a full season's use, 'phone your coal merchant; leave date of delivery to him so as not to jam our transportation system. Just by KEEPING WELL
You can help win this war!

A STEADY STREAM of ships and planes, tanks and guns, takes steady work. And only well men can do steady work.

But all of us have to do some things about keeping well at home, because by the end of 1942, nearly one-third of our doctors and nurses will be in the army and the navy!

To save the remaining two-thirds from having more than they can handle, we must avoid unnecessary illness ourselves, and help the other members of our family to keep well.

It's EASY to keep well

Listen to Dr. C. D. Selby, Medical Director of the General Motors Corporation:

"In time of war, the wives of factory workers have a great responsibility to see that their men eat the kind of food and follow the health rules that will keep them well and strong for the kind of work they do."

Send five cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., and ask for a booklet on how to avoid stomach upsets and other common troubles. Ask for "Workers' Health Series No. 5."

And read the rules in the next column. Live by them—see that your family lives by them—and help win this war.

FOLLOW THESE 5 RULES

Memorize these five keys to good health. Follow them carefully—for your own welfare and for victory.

1. Eat right

Milk, butter, eggs, fish, meat, cheese, beans and peas, fruit, green leafy vegetables and the yellow ones, whole-grain or enriched cereals and bread—these are the key foods. Eat plenty of them. And eat 3 meals a day!

2. Get your rest

Regularity counts most. You can't catch up on lost sleep or missed relaxation! Try to keep on a regular schedule every day. Take it easy for a little while after lunch and dinner. Go to bed on time, get up on time.

3. See your doctor once a year

You have your car checked and serviced every thousand miles. Do as much for your body. Physicians can prevent many diseases and illnesses for both children and grownups nowadays. Give your doctor a chance now, BEFORE you get sick. Go to see him!

4. Keep clean

Plenty of baths, lots of soap. Clean hands, clothes, houses, beds! Get fresh air, sunshine. Drink lots of water.

5. "Play" some each day

Romp with the family, visit with friends, take walks, play games—or do whatever you like to give your mind and body a change from the daily grind on the job. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

Life insurance has provided the means to keep millions of Americans in health and security. This message is one way life insurance companies believe they can help you to help win this war. Institute of Life Insurance, 60 East 42nd Street, New York City.

The long freight climbing the Divide is in a race against the Axis!

DAY and night, long Milwaukee Road freight trains are climbing up and over the giant hump of the Rockies. Rolling westward loaded with guns, planes, tanks and munitions . . . returning with livestock, grain, fruit and lumber.

These heavy duty trains are in a race against time, charged with a basic part of the war program. And they're winning the race, partly because types of power best fitted for the hauling job are used: big electric "motors" over the mountains—a giant diesel bridging the inter-mountain gap—mighty steam locomotives east of the Rockies.

The Milwaukee Road's skilled, experienced personnel keeps the 11,000 miles of line clear for these titans of the rails and their vital cargoes.

The railroads are a powerful weapon in the arsenal of democracy because they have adequately maintained—and improved—their facilities even in times of adversity. The Milwaukee Road is efficiently handling immense quantities of war materials. To this essential service we will continue to dedicate our best efforts.

DEMOCRATS SEEK TO RECOUP VOTES IN EARLY DRIVE

Downstate Campaign to Begin Tomorrow.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Illinois Democrats will start their high pressure downstate campaign work with a state-wide roundup of all their big shots at Springfield tomorrow, far ahead of the customary time for such activity.

The date is 13 weeks before the election of Nov. 3, an unprecedentedly early beginning for big time stuff. In an ordinary year such a conference as this would not be held until the party's state convention, which this year is set for Sept. 10. But the Democrats know this is not an ordinary year—and admit it.

Mighty Efforts Needed.

They concede that mighty efforts are needed if they are to regain any of the big loss in downstate strength they have suffered in the last four years. In that period their primary vote in that area has been cut from 56.3 per cent to 33.1 per cent of the total vote cast. They reached that low figure last April, altho there was a hot battle in their primary and only a negligible contest on the Republican side.

Because of this situation, every active Democratic leader of any considerable influence has been summoned to a luncheon at the capital for the purpose of starting the November drive now, not the least of the necessities being the establishment of accord between the Cook county machine and the tattered remnants of the old Horner machine.

Mayor Kelly Is Included.

The list is a long one. It will include Mayor Kelly of Chicago, the national committeeman, and Cook County Chairman P. A. Nash, plenipotentiaries for the metropolitan forces, and Sen. Scott W. Lucas, who has been recognized as the heir to leadership in the old Horner organization.

Of course the candidates will be kept in the foreground. They are R. S. [Small Potatoes] McKeough, nominee for United States senator; Benjamin S. Adamowski, nominee for congressman-at-large, and John A. Wieland, renominated for superintendent of public instruction, who lives in Calumet City and is therefore a third Cook county man, and W. D. Forsyth of Champaign, nominee for state treasurer and the only downstater on the ticket.

The bulk of the conference to consider the problem will consist of several large groups. First there are the 25 members of the state committee. Then the 102 county chairmen. And there will be a swarm of nominees for congress, the state senate and the state house of representatives. All other leaders of distinction who are not in public or party office also have been invited. The total may reach 400.

In an address at Freeport, McKeough attacked critics of President Roosevelt and said that the sole issue in the November election is whether the people of Illinois have confidence in the President. He said he has stood faithfully with President Roosevelt and always will stand with him.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Miss Ann Mann, 6430 North Francisco avenue.]

THE QUESTION.

Have you ever been sorry you failed to follow a "hunch."

WHERE ASKED.

Hotel Sherman.

THE ANSWERS.

Pvt. Stanley Blicker, Marine corps, San Diego, Cal.—I never follow my hunches in dice games and after I've placed just a small bet I never fail to roll a winning number. Hunches have done me more good than harm, tho, and I've avoided many automobile accidents by following them.

Mrs. James Whitton, housewife, Dayton, O.—When I went out to buy a pet for a surprise present for my husband I had a hunch that he'd like a dog best. Instead I bought a cat and found out later that my hunch had been right. Now we have a dog and two cats.

Harvey Gould, owner of a men's clothing store, 5646 Kenmore avenue—I had a hunch we should carry navy uniforms in the store. However I figured the war would not last very long and decided not to carry them. Now I want to carry them and can't get them.

Miss Lorraine Porter, novelty designer, Los Angeles, Cal.—I had planned to go to Seattle and look up some friends. I set one date, then postponed the trip. When I arrived in Seattle my friends were away. Had I gone when I intended I wouldn't have missed them.

Calvin Stern, student, 6220 Ellis avenue—I had a hunch I shouldn't write to a certain girl in school. I wrote anyway and first thing I knew her mother was over at our house complaining to my father. Dad just humored her along, however, and everything turned out all right.

Miss Bettymay Shelley, student, 6537 North Ashland avenue—In New York recently I had a hunch I should bet on a horse named Count Fleet. I didn't, however, because I'd already lost so much. He came in first and the money I would have won would have covered my losses with plenty to spare.

125,000 BUILDING TRADES WORKERS TO CUT AUTO USE

Patrick F. Sullivan, president of the Chicago and Cook county Building and Construction Trades council, said yesterday that 125,000 affiliated tradesmen will coöperate in measures urged by the Office of Defense Transportation. Many of these union members are constructing new war plants in the Chicago area.

"Walk whenever possible," the council's resolution states. "Use street cars, bus, elevated, or suburban railroad lines as a substitute for the family automobile whenever possible. Shop by mass transportation between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., or in the evening.

"If an automobile must be used, ride with your neighbors or have them ride with you. Avoid all unnecessary trips. Take proper care of tires."

J. M. Mercer, junior engineer of the Chicago Sanitary district, said yesterday that 1,200 employés are assigned to locations inaccessible to mass transportation. Group riding clubs are being formed to eliminate as much car mileage as possible, he said.

DRIVE ONLY WITH PARKING LIGHTS, SAYS LA GUARDIA

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia today directed all motorists in the city to operate from dusk to dawn with parking lights, or their equivalent, only.

The measure was a further step toward reducing the illumination of the city in an effort to eliminate the silhouetting of ships at sea. Heretofore New Yorkers have been required to use dim lights for city driving but the new regulation prescribes parking lights, or headlights screened to a corresponding dimness, as standard illumination.

SINGING STRINGS TO SOFTEN WAR'S BEAT IN FESTIVAL

Plectrophonic Group Is to Include 1,500.

Festival Tickets!

Tickets for the 13th Chicago Music Festival, to be held the night of Aug. 15 in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 55 cents and $1.10 at The Tribune Public Service offices in Tribune Tower and 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail order checks should be payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

In times of war the strident voices of trumpets and the sharp rhythm of drums dominate the music of a nation. The softer voices of strings and woodwinds are all but forgotten.

Capt. Howard Stube.

The throngs attending the 13th Chicago Music Festival in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 15 will find it transformed into a great military and naval spectacle. They will find the music of Mars in the ascendant.

But as a reminder of happier days of the past and of the peaceful summer nights that will follow victory, there also will be presented a musical organization whose performance has been a major feature of the show for many years.

1,500 Players Rehearse.

This is the Festival Plectrophonic orchestra. Its 1,500 players of fretted instruments are being assembled and rehearsed and will be marshaled on the field by Capt. Howard Stube, whose genius for shaping and staging massed music events has made Festival history.

In years past Capt. Stube's musicians have come from many states; from 11 last year. To conserve transportation facilities and tires, however, the Festival this year is being staged chiefly by Chicagoans and for Chicagoans.

Virtually all members of the Plectrophonic orchestra will come from within the city. But the variety of stringed instruments making up the ensemble will be as great as in any year.

There will be platoons of banjos and hundreds of mandolins. There will be tenor mandolas, mando cellos, and Spanish, Hawaiian, and electric guitars. Backing all these will be velvety string and mando basses.

They will play Schertzinger's "Marcheta" in Soldiers' field, a number which lends itself to the plaintive, haunting chords of the fretted strings.

Instruments Worth $100,000.

The great orchestra will bring instruments valued at almost $100,000 to the Festival. It will be made up of many smaller groups and individuals who have been rehearsing since spring for their parts in the show.

They will create a swelling volume of melody unique in instrumental music. The golden voices of singing strings, the rhythmic beat of percussive strings, and the individual clarity of them all blends in a manner altogether stirring and exalting.

Presentation of so many fretted instruments in a single orchestra is a creation of Capt. Stube and the Festival. It is new. But the instruments themselves and their masters are as old as history. Socrates, for example, was a master performer on the guitar.

Pythagoras, the great mathematician, also played and Nero was fond of guitar music. Beethoven said the instrument is "a miniature symphony within itself." Certain it is that the guitar combines the delicacy of the harpsichord, the brilliance of the violin, and the pulsing throb of the cello.

Banjo Is Most Modern.

The most modern of all the instruments is the banjo and it is the only one that is American. J. W. Sweeney of Appomattox, Va., invented the instrument in 1830, stretching its strings across a calfskin head to create a brilliant, percussive tone. The American Negro liked its timbre and helped to develop it as a minstrel instrument.

From first World war days thru 1930 the banjo was used as a tuneful, secondary drum by the hot jazz orchestras. It has been largely replaced by the more melodic guitar, but in addition to its part in the Festival Plectrophonic orchestra, the banjo will be featured as a solo instrument by Lieut. Comm. E. E. [Eddie] Peabody during the Happy Hour show to be presented by more than 300 officers and enlisted men from Great Lakes Naval Training station.

"The banjo is the only native instrument America has," says Peabody. "Let's not let it be killed."

Mandolin Compared to Violin.

The mandolin, a classic solo instrument, is known as the violin of the fretted group. Its répertoire includes many fine concertos and operatic transcriptions.

As the plaintive music of the Hawaiian guitars rises from the body of the vast orchestra, it cannot fail again to remind the thousands in Soldiers' field that upon Hawaiian shores fell the bombs which plunged America into war.

The wierdly sweet tones of this guitar evolved from experimentation upon the Spanish guitar. The prolonged note was achieved by drawing a pocket knife along the strings. The knife later was replaced by a steel bar.

TOTAL COST WHEN REPAID IN SIX MONTHLY INSTALMENTS

No endorsers or guarantors needed—A quick, simple way to get a cash loan at reasonable cost

Do you need some extra cash? Would you like to pay off old bills as part of your wartime financial program? This advertisement tells about a simple plan which is helping many men and women with their present day money problems.

Suppose you need $100 for an emergency or to pay off debts. You can get the money in a quick, simple transaction. Then you may repay on a regular monthly payment plan. At the end of a definite time you are entirely in the clear. The payment plan thus becomes a personal debt paying program.

The cost of this service is reasonable. Suppose you borrow $100 and repay in six monthly instalments of $18.18 each, a total of $109.08. The cost of your loan is just $9.08. A $50 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $9.09 each, a total of $54.54, costs only $4.54.

This service has been specially designed for folks with jobs. Many people have no car, furniture or other security on which to borrow. And they hate to ask friends to sign notes. Salary loans give these people an opportunity to borrow on earning ability and willingness to repay. When you get a salary loan you merely give us your personal note. We take no wage assignment of any kind. And no endorsers are required. We make many loans on other plans. The principal requirement is a job or other source of income. Even when making car and furniture loans, we consider character and regular income far more important than the actual value of your security.

Loans for many purposes

You may use a Household loan to pay a doctor or dentist bill, insurance, instalment contracts, old store bills, car repairs, union fees, a training course, tools, moving expense, coal for winter—and for expenses of many other kinds.

You may repay your loan on almost any plan you wish. The table shows how loans may be repaid in 2 to 12 payments. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Look in the table now for the loan you need. See how you may repay out of monthly income.

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on a loan balance of $100 or less and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is substantially below the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law. Lower operating costs permit us to give our customers the advantage of a lower rate. Compare rates and costs before you borrow anywhere; why pay more for your loan than you have to?

If you can make good use of a loan, see us at once. Or just phone and tell us how much you need.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

WHO GETS THE MONEY?

The July grand jury wound up its affairs in a blaze of glory. It threw such a fright into the Statesman O'Brien that that comic supplement to the Democratic slate of congressional candidates scuttled out of the grand jury room and fired the three lieutenants of his highway police force. The grand jurors thereupon closed their copy of the revised statutes, which they had had open to the section on malfeasance in office, and knocked off for the month. Altogether it was a very satisfying performance, even if it didn't mean a thing.

The highway lieutenants are a mere trio of flatfeet. They were left holding the bag when the grand jury got curious as to why the slot machines were running in rural sections of the county which the sheriff is supposed to police. The jurors asked the sheriff, who said it was up to Chief Fleming of his highway police. Chief Fleming said it was up to the three lieutenants. The lieutenants couldn't pass the buck any further and so out they went, to be replaced by three more loogans who will proceed to ignore gambling just as assiduously as did their predecessors.

This sort of ignorance isn't free. It commands a high fee. And mere lieutenants of the highway police aren't allowed to monopolize the profits of myopia. The July grand jury did an excellent public service in calling attention to a condition in the office of the sheriff which long experience shows could exist only upon the payment of graft to everybody concerned. The August jury should trace the money to its eventual destination.

The highway lieutenants were mere stooges for their chief and their chief is merely a stooge for the Statesman O'Brien. The Statesman O'Brien, in turn, is also a stooge, the personal political property of Boss Nash. The boss put him into the sheriff's office because he wanted somebody there who wouldn't have a single idea of his own. O'Brien obviously fitted the requirements, since he doesn't have any ideas of any sort.

The thought occurs that if one grand jury can scare the Statesman O'Brien so much that he fires his highway lieutenants, another one might scare his boss, Old Man Nash, so much that he would fire the Statesman O'Brien. Technically, of course, the sheriff would have to tender his resignation to the county commissioners as representatives of the people. But he is not working for the people, but for Old Man Nash, and if the boss tells him to quit he will quit.

A DUTY TO REGISTER.

The state-wide permanent registration law, passed by the legislature last year, will apply for the first time in the Nov. 3 general election. It requires all voters outside of Cook county and nine downstate cities where voting is already supervised by election boards to register with county clerks and establish their eligibility between now and Oct. 5. For most of the state this is an entirely new registration. In Chicago and the other election board cities it will be necessary only to register the relatively few not correctly on the books now.

Formerly registration was permissive in most downstate counties, but not required of the voters. Now it is required, and the necessity of qualifying should tend to emphasize to many citizens who voted irregularly or not at all in the past that the exercise of the ballot is not only a right but a duty of citizenship.

Reports from various parts of the state indicate that, altho there has been a good general registration, the response by no means has brought all of the 2 million or more eligible voters previously unregistered into the offices of the county clerks to file their signatures. Not all citizens make regular trips to the county seat, but they should remember the need of registering when the opportunity is afforded. There also may be some ignorance of the registration requirement or resentment against it, because it occasions added expense to the counties. It is up to the party organization to inform the citizens, if they do not understand, and to get them to come in and register.

Permanent registration has advantages of which the voter may readily be persuaded. It will reduce the possibility of vote fraud, because no one will be permitted to vote unless his signature checks with that in the master file. It will also make possible more effective party organization work because a complete polls list will be permanently on file.

The November election is of the utmost importance to the whole state. One senator, the congressional delegation, all members of the state house of representatives, half of the state senate, a state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction, and about half of the county officers are to be elected. A proposed constitutional amendment exempting food from the state sales tax is also to be voted upon.

Citizens will probably find it wise to register the first time they happen to be near the county clerk's office, but those who do not have the opportunity will be able to do so in their home precincts on Sept. 19 and Oct. 3, when polling places thruout the state will be open for that purpose. Meanwhile the party organization should bend every effort to getting out the registration.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS.

Two of our food industries have problems. The meat industry has a shortage. The cheese industry has a surplus. Meat shops are closing down because with the present price ceilings there isn't a sufficient supply to enable them to operate at a profit. In Chicago alone 60 butcher shops have closed in the last month. Cheese factories are closing down for the very different reason that there isn't enough demand to enable them to be operated at a profit. In the last two months alone 31 American cheese factories have suspended operations.

It so happens that what we have in superabundance can pretty satisfactorily replace what is scarce. Meat is valuable for human consumption principally because of the protein in it. But cheese, too, is rich in protein; very rich, in fact.

Healthy races like the Swiss, Danes, and Norwegians eat less meat than we do and make up for it with two or three times as much cheese as we do. Down to recent years many of our native born didn't know that cheese was actually edible. Those who visited Europe for the first time have always been impressed with the amount of cheese which was pushed at them at mealtime. The Wisconsin cheese makers in recent years have by their promotional campaigns increased consumption of their product by as much as 50 per cent, but the average American still eats but little more than 5 pounds, compared with 16 pounds apiece for the Swiss and 14 for the Danes.

LAST THINGS FIRST.

A Washington dispatch to the New York Times says the President desires legislation "under which the total man power of the country, estimated at 60 million labor units, would be mobilized in a total war effort for assignment to essential services in factories, on the farms, in the laboratories, and even to the education of young people under military age for scientific pursuits." A number of persons are already at work drafting legislation along these lines. It is desired, among other things, that the 42 million women in the country between the ages of 18 and 65 be required to register to disclose how many of them are available for various duties.

These plans may be magnificent, but they are not war. As more men enter the army and navy, and as more factories get into war production, a shortage of man power may be felt, but for the present no extraordinary measures are required. Recent statistics show a slight decline in employment in Illinois and there are said to be some hundreds of thousands of unemployed workers in New York. There is no objection to looking ahead to the time when a real shortage may arise, but preoccupation with such matters at this time is likely to result in the neglect of problems of much more immediate and much graver concern.

Today the German submarines are attempting to blockade our coasts and they have met with a considerable success. Great efforts are being made to speed the construction of ships, but the united nations are losing more tonnage than is being turned out, according to recent official pronouncements. The Japanese are in possession of American islands off Alaska and are pushing toward our base at Port Moresby in New Guinea. The Russians are being driven back, China is boxed in, and Rommel is still within a hundred miles of Alexandria.

The questions involved in a total mobilization are not unimportant for the long pull, but at this critical moment in history the men in charge of our war effort should have no time to devote to such relatively minor matters. All the working time of our leaders should be spent in figuring out how to lick the submarines, how to drive the Japanese back, how to contain and defeat Hitler, how to solve the rubber problem, how to move troops and supplies to the fronts where they can be effective. We have won a lot of wars without registering old men and women, but we have never won a war by concentrating on secondary matters while neglecting to fight.

ANYTHING FOR VOTES.

Sen. Vandenberg is demanding repeal of a provision carefully tucked away in the soldiers' family allowance bill which holds up payment of subsistence allowances to dependents of service men until after Nov. 1—two days before the general election. At that time, subsistence payments which will have been accumulating for five months since the passage of the bill are to be released in a lump to all eligible dependents.

This is one of the rawest examples of playing politics with human need that even the New Deal has fathered. Numerous specious excuses have been made for the insertion of the provision. One was that the services require time to investigate the validity of the claimants, altho no investigation is required in assignments to wives and children, who will be the majority of those eligible. Another excuse was that it would take time to establish bookkeeping methods and a system of records, but no explanation was offered why the checks could not be issued progressively as cases were verified and entered on the rolls.

The simple fact is that the New Deal majority in congress wrote in the Nov. 1 payment provision in order to send millions of voters to the polls in a grateful frame of mind, thinking of the beneficence of their representatives in Washington. It is significant that during all the discussion of the bill only Rep. Robsion of Kentucky, a Republican, challenged the provision, and that now Sen. Vandenberg, another Republican, should seek to repeal it. The senator states that he did not know the provision was in the law until just now. The New Dealers knew it was there, all right. They put it there.

Editorial of the Day

"GREATEST MENACE OF THE WAR."

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Our readers were informed yesterday by a Washington correspondent of the Post-Dispatch that the sinkings of American and British ships by Nazi submarines have become the greatest menace of the war.

All who are in a position to know the facts—military and naval men, production chiefs—agree, so the dispatch read, that it is "the most serious single phase of the war, more serious even than the continuing Russian losses, if only because it is directly related to the effort to relieve Russia either by a second front or with greatly increased supplies."

Altho it is admitted that the ship toll has now exceeded 400, the full extent of the losses is "a carefully guarded secret." For a year there has been no public announcement from London of sea losses on the British side of the Atlantic. For all the people of the united nations know the sinking may be twice 400 or even worse.

What is to be said in favor of a censorship policy which hides these vital facts from the American and British peoples? If it is a peoples' war which the peoples must fight, then they are entitled to know the bad news along with the good. Moreover, the people need the truth about sinkings in order to measure up to the needs of the war. Since the German naval command knows the essential facts about allied shipping losses, release of the facts to the united peoples can hardly be said to run the risk of aiding the enemy.

Failure to tell the facts about these losses has prevented a full realization of the need for new transport devices in order to open a second front. A new front to relieve Russia is a crying need of our war and yet the problem of transportation of men and supplies obviously comes first. If the cargo plane is the solution, the facts about shipping losses will speed its production and use.

The American people are not children. They can and should have all the facts about the war which will not give the enemy vital information he does not have.

THIS CHANGING WORLD.

When asked if there is any parallel to the intended conversion of the Woods theater into a Franciscan chapel, we could only answer that numerous churches have been built upon the foundations of pagan temples. When one recalls "Up in Mabel's Room," a play that was characteristic of Mr. Woods' régime, this analogy does not seem farfetched.

A playhouse called Blackfriars figured importantly in the career of Shakespeare as dramatist and actor. Its name had a religious background, for it was built upon land that had been expropriated from an ancient establishment of the Dominican order.

The Monroe movie theater occupies a building that was constructed for the use of a great daily newspaper. Its façade still bears the lettering, "Chicago Inter Ocean."

Old mansions become lodging houses, studio rookeries, commercial offices, dressmakers' shops, labor union headquarters, endowed shelters for working girls, schools, night clubs, missions, orphanages, and slum tenements. Chicago is full of them, and their stories enrich the legends of the ever-changing, decaying, and growing metropolis.

Cologne cathedral, a tourist objective on the Rhine, now in the zone of heavy bombing, is a famous monument of Gothic architecture, but its religious services have had serious interruptions. In the Napoleonic wars it was used by the French cavalry as a storehouse for fodder.

In 1856 a real estate promoter named Charles J. Hull built a red brick residence on South Halsted street in a region of semisuburban estates. The neighborhood decayed into a dense slum, and the house became the nucleus of the social settlement now internationally famous as Hull House.

There is a small house on the south side, in the district called Oakland, where the editor of this column spent his grade school, high school, and college years. The last time he drove by it, for old times' sake, it bore a sign that read, "Jolly Boy Food Shop."

A DOG'S LIFE.

Nappy, springer spaniel, leads a busy life;
Wakes the neighbors early, irks the neighbor's wife,
Barking at the rabbits in his forest deep;
Hurries in, turns around, twice, and goes to sleep.

Nappy loves the children; he could romp all day,
Growling, wags his stubby tail, shows it's only play;
Tired of ball and rubber bone, presently he'll creep
To his corner, turn around, twice, and go to sleep.

Nappy knows the bedrooms are forbidden ground;
When he's lost, we're certain where he can be found;
Gets the covers dirty, makes his mistress weep;
Takes his scolding, turns around, twice, and goes to sleep.

Nappy often gets away; trouble then occurs—
He returns with heavy coat matted thick with burrs;
Whimpers when we comb them out; then, abused, he'll leap
Off the table, turn around, twice, and go to sleep.

Nappy is a nuisance, could be called a pest;
He regards as enemies folks we like the best!
Nappy isn't worried—knows we're his to keep;
Solemnly he turns around, twice, and goes to sleep.

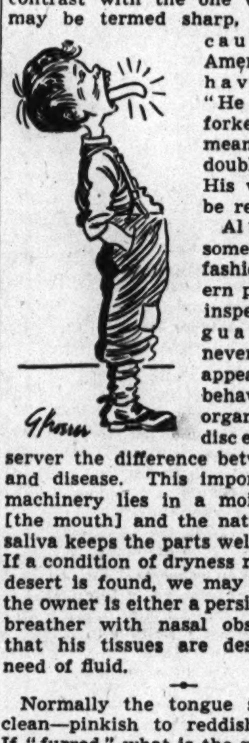
THE TONGUE BESPEAKS GOOD MOUTH KEEPING.

We read in Proverbs, "A gentle tongue is a tree of life." But this refers to the disposition of the individual which is in contrast with the one whose organ may be termed sharp, vitriolic, or caustic. The American Indians have a saying, "He talks with a forked tongue," meaning he is a double dealer. His word cannot be relied upon.



Altho it is somewhat out of fashion for modern physicians to inspect the lingual apparatus, nevertheless, the appearance and behavior of the organ tells the discerning observer the difference between health and disease. This important bit of machinery lies in a moist chamber [the mouth] and the natural flow of saliva keeps the parts well lubricated. If a condition of dryness resembling a desert is found, we may realize that the owner is either a persistent mouth breather with nasal obstruction or that his tissues are desperately in need of fluid.

Normally the tongue should look clean—pinkish to reddish in shade. If "furred," what is the material and where does it come from? In such a situation the outer cells thicken and become mixed with bacteria and particles of food. Under ordinary conditions this coating is washed away. If the flow of saliva is sufficient the very act of swallowing will prevent the accumulation of débris. When we observe, therefore, a white covering with streaks of what appear to be grayish dirt, we may infer a gastric upset, excessive smoking, or general weakness.

Marked pallor with white patches interspersed by reddish areas suggests infection by a plant parasite or anemia. Smarting or burning also may arise from a lack of red corpuscles [anemia] or a food deficiency. If the spots are bluish black even tho small in number, heart disease or some disturbance of the adrenal glands may be indicated. A saffron tinge may point to simple jaundice. A thick, red, and beefy condition sometimes accompanies exhaustion.

When interpreting the landscape we must inquire about the diet. Blueberries and other fruits may be responsible for marked discoloration. Flecks of curdled milk may be mistaken for fungous growth. Colored lozenges may leave behind the many shades of Joseph's coat, and dyes from toys may stain not only the tongue but the mucous membrane of the oral cavity.

But more often than not we will be interested in the reactions of the digestive tract. In peptic ulcer or acid dyspepsia a raw looking surface may be presented. Sometimes minute blisters will form along the tip and the victim will complain of a sense of burning. This same phenomenon may be caused by sharp jagged teeth.

In chronic indigestion with kidney involvement or heart failure, the coating is likely to be thick and stubborn. This also occurs when too much alcohol has been taken. As a rule, careful hygiene for a day or two will dissipate all signs. If not, a thoro investigation of the alimentary tract is in order.

We can do much to enhance general health if we will keep the chewing chamber in good sanitary condition. It will never be sterile but it can be reasonably clean. Scrubbing gently the exposed surface with a soft rubber tongue brush or a bit of gauze wrapped about the toothbrush handle will remove bacteria, and putrefying food particles. Follow this procedure with a mild antiseptic wash and we can then invite the stomach to accept a wholesome meal.

X-RAY FILM OF BRAIN.

G. L. writes: My doctor advises me to have an oxygen encephalogram. Just what is this?

REPLY.

The gas is injected into the ventricles [spaces] within the brain. This permits an X-ray film to reveal important structures.

C. F. writes: At night when I am about to fall asleep I jump like a trout on a hook. This wakes me up.

REPLY.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, The Tribune.

DESK OFFICERS.

Chicago, July 28.—I have been wondering when the government will decide to use young, able bodied officers in the army instead of at desks. If conditions in that respect are as evident in other large cities as in Chicago, we have enough line, field, and staff officers doing clerical work to handle a dozen divisions. Not that they are nonessential; army paper work of necessity must be done by commissioned officers or under their supervision. The wasteful feature of the present setup is that so many of these administrative officers are in the lower age brackets—young men who should be and in most cases want to be with troops. There is little of this class of work that cannot be done at least equally well by retired or other veteran officers now physically unfit for field service. The rapid expansion of our armed forces and the higher ratio of officers to enlisted personnel make the officer problem much more serious than in 1917. Now, however, there is a reserve of veteran officers to draw upon to release these younger men for service with troops. Even the most casual observer cannot help but wonder why this reserve is not drawn upon to its full capacity.

DAD.

THE TEXAS ELECTION.

Houston, Tex., July 29.—The Dallas News' Washington correspondent writes: "The administration is known to wish most ardently that Sen. O'Daniel be defeated. All the strength the administration can muster is now expected to be thrown to Allred. The vast military activities in Texas, and the large number of federal contracts in that state, will open the way for considerable pressure to secure Allred's nomination."

The second front, it seems, is to be opened in Texas, with the federal administration, the big labor racketeers, the communists, the internationalists, and the war contractors making war on the 68 per cent of Texas Democrats who declared on July 25 they do not want Mr. Allred for senator. Texas Democrats may be servile enough to waive their voting rights in the run-off primary Aug. 22 and allow the Washington bosses to choose their senator, but I can't find anybody willing to bet money on it.

FRANK PUTNAM.

DOESN'T LIKE LOUD SPEAKERS.

Chicago, July 28.—May the day speedily come when loud speakers—for no matter how worthy a cause—will be barred from the loop and from the streets of Chicago.

The blaring noise of loud speakers on public street corners is an imposition on the people.

The use of loud speakers is the method the dictators use to control the actions of the people. Let's keep dictatorship methods out of Chicago. EDWARD G. CARTER.

QUITE SOME TIME AGO.

Wichita, Kas., July 28.—Some time ago at a political rally in Kansas a man in the audience inquired of the speaker, "What do you propose to do for the farmer?" "Not a damn thing," replied the candidate for congress.

HENRY WARE ALLEN.

A STRANDED ELEVATOR.

Herbert, Ill., July 29.—As a farmer and the owner of a grain elevator in Herbert, I very much regret reading your editorial of Tuesday [on abandonment of unprofitable branch railroad lines].

It is most discouraging to those of us trying to produce food for victory to have our transportation facilities taken away from us just at the beginning of harvest.

Even in Chicago you have probably heard about the shortage of bailing wire; and you probably know something about the tire troubles truck owners are having in rural communities. Has The Tribune a suggestion to offer as to how the 80,000 pounds of milk delivered daily from the Bowman Dairy company plant at Herbert to your fellow citizens in Chicago is going to reach them if this line is taken out?

Your columns have carried stories of sabotage in other countries. Do you think it impossible that the Milwaukee and St. Paul, Illinois Central, or Chicago and North Western railways could be the victims of an "accident" that might disrupt service on one of these important east and west lines?

If 12 miles of the road which the North Western is seeking to abandon were kept, a connection would be afforded between these three systems.

This connection might constitute the only outlet to Chicago for 300 war industries located in six cities of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. Does your editorial writer know that most of these industries cannot operate without coal? Has he figured out a way necessary fuel can be delivered to the people of the cities and towns and rural districts of this section if something should happen to any one of the three lines mentioned above?

ALBERT FOWLER.

READ TRIBUNE 80 YEARS AGO.

Miami, Fla., July 28.—I notice that F. Marion Smith brags about reading The Tribune in 1872.

Why, The Tribune was an old paper at that time. I remember going out to our side yard to get it when Daniel Fraizer called across to father, "Bad news this morning, Tom. The darned rebs have licked our boys again at Bull Run."

This was 1862.

JAP ARCH IN MICHIGAN.

A MOTHER.

BONDS AT THE KINGSBURY PLANT.

La Porte, Ind., July 30.—In the July 17th issue of The Tribune there appeared a letter in which the statement is made that the guards at the Kingsbury plant are compelled to pay $10 to a designated bonding company in La Porte for the purpose of being permitted to carry a pistol and wear a special deputy sheriff's badge.

Both of these statements are in error. The bond is not for the purpose stated, but is for the purpose of insuring the guard against abusing the power invested in him and protection against liability for the sheriff, under and for whom the guard acts. The bonding company is not designated. The guard has the privilege of selecting any one of three agents in La Porte, who in turn are the representatives of four bonding companies.

All of the agents have reduced their rates to $5.

Todd & Brown, Inc., operators of the Kingsbury plant, are taking steps to ascertain whether any of their employés have been overcharged with the intention of having any overcharges refunded.

LAND LEASE.

Chicago, July 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I am renting a bungalow and have about a half acre of land. I have a large garden and gooseberry, currant, and raspberry bushes. Early in the spring my husband pruned and sprayed all of the berry bushes. Now that the berries are ripe the landlady, who lives next door, is claiming the berries.

2. What right has the landlady to these berries, if any?

3. If I order her out of my yard will she have a legal right to make me vacate the property?

4. If I am in the right do you have any suggestions as to how I should relay this information to the landlady? I have a garden planted and I have my supply of coal for the winter.

G. B.

1. If the wording of your lease is broad enough to cover the surrounding land, then you are entitled to the crops.
2. Your rights depend on the wording of your lease.
3. No.
4. The first step is to ascertain the wording.

SHERIFF SEIZES SLOT MACHINES AT GOLF CLUBS

Taverns Escape His Tour of Suburban Areas.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien went a-hunting yesterday for privately owned, nonsyndicate slot machines at golf and country clubs. And, it is strange to relate, he found some. Also, it was reported, his appearance caused many others to be hidden in cyclone cellars and water hazards because of his invasion of the private playgrounds which had not paid tribute to the Guzik-Vogel gang.

The sheriff had his star pinned firmly onto his shirt as he presented himself, officially, at the office of the Calumet Country club, 175th street and Western avenue, shortly after noon. It may be recalled that he still had his shirt and his badge when he emerged from the grand jury room last Friday, but he had lost three important assistants and some intangibles.

Sets Out to Avenge Self.

The sheriff had recovered at least his aplomb yesterday and he let it be known he was out to avenge himself on the wicked one arm bandits wherever he found them. Golf club members were no better than the patrons of the county's roadhouses, he proclaimed, and had no more right to put coins into the machines.

At the Calumet club O'Brien found eight machines buried under a pile of débris in a room behind the manager's office. He shouted "Beaver" and the machines were his—to be carted away on a truck to his police station at Homewood.

Wars on "Pipe of Peace."

At the Pipe of Peace Golf club, 131st rnd Halsted streets, in Riverdale, he found another. A deputy who gave his name as C. Schodrof accompanied O'Brien.

At the Indian Wood Country club on Western avenue at Sauk trail in Rich township, he and Sergt. Antone Paulus captured two more of the contraptions.

Then the sheriff headed north, wending his weary way from club to club, but skirting taverns.

Later his deputies carried on, a Willow Springs group, headed by Acting Lieut. John Burns, confiscating 20 punchboards in taverns, and raiding the Lucky Star inn, 89th street and Roberts road, where they seized two women on morals charges.

Meantime, Sheriff O'Brien was still the topic of discussion among members of the July grand jury, now disbanded; First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley, and Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission. It was reported he had made a hit with them by his summary dismissal of three lieutenants. Prosecutors believed he fired them because they hadn't suppressed slot machines.

Tells Different Story.

But the sheriff was quoted later as publicly saying the discharged officers were good policemen who had to be fired because "I couldn't talk to Courtney."

It was learned that in the grand jury room O'Brien did not defend the lieutenants. When asked what he was going to do about their inability to suppress the slot machine syndicate he had said he would fire them if the grand jury would give him a written recommendation to that effect. He received it in writing.

Cahn yesterday expressed the belief that O'Brien needed the jury recommendation as an alibi to present to the political bosses.

Saved by Wires

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The electric wires just outside Robert Henneman's porch, which saved his life when he fell off yesterday. Henneman, who is blind, hung on until he was rescued.

FRIENDLY WIRE HALTS FALL OFF 3D STORY PORCH

Blind Man Smokes Until He's Rescued.

Robert Henneman, who is blind, fell off his third story back porch yesterday. He clutched instinctively at space and found an insulated electrical wire in his hand. He kicked, and his feet came to rest upon a heavy cable below.

"Call the police, Clarice," he told his wife. "Call the firemen. I can hang on here O. K."

To assure his wife that there was nothing to be excited about, he let go of the wire with one hand, pulled out his pipe, filled it and calmly lighted it.

Wife Calls Firemen.

Mrs. Henneman, who is almost blind, saw that he was safe for the moment and called firemen to their home at 1825 South Sawyer avenue.

Capt. Robert Casey came with hook and ladder company 48. The firemen found Henneman still smoking his pipe among the wires which run past his porch. John Henneman, his father, had already piled bed springs beneath him and advised him to jump upon them, but the blind man only kept on puffing his pipe.

While the firemen prepared to rescue Henneman his wife explained what had happened. They had been measuring the porch, which was wet from rain, when Henneman slipped. He fell over the low railing. She thought he had plunged to his death until she heard his voice and her weak eyes discerned him lodged among the wires.

Warned Not to Jump.

The firemen spread a net beneath him for safety, but warned him not to jump. They warned him, too, that just above him was a wire carrying 2,200 volts of electricity, insulated, but nothing to experiment with.

Then they ran up a ladder and carried Henneman down.

He was still clutching the pipe between his teeth and beaming with a calm befitting his 32 years. But he was blowing no smoke rings. His pipe was out.

He'd been up there 16 minutes.

Both Henneman and his wife denied a report that he had attempted to end his life.

Al Donahue, world famous orchestra leader, knows that his good head of hair is a real asset. As have so many leaders in every field, he consults and takes treatment from John E. Warner & Associates, in Warner offices throughout the country.

Thousands of men have saved and improved their hair through the Warner method of treatment, but no case is ever accepted unless beneficial results are reasonably certain. There is never any charge for a private examination and consultation—and in every case honest advice is given as to whether or not treatment can be helpful.

"Thanks for the Rubber that Saved his Life!"

Already in America any one of a million mothers might have written that line. Planned is an army of six million, many of them destined for overseas.

On every transport there is life-saving equipment for every man... on every plane that flies far over the water there is a rubber boat. Such essential protection must not be skimped. It is unthinkable.

In hundreds of ways rubber contributes to the efficiency of ships, the speed of planes, to the precision of arms manufacture.

But where is the rubber coming from? The shortage is critical. Even now our army has been asked to cut its requirements 25 per cent.

Precious lives will be sacrificed unless each one of us helps. Will you do your part to the utmost limit? Will you take watchful care of your tires and every other rubber product you own so that they will last for the duration of the war?

Will you go further... and regard the collection of scrap rubber, steel and tin as continually necessary until the war is over? Look in your attic, your basement, in the vacant lot near your house. Salvage every bit of old rubber you can lay your hands on.

Don't let up... remember, your effort may save the life of your boy, or the Jones boy—next door—who is fighting your fight.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 2.—When I asked Nunnally Johnson whether he thought he could get Orson Welles for "The Moon Is Down," he said, "I don't know, but I'm sure trying. If I get him, I suppose I'll have to move out of the studio, but even that sacrifice would be worth it to the picture."

Well, for Pete's sake! At a sneak preview of "The Moon and Sixpence," when woman-hating George Sanders popped off those cracks about the fair sex, the men applauded, while the gals hissed and booed. That sounds like a patron's holiday.

The other day Leif Erickson, who plays a sex maniac in "House of Mystery," was supposed to say the house was full of corpses and it was a breeding place for insanity. Instead of which, he screamed, "This picture is a breeding place for insanity!"

Fine Thing.

General Motors is going into the motion picture business for its quarter of a million workers only. The story is "This Precious Freedom," which was acclaimed all over the country when it was done as a radio play by Arch Oboler. Oboler also is directing the film, which stars Claude Rains, Gloria Holden, Paul Hilton, Jane Morgan, Wally Mayer, and a dozen other fine players. It tells the story of what would happen to an American family in the event of a foreign occupation, and will be shown free to all General Motors employés and their families, in more than 40 cities.

Marching On.

Remember my telling you about Roger Kirby, the young actor who built his own home for $800? Then he got a part in "Ten Gentlemen from West Point." After that he got tired waiting and is now a carpenter at Lockheed. The first thing he did was to build a stage there. He wrote me and said "Any time you're around Vega plant No. 2 come in and I'll tell you how it feels to work under a stage instead of on it." . . . Lester Cutler has already signed Maxie Rosenbloom for his next picture, "The Yanks Are Coming," as a prize fighter who joins the army to fight Joe Louis. Now all he has to do is get the army's consent to lend him Joe Louis. Am I laughing!

Man of His Word.

When Leo McCarey makes a promise you can bank on it, even if it takes years. Yes, 10 years ago he saw Walter Slezak in a Broadway play, went back and said, "Some day when I've found the right part, I'm going to bring you to Hollywood." In the meantime, Walter has made four different tries to break down our barriers, but McCarey kept his word, and Walter's here doing "Once Upon a Honeymoon." When that's finished, he's going right back home, which, says he, is on the wrong side of the Delaware—away from the Moss Harts, the Kaufmans, and the Spewaks. . . . Arthur Treacher wants very much to become an American, but he is in a pickle. He's married to Virginia Taylor, who hails from Georgia. Now she can't find her birth papers to prove she's an American.

Got the Boid!

When a baby mockingbird was marooned on the roof of his garage, George Murphy [always the little Boy Scout] got on a ladder and made for the rescue. All the time his phone kept ringing. One neighbor wanted to know whether it was an air raid drill, whether he was practicing putting out an incendiary bomb, and another said there was a suspicious character climbing up on his garage. In the meantime, mother mockingbird pulled out enough of George's hair to build her a new nest! . . . Cliff Nazarro, our double talker, has named his baby Rosalind in honor of Rosalind Russell. . . . Clive Brook's lovely 20 year old daughter, Faith, is playing a chorus girl in "No Time for Love."

Like Taking Candy.

When a couple of prop men at Metro were asked whether they could carry Lionel Barrymore in his chair onto the set of "The Man on America's Conscience" without dropping him, they said, "Don't worry, we used to move pianos. Carrying actors is like taking candy from a baby." . . . None other than little Gloria Jean has been set for the lead in "Hold Your Horses," the new Abbott and Costello picture at Universal. She carries on a puppy love with Lou Abbott.

Judging from the morning's mail, it didn't take long for you boys and girls to discover the good news in the Sunday TRIBUNE.

Many of the youngsters who are anxious to attend our next party have already written and mailed their letters, but there's still plenty of time for any other boy or girl who'd like to join us on Aug. 13.

As usual, I want as my guests the youngsters who'll enjoy this sort of party. I can't judge that unless you tell me, and the best way to do that is to write a letter. Tell me anything you like—anything you think will prove that you'd really be delighted to win an invitation to this party—but don't forget to include your full name, your address, and your age.

All the letters will be read and the winners selected next Thursday morning, so be sure to mail your letter in plenty of time. Write it all by yourself, and please don't ask for invitations for your friends.

Good Morning!

[Love, you funny thing!]

To my way of thinking, this gay comedy merits a near rave from any critic.

It's sophisticated without being smutty and farcical without being foolish. The acting is sm-oo-th as satin, and Miss Rosalind Russell quite the most stunning thing these eyes have rested on for quite some time. [Spikking of ladies.]

Besides the tried and true MacMurray, whom we all love [applause!] she has Robert Benchley for flavor, and a newcomer, MacDonald Carey, for tang. . . . Yep, the same Carey who played with Gertrude Lawrence in "Lady in the Dark"—and he has what it takes, girls.

As for the story—strictly tailored to the measurements of everybody concerned.

Miss Russell is seen as an advertising executive, cute enough to hire herself a personable male secretary who, introduced to jealous wives of prospects as her fiancé, detours their suspicions. . . . The job is strictly a job, but, until the advent of Tom Verney, MacGregor has not been able to persuade her employers that they are lovers in name only. . . . Verney gets the idea.

TOO WELL! He happens to be the ONE MAN for this one-man woman. . . . Wa-all . . .?

Complications are many and—er—complicated. But things don't get really messed up until MacGregor goes after the tobacco advertising account of Jonathan Caldwell who has divorced four wives. . . . Jonathan Caldwell—whose fascinating sister [one of them little so'thun gals!] always has the final okeying of a contract. . . .

MacGregor has heard of the sister, and believing her to be just some old hag, gives Verney his orders. . . . He's to line up sister. SHE will take care of Caldwell. . . . Ha, HA, HAW! . . .

[O sho'—it comes out all right.]

If you're looking for something fast and fetching—"Take a Letter Darling" is IT.

And Miss Russell's gowns—O me, O MY!

See you tomorrow.

Frances Clow's Engagement to Ensign Bowers Revealed

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a tea at their home in Lake Forest yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Kent S. Clow announced the engagement of their daughter, Frances Reid Clow, to Ensign Lloyd Wheaton Bowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson Bowers of New York, and Washington, Conn. The wedding is set for early next month.

Frances Reid Clow.

Miss Clow, who is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow, attended the Foxcroft school and was introduced to society last year. Ensign Bowers was graduated from Yale in 1938 and from the Harvard law school this year. He is now teaching at the midshipmen's school at Abbott hall.

Even wartime limitations on travel can have their compensations, and the particular silver lining to the dark cloud that hangs over summer 1942 is that many stay-at-homes are discovering anew the north shore's lovely garden spots. By 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the Winnetka Weeders will be off on a pleasant outing that includes a tour of members' gardens, a picnic at Mrs. H. Stanley Johnson's home in Winnetka, and swimming from the Johnsons' beach.

Winnetka Weeders Will See North Shore Gardens.

Mrs. Guy Osborn has arranged the program, which includes a visit to her garden and to those of Mrs. Denison B. Hull, Mrs. Ayres Boal Jr., Mrs. Kenneth M. Henderson, Mrs. Edwin P. Jordan, Miss Judith Walsh, and Mrs. Thomas L. Fentress. Co-hostess with Mrs. Johnson will be Mrs. William L. Heiser. President of the Winnetka Weeders is Mrs. Warren F. Sarle, who has as houseguests her sister, Mrs. George E. Rath of Waterloo, Ia., and the latter's two children, Betsy and Robert.

Mrs. Johnson's daughter, Miss Ann Davis Johnson, who was a debutante last year, has decided against going back to Bryn Mawr in the fall. Like many of her young friends, she plans to stay at home and take a business or nurses' aide course.

The garden department of the Winnetka Woman's club is well under way with plans for its annual flower show, and programs for the Sept. 15 event will be in the mail soon. The show will be open to the public from 2 to 9 o'clock and during the afternoon punch will be served. The exhibits will be entirely by club members, altho one class will be open to other north shore clubs. Mrs. Walter D. Sethness is general chairman of the show and Mrs. Lyle Harper heads the club's garden department.

Garden clubs thruout the north shore are responding to an appeal from the Garden Club of Illinois for flower containers, plants, and flower pots for Great Lakes Naval Training Station and Fort Sheridan. Mrs. Gordon Cook is in charge of contributions for Fort Sheridan and Mrs. Hill Blackett and Mrs. George Parker for Great Lakes.

Frank Fowles Jr. Parents of Their First Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Fowle Jr. [Elizabeth Ballard] are being congratulated on the birth of their first child, a daughter, Saturday night in Evanston hospital. The baby will be named Elisabeth Sloane after its mother and grandmother. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fowle Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard of Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Faherty [Betty Scripps] of Evanston have named their first child, born Friday, Thomas Scripps Faherty. He is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Faherty and Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Scripps of Evanston.

Ensign and Mrs. Harold Spurway, who are on a brief wedding trip to Wisconsin, will be at home shortly in Trenton, Mich. The former Mary Deborah Walters and the young naval officer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Spurway of East Lansing, Mich., were married at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday in the Children's chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church. A reception followed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perle Augustine Walters of Winnetka.

Miss Mary Jane Wiley of New York was maid of honor and Mrs. Lansing Hinrichs of Philadelphia matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jean Freeman, Miss Blanche Vail, Miss Mary McIntosh, and Mrs. J. Francis McNamara, and little Madeline Mackenzie was flower girl. Edward Walters, the bride's brother, was best man and their younger brother, Michael, was a junior usher.

J. O. Buchanan to Wed Miss Caroline Tozzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Tozzer of Scarsdale, N. Y., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Caroline Marston Tozzer, to James O. Buchanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Buchanan of Evanston. Miss Tozzer was graduated from Smith college in 1941 and received her master's degree two months ago from the University of New Hampshire. Mr. Buchanan, a Yale graduate of the class of 1941, is studying physics in the Yale graduate school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leonard Hamilton of Winnetka will be going east next week for the marriage of their daughter, Katherine, and Frank Whiteman Lindsay of Hollis, N. Y. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock on Aug. 15 in the chapel of the Riverside church, New York, with a reception following at the Barbizon Plaza. Also making the trip east will be Miss Helen Hamilton, who will be her sister's only attendant, and Miss Jennie Boomer, their aunt.

Members of the Drama league will turn out in full force for the first of the Children's Civic Theater programs tonight in Thorne hall on Northwestern university's downtown campus. Mrs. William E. Vogelback, who has done so much for the theater sponsored by the league, is entertaining at dinner before the show. It is open to the public without admission charge. The children are giving "Peter and the Wolf" and a minstrel show.

Barrington Riding Show for Children on Sept. 6.

Barrington's young equestrians are preparing for the annual Barrington Riding Show for Children, to be given on Sept. 6 at the Round Barn Riding club on the Orville Caesar estate. Among the riders will be the Malcolm E. Shroyers' daughter, Alice, and her houseguest, Rosamund Pelly of London, who has been with the Shroyers since the middle of June and who will return to St. Timthoy's in September. Rosamund's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Pelly, live 28 miles out of London. Her mother is the former Helen Wade of Chicago.

Women Apply for Federal Civil Service Posts

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

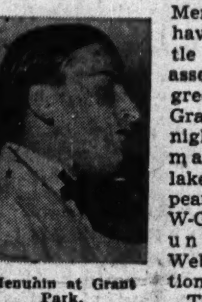
Miss Virginia Pennock, Miss Ruth Hill and Mrs. W. S. Pennock (left to right) were three of the women applying for appointments under civil service for the war emergency last Friday at the information desk in room 1105, new postoffice building. Mrs. Kathryn Iverson (right) was the clerk on duty at the desk. Opportunities for women under civil service have greatly increased since government offices are now staffed with civil service appointees.

Vast Audience Hears Menuhin at Grant Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

(Picture on page 10.)

Altho he has been used to crowds almost from his cradle days, Yehudi Menuhin must have been a little awed at the assemblage which greeted him at Grant park last night when he made his first lake front appearance with the W-G-N orchestra under Henry Weber's direction.



Menuhin at Grant Park.

The fame of the best publicized of American violinists and the beauty of the calm, fragrant night had combined to draw tens of thousands of persons to Grant park. They packed the benches in front of the band shell. They sprawled on the lawns all about. They sauntered, singly or in groups, over the whole huge area between the drives.

As if stimulated by this extraordinary audience, Mr. Menuhin proceeded to give an extraordinary performance of the Mendelssohn concerto. The middle movement was a miracle of songfulness. Phrases flowed one into another without the slightest suggestion of effort. The violin's tone, whether it was piercingly sweet in high-lying passages or grave and dark lower down, had a purity that made it impossible to believe that it was being produced by mechanical means—by friction between two brute pieces of matter.

The august, reserved quality of the performance as a whole did justice to the dignity of a piece of music which, for all its unpretentiousness, has tenaciously kept a top place in the répertoire for almost a century. Mr. Menuhin proved in the third movement that this reserve is not incompatible with effectiveness.

The Saint-Saëns "Havanaise," which began the second solo group, was presented with full regard for the wayward, langorous character of its melodies and rhythms. Sarasate's Gypsy Airs, which successfully embody what non-Gypsies think of as the two chief qualities of Gypsy music—a brooding sort of sadness and a wild frenzy—were so consummately played that an encore became a necessity. It turned out to be the Bach air.

Between solo groups Mr. Weber and the orchestra offered a brilliant performance of excerpts from Rimsky-Korsakoff's "The Golden Cockerel." In the Franck symphony, which began the concert, they projected much of the sheen of the original.

Women in War Work . . . . By India Moffett

The sudden expansion of personnel under civil service supervision naturally brings a great need for office workers. All government departments are now staffed by workers appointed thru the civil service commission. There is constant need of typists and stenographers. Therefore, the latest bulletin from the civil service commission is practically a "help wanted" advertisment.

Beginning with the simple statement, "Wanted stenographers," this release has news for office workers. First, special stenographer and typist examinations will be held weekly here in Chicago. These are conducted by the 7th United States civil service district which has headquarters in the new postoffice building. Information is available there in room 1105.

Almost more important than the announcement of the frequency of the examinations is the new plan to rate the papers here the following day. Previously rating had to go thru Washington, thus consuming valuable time. Now the names of eligibles will be brought, generally, to the attention of appointing officers for consideration within a few days of the examination date.

This is no instance of opportunity knocking only once, either. The commission is giving examinations in the spirit of "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." In other words, a failure isn't an elimination. The stenographer or typist can go home, practice some more, and come back.

This is war service. It is open to young men and women at least 16 years of age. The maximum age limits for civil service emergency appointments have been quite generally withdrawn. Age barriers have been removed in all departments except those where a maximum age limit is necessary to the proper performance of the job. This is not true of stenography and typing. Therefore, the new call for office volunteers states: "Not only young men and women are needed but also those of mature years. Women whose husbands—perhaps those whose sons—are at the front may find in this field their opportunity for patriotic service."

The announcement continues: "One is prone to think of our war effort in terms of soldiers, sailors, and marines, but there are also many types of war work behind the lines. Some of the dictation which stenographers in the government service take from executives and administrative officers will set into motion government events of historical consequence."

Of course, no matter how great the service, the "working girl" has to live. As to salaries, stenographers begin at $1,440 a year; typists at $1,260. Qualified stenographers may be advanced to secretarial positions at $1,620 or higher.

Need for office workers exists here in Chicago, thruout the 7th district, which includes Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and in Washington.

While the need in Washington is great, so much has been written of crowded living conditions there that some girls are reluctant to take assignments to the national capital. This problem is discussed in another newly published civil service bulletin, "Tips to Newcomers to Washington, D. C." It has been prepared in coöperation with the Defense Housing registry, the Greater National Capital committee, the Washington Board of Trade, and the Travelers' Aid society of Washington. Every girl assigned to Washington now gets her folder of advice.

She is told to plan to arrive in Washington in the morning; that Washington bus and street car fares are a dime; that taxi fares are by zones—30 cents, 40 cents, 60 cents, etc.—and that the Union station, bus terminal, and most government buildings, stores, and hotels are in the 30 cent zone.

She gets eight "housing tips" in her little folder. First, she is assured: "You can find a place to live in Washington." From that positive statement she is admonished not to expect to walk to work. To get a room on a monthly basis, she is told to go in person to the Defense Housing registry. She is directed to the Hotel-Transient Clearing house for a room on a daily basis. And she is quoted prices—$1.50 to $3 a person a day in tourist homes and $2.50 up in hotels. She may get a private room in a home for $20 to $35 a month alone or $17.50 to $25 if she shares quarters.

Finally she gets a seven point program labeled "General Information." This instructs her where to get information and to bring extra money with her, but to leave her family at home until she is settled. She is also instructed not to come to Washington to look for a job, but to consult her nearest civil service commission representative about opportunities. That representative is as near as the nearest first or second class postoffice.

Even tho the procession of applicants thru the door of room 1105 in the new postoffice building seems endless, so also seems the need for workers. Girls such as Ruth Hill of Riverside, just out of business college and seeking her first job, stand in line with such experienced workers as Virginia Pennock, 4147 Washington boulevard, former employé of an investment house. Both were in line last Friday. Miss Pennock says she's had a little rest since leaving her other job, and now she's ready for the war effort. Her mother, Mrs. W. S. Pennock, who accompanied her to the civil service information office Friday said, "I just came along with my daughter, but now I think I'll see if there isn't a job for me!"

Ravinia Hears 3 Novelties Over Week-End

BY CECIL SMITH.

In two of the summer's most magnetic and stirring concerts, Saturday evening and yesterday afternoon, Artur Rodzinski and the Chicago Symphony orchestra brought three novelties to the attention of patrons of the Ravinia festival. With two exceptions, the standard music of the week-end was all by Beethoven, the "Egmont" overture and the Fifth symphony on Saturday, and the First symphony yesterday.

Of the three new works, by far the greatest public interest was focussed upon the "Scenario for Orchestra, on Themes from 'Show Boat'," which Jerome Kern put together a year ago at the behest of Mr. Rodzinski. In dressing up his well beloved melodies for the consumption of concert audiences, Mr. Kern has wisely refrained from trying to build a work with any pretensions toward symphonic structure or development. The tunes follow one another in narrative sequence, outlining the major events of the operetta's plot.

Altho the orchestration is sometimes plushy and overwrought, and the transitions between tunes labored and mechanical, the "Scenario" is irresistibly enjoyable, if you are willing to accept it upon its own essentially unpretentious terms.

A part of yesterday afternoon's program was given over to expressions of Polish patriotism. In addition to Chopin's "Military Polonaise," in Glazunoff's orchestration, played in tribute to Paderewski, the first Chicago performance was given of Alexander Tansman's "Polish Rhapsody." The Tansman music, written shortly after the fall of Warsaw, is full of grimly pessimistic distortions of Polish musical forms. It begins with one of the angriest polonaises ever composed, and later employs two equally ungracious mazurkas.

Mr. Rodzinski's third novelty, also played yesterday, unfortunately does not deserve a kind word. Harold Byrns of New York has fabricated a "Bohemian Dance Suite" out of some innocent, folk-like piano pieces by Friedrich Smetana. With spectacularly facile command of the irrelevant, the arranger has buried the unassuming little pieces under a deep trash pile of empty orchestral effects, quite conclusively eliminating everything that is natural and lovable about the sound of the music.

Mr. Rodzinski opened Saturday's program with a superbly dramatic interpretation of the "Egmont" overture, which he followed with a version of Beethoven's fifth symphony that was full of drive and dynamic energy, but wholly lacking in blandishment in the slow movement. The nocturne and scherzo from Mendelssohn's music for "A Midsummer Night's Dream," beautifully played, filled out the list agreeably.

Yesterday's audience had a surprise at the end of the afternoon, when Mr. Rodzinski announced that he would repeat the "Show Boat" music instead of playing Ravel's second suite from "Daphnis and Chloe." The audience seemed pleased, so it doesn't matter what a critic thinks about so unorthodox a departure from the advertised program. The concert opened with a hurried and driven reading of Beethoven's first symphony, which served only to prove that Mr. Rodzinski needs tense drama and big splashy effects to project the full force of his magnificent gifts.

Too Expensive.

A comely young woman walked into the Waac enrollment office the other day and asked the officer in charge how to go about enrolling. He referred her to a large wall chart, on which complete information is available, including "pay $21 per month." The girl studied the chart for awhile, and when she came back to the officer's desk she was in a deep study and reluctant to accept the blanks he handed her. When the officer asked for an explanation of her seeming low spirits she replied, "Well, I don't know whether I'd better go thru with this thing or not. I really can't afford to pay $21 a month."

Beau Geste.

Miss Gladys Cable, chairman of the Gray Ladies of the American Red Cross, dashed thru Union station the other evening to catch a late train for Hinsdale. Just as she reached the gate it was closed and the train was disappearing into the night, so she resigned herself to waiting for the next one. As she turned she saw a large group of sailors waiting for orders to board a train for parts unknown. They spied her uniform, and with one accord gave a rousing rah-rah-rah for the Red Cross. That in itself was inspiring and touching, said Miss Cable, but to make it a perfect occasion she spied two Hinsdale friends, who were on their way to the Service Men's center with six boxes of cakes. With no more ado Miss Cable suggested that they give the cakes to the departing sailors, which they did, just as the train pulled slowly out of the station, the boys' faces wreathed in smiles of gratitude.

Change of Heart.

A youngster on a train en route to a boys' camp in Michigan wrote the following postcard to his parents: "Dear Mom and Dad: Am rolling along toward camp, where I expect to have a wonderful time. Thanks so much for letting me go. Our counselor on the train is very nice. I am going to work hard on my Scout advancement. Love. Don." As the hours wore on and the lad's enthusiasm dwindled, he revised the neatly typed card with penciled changes, and the result read like this: "Am creeping along toward camp, where I expect to have an awful time. I am going to work on my Scout advancement." The sentence about the fine qualities of the counselor was completely censored out.

Confusion, Horticultural Sector.

From a letter received by the greenhouse department of a large Chicago seed store:

"Last Christmas I bought six avocado pears. I kept the bottom of the seeds in water all winter and now they've sprouted long stems and are ready to pot, but I don't know how to pot them do you put the sprout in the pot with the sprout down and cover the whole entire thing with dirt or do you leave the sprout outside where do the leaves come, out of the top of the seed or from which end of the seed or the bottom of the seed? I am very anxious to know how these should be potted after I took all the trouble to start them but I don't know how to pot them, and I don't want to make a guess at how they should be potted as it took me too long to grow them, so I would appreciate very much if you will please do all you can for me on this subjeet. Or if you don't know how to pot avocado seed maybe you could tell me of some one else who has the information."

Beg Your Pardon.

Our apologies to Brother Luke Clement, F. S. C., to whom we mistakenly referred as Father Clement in a recent item. The congregation to which he belongs is a teaching order, the members of which are not priests nor do they strive to become such. Their lives are dedicated to teaching boys, and before America entered the war they were more than 18,000 strong, teaching in 1,326 schools in every country of the world. Some of the brothers are now Japanese prisoners in Manila.

INSTALMENT I.

In each generation, and everywhere, they are always a few persons to whom public circumstances are important, not only as they touch them personally, in their individual lives and fortunes, but as they affect the whole character of their time, and the hopes and destinies of mankind at large.

Such persons are not common; there are women among them as well as men. One knows them by a certain preoccupied look—sometimes a haunted look, almost—and by their speech; of which they are likely to be sparing; when they do speak, it is slowly and with restraint; they are never voluble or violent.

James Milcom, shaving gloomily in his emergency bedroom in the telephone company's building in Madrid, during the second winter of the Spanish Civil war, after a night noisy with artillery fire, was a very good example of this type of person. He was a journalist, and represented that mighty daily, the Epoch, in republican Spain—a job he did admirably, as he did most things to which he set his hand.

Foreign assignments had been his specialty for some years past. He had been in Italy and in Germany for long periods since 1932—but here in republican Spain his work lay where his heart was. He wrote at all times like an angel, but in his long, thoughtful, well-considered articles from Madrid a hidden passion flowered sometimes into passages almost lyrical in their intensity.

As he ran his razor over his lean angular jaw with the two deep lines running down from the nostrils, around the wide, close-lipped mouth to the cleft chin, he stared at the lathered reflection of his big, ugly, intelligent face with a sort of ferocious desperation from under his jutting black eyebrows.

The gray eyes under the great corrugated forehead were so brilliant and set so deep that they looked penetrating even when he was sleepy, and passionate when he was tranquil. But in face he was seldom either sleepy or tranquil—he was much more often passionate, burning with a fierce intellectual flame about something; passionately finding out, passionately endeavoring, passionately admiring or condemning.

It was that passion which gave him the look of desperation, and sometimes of gloom—the look that had made the Spaniards nickname him "El Melancolico." It was also what made him an unusually good—if difficult and individual—journalist.

His thoughts as he shaved were as gloomy as his face. He liked the Spaniards as a people enormously, and hated to see them subject themselves to the worst of all evils that can befall a nation, civil war. But even more, he hated and feared the implications which he recognized in this particular civil war. He saw in it the first open threat to humanity at large of that new theory of tyranny, the tyranny of ideas which he had watched with dismayed repugnance developing, first in Italy and then in Germany, during his years in Rome and Berlin.

Nothing so madly unreal as this theoretical lunacy had ever before thrown down solid useful buildings and sent healthy, laughing, lusting men, with work to do, to their profitless death. He fastened his collar and tie, drew on his jacket, stuffed passport, papers, pocketbook, notebook, pipe, and tobacco into his pocket, and pulling on his overcoat, grabbed up his hat and left the room.

It was still early, barely light, when he emerged into the street.

Altho he had a car, he used it mostly for longer expeditions, outside the city. Fires and bursting shells seen from the eighth floor passage window during the night had given him a rough idea of where the main damage was to be expected, out in the direction of the University City, and toward that he made his way, walking fast.

Here and there queues were beginning to form outside the shops—thin lines of women, mostly bareheaded, but a few with shawls drawn over their heads against the cold, bags and baskets on their arms, standing patiently; in the harsh gray light they looked like exhausted ghosts.

He came after a time to the area of damage. In several streets of medium sized houses, and around a square, there had been a lot knocked down. Heaps of rubble lay where houses had stood. A church had had the end blown off and then had burned out, the gray sky looked in thru the charred and still smoldering rafters of the fallen roof upon the blackened ruins of the altar. He made a few notes, and started to walk around to the far side of the church.

There were few people about as yet, altho some of the usual fuel-scavengers were out already. Up by the chancel he passed close to one of them, a woman, prowling among the wreckage, gathering wood for firing. This was a common enough sight in Madrid that winter, desolatingly common. She was tugging at a piece of wood that was stuck under a block of masonry, and Milcom noticed as he passed that the hand thrust out from under the shabby black shawl was surprisingly white and shapely; with one of his habitual impulses he went over, grasped the piece of timber, wrenched it loose and pulled it out.

"There you are, señora," he said in Spanish, and made to go on.

To his immense surprise he was answered in English—"Thank you so very much; that is very kind of you."

It was very good, very pretty English, but it was not an English woman's. He turned and stared at the woman with genuine curiosity. She put back her shawl, and he found himself looking into the most beautiful face that he had ever seen.

"De nada," he said. "How did you know I was English?"

"O, not your Spanish," said the woman, swiftly—"but your looks; and I saw you writing. You are a journalist, no?"

James said that he was.

She looked full at him. Her eyes were clear and gray, and she had reddish-bronze hair and dark brows, very unusual and very beautiful.

"I see that you are kind," she said hurriedly, "or you would not have helped me. It is milk, tinned milk, that I want so much. I have a little child"—her voice stopped. "It is so hard to get, and she is getting so thin. Even one or two tins—it is easier for foreigners. I know it is a lot to ask," she added deprecatingly.

Milcom's English defensive mechanism caused him to say, almost automatically——

"Could not you get that from the Quakers—or the relief people?"

She continued to look at him steadily.

"That is not easy for me," she answered. "I am a White."

"Surely they pay no attention to that," he said faintly irritated by his embarrassment, or persistence, or something.

"They, no—Los Quaqueros are quite impartial," she said, with a sort of judicial calm which struck him. "But others are not. It is—it is not a very good plan for us to be seen too much in the queues."

A White—what was she doing here, anyway? And her beauty, and those lovely hands. Curiosity and compassion got the better of Milcom's negativism.

"Come and show me where you live," he said—"and I will see what I can do."

He picked up the piece of wood which he had pulled out for her. Hastily she gathered up some other fragments which she had collected. Milcom took these, too, and they set off thru the ruined streets, under the gray harsh sky. He eyed her as they went. She walked beautifully, with a light rapid graceful step. She was an aristocrat, obviously—got caught here somehow, he supposed. There were a few Whites in Madrid living "under supervision, and on the whole they had a pretty thin time of it.

"How do you speak English so well?" he said, asking the first question that came into his head.

"My grandmother was Scottish."

"Indeed! And have you been in Scotland?"

"Twice I was there," she said—and a little smile, the amused smile of a very sophisticated person at an entertaining recollection played for a moment over her face. "We shot grouse, walking for miles in rows, and killed salmon, sitting in boats. And always it rained."

"It generally does," said Milcom, whom this faithful description of Scottish country-house life caused to smile, too. "Have you had breakfast?" he asked abruptly, as they passed a small café.

"No, not yet."

"Nor have I. Let's come in here and have some."

The drab little restaurant was practically empty at that hour. It was not warm, even in there, but it was warmer than outside. The woman took off her shawl before they sat down at one of the small bare tables, and for the first time Milcom got a thoro look at her. She was tall and very slight, with a long slender neck rising finely from rather too narrow shoulders. Her hips were narrow, too, so that when she stood without her shawl the whole effect was that of an arrow or a wand. Her face was long and pale, with a high-bridged delicate nose—the vigorous modeling of the cheek bones and eye sockets, and the very high square forehead gave it a Gothic look, like a medieval statue on the front of a cathedral.

She was, undeniably, fantastically beautiful. Her face was vaguely familiar to Milcom. As they began to eat the small hard rolls of white bread—thruout the Civil war bread remained white in Madrid—and to drink the milkless, sugarless coffee which a shabby woman set before them, he wondered where he could have seen her before.

CONCLUSION.
HOMEWARD BOUND.

The storm was over.

The news of the death of Lord Festone had been its first flash of lightning—the word that he had been murdered, its first clap of thunder.

Thruout the past eight days of investigation the flashes and the thunderclaps had followed in blinding and noisy succession until the storm reached a deafening crescendo in Elaine's billingsgate confession and in Sir James' rumbled protests that she couldn't have done it—that this was all the result of the machinations of the Mexican government to take further revenge upon him.

"Poor Sir James!" Philip murmured. "Even now he can't believe how much she hated him. He wants to take the burden of blame himself. And yet Morelos tells me he feared he couldn't catch her in his trap before she'd attempt to take her husband's life."

They had taken Sir James, so haggard and distraught that his great bulk seemed to have worn away, from the police headquarters back to his home on Emiliano Zapata avenue. They had understood when he had said bluntly that he didn't want them to accompany him into the house.

It was just as well. There were so many words to say—so little voice to say them. Sir James bade them a feeble good-by. Juliet, tears streaming down her cheeks, reached up impulsively and kissed him on one of those trembling St. Bernard jowls. Philip clasped his hand.

Then they left him—to attend to last details of Sharon's funeral and to make plane reservations—for two—to New York City.

Juliet had wired the family to meet her, and her fiancé, at the airport. She knew what excitement that would create in her Brooklyn home!

Now, for the last time, they were speeding northward, over the 50 mile stretch to the Mexico City airport.

"You know," said Juliet, snuggling closer, "I can't understand why Sir James let Elaine talk in the first place without a lawyer—let her incriminate herself from the beginning."

"That was because he had no idea she was guilty. He told me he just wanted to give her a good scare so she'd never get into such a mess again. Actually he was sure you were guilty," Philip said.

"And I thought he was!" Juliet said.

"Well, Morelos tells me we all gave him a bad time of it at first—lying, hiding things, and confusing him."

"Yes, I suppose we did. I'd still like to know why Maria was so anxious to keep Elaine from knowing about the baby," said Juliet.

"Because Elaine was the only one who cared enough for Harold to believe him if he said the child wasn't his. She'd have made it her business to find out whose it was—and the blackmail would have been uncovered. Even during the week when she mulled over Harold's love letter to Sharon, she never dreamed that the baby was Maria's. Well, darling——"

He put his arm about her and drew her close to him.

"Let's put all of these unpleasant things behind us. Forget them. Shall we? We've so much, now, to look forward to, together."

He smiled down at her as Juliet assented.

THE END.

No, don't throw out that leftover breakfast coffee! Pour it into the ice cube tray and freeze it for the iced coffee you may want tonight or tomorrow. We can't be wasting coffee these days!

Leftover coffee also can be used in many kinds of desserts and puddings. But leftover coffee just shouldn't happen, in most cases. It isn't particularly good reheated for a later meal, and it isn't always practical to be having to think up uses for it. A coffee maker which will make exactly as much coffee as your family requires for one meal is the solution to the problem.

While I'm on the subject of coffee, I'd better retract a little statement I made on the subject a few columns ago. I said, in warning against coffee hoarding, that "coffee loses flavor and aroma even in a vacuum sealed can." Those last six words made all the coffee packers very angry at me. They have proved, to my satisfaction, that coffee will keep fresh for years in a vacuum can, so I hereby take back them-there harsh words and hope the coffee people will like me again!

Many tea fanciers are turning to herb teas now that there's a shortage of their favorite orange pekoe and green teas. Some families are drying garden herbs to make fragrant and pungent beverages. Fresh herbs, such as mint, may be used to make pleasing, old-fashioned herb teas, too. Steep fresh herbs in hot water for 15 minutes, dried ones for as long as half an hour.

You can stretch your black or green tea by adding herbs. Use less of the tea, not more than ½ teaspoonful to the cup, when you use herbs, too. A sprig or a few leaves of whatever herb you choose should be sufficient flavor for a pot of tea. Use more if the herb is the tea.

Lime juice is wonderful on melon, and in limeades, garnished with mint. It's also elegant on avocado, with buttered green beans out of your garden, on cooked beets, or carrots. With the beets or carrots, add a pinch of sugar, too. It will hardly put a strain upon your ration! Here's how to make a good lime sherbet.

Lime Sherbet.
[Serves five.]

1⅓ teaspoons plain gelatin
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons sugar
¾ cup corn sirup
6 tablespoons lime juice
⅛ teaspoon salt

Soften gelatin in half the cold milk. Dissolve in the top of a double boiler over boiling water. Add the remaining milk. Mix sugar, corn sirup, lime juice, and salt, and add slowly to milk mixture, stirring constantly. Pour into freezing tray and freeze at coldest temperature, stirring several times during freezing.

Most women know and ask for only a few cuts of meat. They ignore the multitudinous less demanded, therefore less expensive, cuts of meat, and complain that meat takes a disproportionate amount of money out of the food budget. It needn't, and to prove it I'll send our list of inexpensive meat cuts to any reader who will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. This list is a big menu help, many women find, for it inspires them to put variety as well as economy into the meat choice.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Beef and Dressing Pie.
[Serves four or five.]

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon parsley
1 tablespoon butter
2½ cups day old bread crumbs
⅛ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon salt
Soup stock or water
Bacon, 3 or 4 strips

Season meat with the 1½ teaspoons salt and the ¼ teaspoon pepper. Press into 8 inch pie pan, leaving enough standing over edge to give crust effect. Cook celery, onion, and parsley in butter for 2 or 3 minutes. Add bread crumbs, celery seed, and salt, and enough soup stock or water [about ½ cup] to moisten well. Fill pie pan with this mixture. Fold meat over dressing around edge. Cover with strips of uncooked bacon and bake in a moderate [350 degree] oven until meat is done and bacon crisp, from 45 minutes to 1 hour.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Some Daily Good.

A white-haired white collar girl walked along Randolph street Sunday after church, the words of the hymn running thru her head: "Some daily good to do."

Some daily good to do. What could she do . . . what good thing? Ambling aimlessly along the sidewalk was a young gob. Not more than 19 or 20, she decided. "Have you had your dinner?" she asked. Nope. "Like to have dinner with me?" He sure would. A bit farther along Randolph they found another young sailor. Would he care to join them? Aye! aye!

So the trio of new made friends went to a loop restaurant where the order was a "steak thick enough for two hungry men." And it was thick. Then the problem arose: Who should carve? Well, one was a "family man"—he'd been married three weeks. He carved; and the steak was finally polished off. Dinner took from noon to 3:30, with letters now interchanged between the boys' parents and the white collar girl, who heartily recommends this answer to the question: "Some daily good to do . . . but what?"

What to Do?

First it was socks . . . then hairbows. Now another problem confronts the white collar girls.

"What is one actually supposed to do with all the pins that are accumulating?" writes Sylvia S. "I have: Volunteer Nurses' Aide, Red Cross Service, First Aid, USO, 'I Gave,' and '10% Out of My Pay' pins, plus a pair of silver wings. I put them all on a tailored suit the other night and the effect was alarming. I almost saluted myself."

Telephone Manners.

Eileen Garvin, operator for Illinois Bell, wrote the boss some suggestions for wartime telephone manners. She recommends that subscribers bear in mind:

1. Be sure of the number, be ready to give it, and speak clearly and distinctly to insure getting the right number and saving time.
2. On party lines it is not necessary to flash the operator to tell her to cancel a call, or that the line is busy, or that the party doesn't answer.
3. Hang up immediately on the busy signal and release the cords for another call.
4. It slows up service when the customer flashes and asks the operator if she is ringing the right number.
5. Go easy on calls—and do cut them short—thereby releasing equipment for other calls.
6. Look up the number in the directory instead of asking Information.
7. Please—this is no time for practical jokes such as "Canal 123 jump" or "This is Hitler."

Dressing for Sleep.

Dan, the Pajama Man, writes: "Granting women their advance in business, what can they do about this? A WPB investigation reveals 85 per cent of adult males wear nightshirts, some makeshift garment . . . or just nothing. Six per cent of men with an income under $2,000 a year wear pajamas . . . 9 per cent earning over that figure wear them. The WPB was told that 'only six-tenths of a person went to bed decently dressed'."

Smart to Buy Furs in August, Shoppers Told

BY REA SEEGER.

Fur coat shopping during dog days sounds to some of our masculine critics like a contrary and capricious female idea. It's anything except that. It's not such a dumb idea to luxuriate in the coolest haunts in town while you carefully select or order your next winter's fur coat, no matter what the disgusted gentlemen say. Two or three hours spent in the glacial atmosphere of the fur departments, or the fur sections of either store or shop, is delightfully easy to take, plus a lot of new fashions in furs!

This year you'll buy furs without worrying about the frowns or thumbs down restrictions of the priority dictators, and everything you see has passed all kinds of tests and rules. You'll not see extravagantly deep foldover hems in the linings nor will you see any wool linings, but you'll see the most beautiful collections ever displayed. Added to all that, there are, of course, the special August prices on the models ready to wear as well as the fur coats you order made to fulfill some special ideas or designs of your own.

When you shop for furs, the wisest decision is to shop with recognized reputable furriers. Then you will be assured of the finest pelts, expert workmanship, the newest ideas in design, and blending of skins, and all the clever new details incorporated in shoulder lines, silhouette, sleeves, pockets, collars, and decorative trim.

Silky black Persian lamb still leads the preference list as the ideal all purpose coat. . . . Mink is still the tops in opulent beauty and flattery. Brown in all colors is high fashion, tuxedo collars give that long slender streamline, and the straight, boxy coat is the first choice of the majority of shoppers.

Knee length swaggers, three-quarter and seven-eight lengths offer a good choice, depending upon the figure lines. Small, snug collars, wide easy to slide into sleeves, softened outlines to cuffs, pockets, and collars all combine to make these 1942-1943 coats the most important buy for any sum you decide to spend.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

In selecting the opening lead, it sometimes is possible to make a choice that has two distinct chances for success as against another that has only one. West overlooked that point in selecting the lead in the following deal and, as a result, cost himself and partner several match-points.

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

	NORTH
	♠ K 7 5 3 2
	♥ J 8 6
	♦ 9 4
	♣ A J 6
WEST		EAST
♠ 9 6		♠ A
♥ A 10 5 2		♥ 9 4 3
♦ A 7 3		♦ Q J 10 5 2
♣ K 9 3 2		♣ Q 10 8 4
	SOUTH
	♠ Q J 10 8 4
	♥ K Q 7
	♦ K 8 6
	♣ 7 5

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 diamonds	2 spades	Pass	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	Pass	3 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

Obviously, West's opening bid was pretty weak. In fact, it would have been indefensible except as a third, or possibly fourth, hand bid at match-point duplicate.

It was tempting for North to raise the spades immediately, but he rightly concluded that South already had counted on him for some high cards.

East did not like to sell out to a low spade contract, hence his three club "stretch." As the cards lay, and with a good guess for the club jack, East-West could have gone even farther with their club bidding, but they hardly could count on such favorable breaks.

West, oblivious to every thought except that his partner had responded with two diamonds, made the fatal opening lead of the diamond ace. After that nothing could defeat declarer. In all, he lost one spade, one heart, one diamond, and one club.

The choice of the opening lead had been far from logical. East had not bid diamonds alone; he also had bid clubs. From West's point of view, a club opening should have been just twice as safe as a diamond opening. The diamond opening would be proper only if East had specifically the diamond king, whereas the club opening would be quite safe and constructive if East had either the ace or queen.

Surely a consideration of this type is not "over the head" of any player. As may be seen, a club opening or, for that matter, any opening except a diamond, would have resulted in declarer's losing two diamond tricks instead of one, and with them his contract.

The First Line of Defense Is Nation's Home

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

That we may be united as a nation in caring for our children in wartime, those in our government whose special and deep interest is the welfare of the children of America drew up in March, 1942, what they called a Children's Charter in Wartime. Doctors, nutritionists, social workers, and educators participated in the commission which formulated this document. Its opening words are:

"We are in total war against the aggressor nations. We are fighting again for human freedom and especially for the future of our children in a free world.

"Children must be safeguarded, and they can be safeguarded, in the midst of this total war so that they can live and share in that future. They must be nourished, sheltered, and protected even in the stress of war production, so that they will be strong to carry forward a just and lasting peace.

"Both as a wartime responsibility and as stepping stones to our future, and to theirs, we call upon citizens, young and old, to join together to guard children from injury in danger zones; protect children from neglect, exploitation, and undue strain in defense areas; strengthen the home life of children whose parents are mobilized for war or war production; conserve, equip, and free children of every race and creed to take their part in democracy."

[A copy of the full text of a Children's Charter in Wartime may be obtained by writing to the children's bureau, United States department of labor, Washington, D. C.]

But parents need more than this general reassurance as to the welfare of their children. They know that the first line of defense is the home! As armies march, planes fly, ships sail, and factories hum with the tremendous effort of total war, the security, the protection, and the morale of the families at home are fundamental to our success.

When war was declared parents all over the United States had the same immediate reaction. Thru their minds flashed the images of their children, wherever they were and whatever they were doing, with the accompanying thoughts: Are they safe? What must we do to protect them? How can we help them thru the war days to come?

Two principal suggestions to parents are the result of real agreement in all the answers made to this question. They are, perhaps, disappointing in their undramatic firmness, but they both require a great deal of thought and effort.

1. Prepare yourselves to face whatever may come.
2. Help your children to continue living their everyday lives with as little change as possible.

Thru the Looking Glass

As the summer progresses and those who go in for a tan acquire deeper and more beautiful coats, there's a place in any beauty column for news about a deep, almost a plum-red lipstick.

It's new and it's quite a lovely shade, very similar to that of the luscious ripe red cherries we've had lately. It makes teeth look gloriously whiter by contrast and it's a dramatic color accent to the sun-kissed complexion. We found, too, that it adapts itself nicely to most costume color—it's a wow with pure white— and it keeps its deep low-keyed brilliance at night, when many other lipsticks of the deeper hues turn much too purple for chic.

This cherry-plum shade is a fashionable one, definitely good for the glamor girls. But the mature women ought not to overlook it. We have a strong feeling that the mature woman, especially if her hair is white or tinged with it, should use a lipstick shade more dark than light. Nine times out of ten the effect of a tint that verges on the deeper tones is far more softening than that of the strident, bright reds, and more characterful than the pale pinks so many white haired women feel they simply must wear. ALL-STAR GAME WAR DONATIONS SOAR TO $107,000

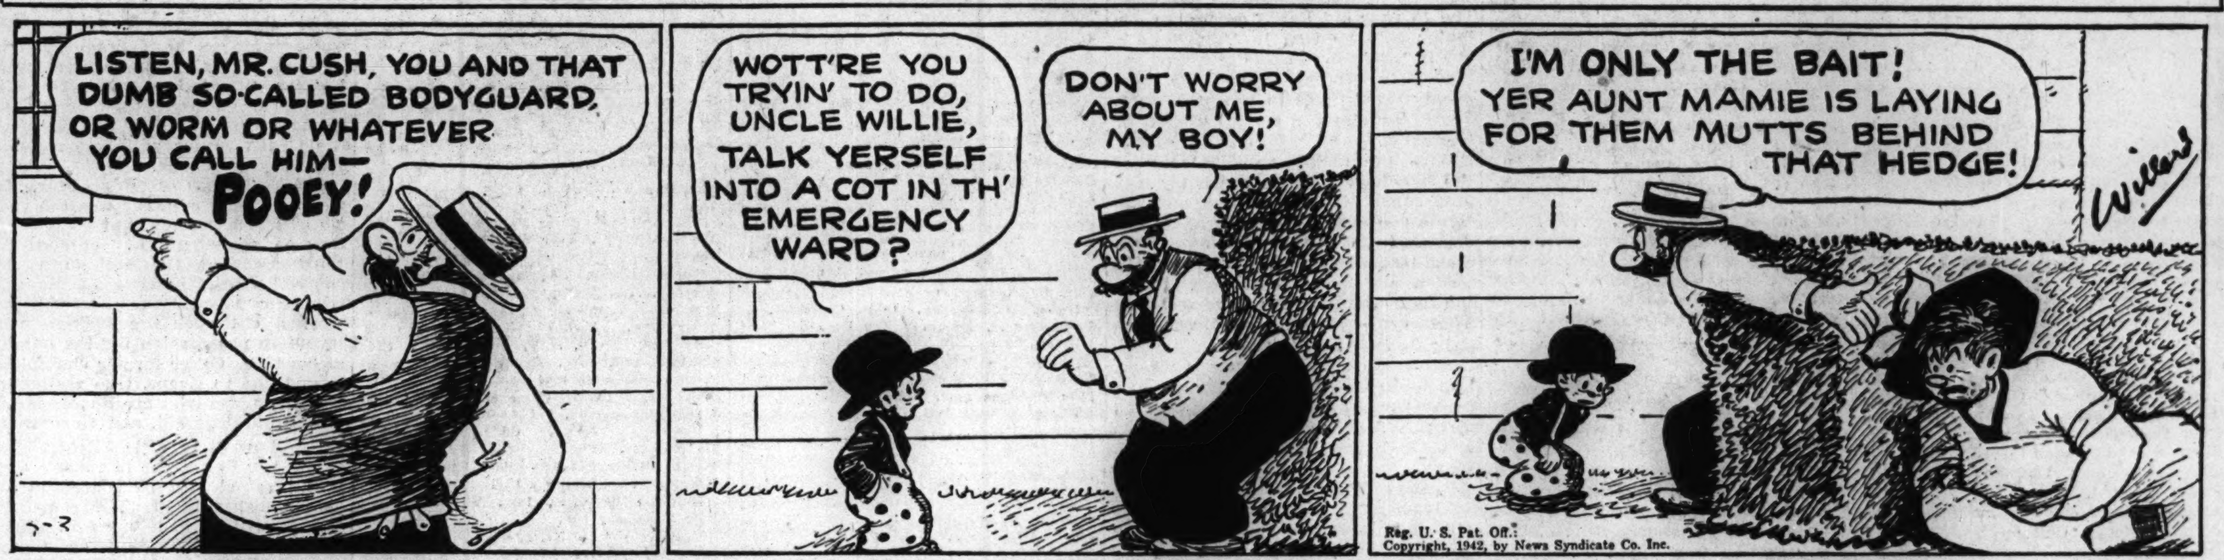
MOON MULLINS—DECOY



STAGG TO GIVE FRANCK TROPHY FOR 1941 PLAY

Collegians on Way to Drill for Bears.

Musicians!

COLLEGE musicians and former members of the All-Star band residing in the Chicago district are invited to participate in the ceremony between the halves of the College All-Stars-Chicago Bears game in Soldiers' field on Aug. 28. A limited number of senior high school musicians also will be accepted. Musicians should write G. Cliffe Bainum, band director, Fisk hall, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

BY ARCH WARD.

Contributions to the All-Star football game's Army Emergency Relief fund have mounted to $107,000.

The total revenue that will accrue to war charities from the game between the College All-Americans and Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28 will approximate $160,000. All profits of the event, which are expected to be about $50,000, will be divided equally between Navy Relief and Army Emergency Relief.

No other sports event in the United States has approached that figure in the war effort.

A Record Rush for Tickets.

Among the checks received since the last publication of the names of contributors to the Army Emergency Relief campaign were $500 from Mars, Inc., of Chicago, $400 from Goldblatt Brothers of Chicago, $400 from the Maynard Electrical Steel Casting company of Milwaukee and $400 from the Worden-Allen company of Milwaukee.

Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., sponsor of the game, will present a 50 yard line ticket for every $100 donated to the fund.

Applications for tickets at standard prices are setting new records for the All-Star game. Every $4.40 seat was sold four days after the announcement that mail orders would be accepted. Two weeks later the last of the $3.30 section was disposed of. There are only 2,000 seats left at $2.20. Thousands, however, are still available at $1.10.

Stagg to Present Trophy.

Among the famous sports personalities who will see the All-Star game for the first time will be Amos Alonzo Stagg, football coach at the College of the Pacific, who for more than 40 years led the gridiron forces at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Stagg is coming back to present a trophy to George Franck of Minnesota, who was inducted into the naval air corps at last year's All-Star game. Franck, by a vote of the working newspaper men, was adjudged the most valuable player on the 1941 All-Star squad. The presentation will be made in the center of Soldiers' field just before the kickoff.

He'll Sit with Zuppke.

After finishing his part in the ceremonies the 80 year old football leader will retire to the All-Stars' bench where he will watch the game at the side of his 63 year old conference rival from Illinois, Bob Zuppke, head coach of the collegians.

The All-Star squad, which will begin training at Northwestern university Saturday, already is on the move. Vic Lindskog, Stanford center, left Palo Alto last Wednesday. He is stopping off at Portland, Ore., and St. Paul en route to visit relatives. Merle Hapes, Mississippi back, will leave Garden City, Cal., by motor today. Jack Jacobs, Indian half back from Oklahoma, will head for Chicago tomorrow.

He's on College All-Star Program

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Washington Park will open its 31 day meeting this afternoon with a program featured by the return of Alsab to competition. After nearly two months away from the races, Mrs. Al Sabath's colt is scheduled to start in the $4,000 Lakeside Handicap, a seven furlong dash which drew a field of 17 in the overnight entries.

In the course of the first week, four stakes will be run, the Lakeside being followed by the $4,000 Flossmoor Handicap on Wednesday, the $4,000 Juvenile Stakes on Thursday, and the $7,500 Sheridan Handicap on Saturday.

Futurity to Be Aug. 15.

The most important events of the meeting, which will run thru Labor day, will be the Washington Park Futurity on Aug. 15, the American Derby on Aug. 29, and the Washington Park Handicap on Labor day, Sept. 7.

Alsab today will be starting a comeback campaign after Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out has taken a commanding advantage in the struggle for the 3 year old championship. Trainer Sarge Swenke has chosen this sprint event as the first step in getting the colt back to running the mile and a quarter against fast competition.

Gradually Brought Back.

In winning the Preakness and the Withers, Alsab gave indications of returning to his invincible form of 1941. Then came his defeat by Shut Out in the Belmont Stakes and immediately thereafter it was discovered that the colt was handicapped by a blind splint. After a firing operation to remedy this, Alsab was given a rest and was gradually brought back to regular training. Now his handlers

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE sports editor of one of New York's most widely unread newspapers was a "guest" at the Arlington Classic and sent the following gracious remarks: "Chicago is the place that became a popular song in the twittering '20s and lived that decade out by staging some of the greatest gang murders and funerals of all time. It's the town where a swarthy golfer was asked to rack up his clubs and check in with the police before he stroked another putt or fondled another tommy gun. That was Machine Gun Jack McGurn, who drew the black spot on Valentine's day when seven were left at the post in a loop garage in a Classic of another color. Chicago, too, is where Judge K. M. Landis lives and breathes fire at organized baseball while he shakes his silver mane and waves his big stick. Chicago is the Windy City, and more so this week-end with a carload of New York sports writers here for the classic Classic. Chicago does everything better than any one else, to hear Chicago tell it, but the loop adjective slingers can't explain why Arcaro and James and other crack riders from the New York tracks were here to handle the mounts in the richest race of them all." . . . And so on. . . . The gent seems bitter. . . . Somebody must have waited for him to pick up a tab. . . .

Lou Novikoff, who carries a lunch box on Pullman trips, is said to be the first such economist in the majors to follow the practice since John Anderson of the long ago White Sox subsisted on a trip from Boston to St. Louis on a dozen bananas. . . . The first 12 holes of Lawson Little's last round in the Tam o' Shanter Open was one of the finest jobs in modern golf. . . . In that brief stretch Little picked up eight strokes on Byron Nelson, the 54 hole leader and ultimate winner of the tournament. . . . Of the nine backs who carried the ball for Northwestern last fall only four will report for duty next month. . . . They are Otto Graham, Don Buffire, and Dud Kean, half backs, and Ed Hirsch, full back. . . . All were sophomores in 1941. . . . President Ford Frick of the National league admits he is stumped on a system of direct control of the bean ball problem and invites suggestions. . . . Here's a chance for all those thinkeruppers of big sports reforms who heretofore have had troubles getting an audience. . . . Method in Madness.

One draftee ran around the camp all day,
Picking up bits of paper by the score;
He'd look at each and then throw it away,
Saying: "That's not the one I'm looking for."
The colonel thought the fellow must be mad
And had the army grant him a release;
"His mind," he said, "is muddled pretty bad,
And he'd be dropped even in time of peace."

And so the colonel asked for his discharge,
That little paper that would make him free
To roam across the continent at large
And live his life calm and contentedly;
He grabbed the paper, looked at it and fled;
"This is what I've been looking for," he said.

And the answer he gloomily made me
Was certainly mournful enough.

"How can I get a date?" he asked,

Was going just a bit too far";
So, now, it would seem, it's the other foot

HARRISON AND HARBERT TIE FOR ST. PAUL TITLE

Each Shoots 280; Hold Play-off Today.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 2 (AP).—Dutch Harrison, the Arkansas traveler, moseyed in from nowhere today with a great pressure-filled round of 69 to tie youthful Chick Harbert at 280 for first place in the $5,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament.

The pair will enter an 18 hole play-off tomorrow for the championship starting at 2:30 p. m. [CWT]. The winner will get $1,000 and the runner-up pockets $750.

Harrison, playing out of Harrisburg, Pa., worked as slowly and steadily as his drawl in coming from behind to overtake the 27 year old Harbert from Battle Creek, Mich.

Harbert Leads at 54 Holes.

Harbert sizzled around the Keller public links in four under par this morning to lead the field at the 54 hole stage, but he required 71 on the final lap as Harrison, after shooting a 73, closed the gap with his 69. Each was eight under par for the distance.

Jimmy Hines, the veteran campaigner from Great Neck, N. Y., rounded up a 70 on the par 36—36—72 layout during the last round, missing a tie by one stroke with 281. He failed to drop a six foot putt on the last green which would have placed him in the play-off.

Also crammed into the photo finish was Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., who won the tournament in 1934 after a play-off and repeated in 1938. His 70 on the last round gave him 282.

Kunes, Dodson Do Fadeouts.

There were two fade-outs. Gene Kunes of Philadelphia, the 36 hole leader with rounds of 68 and 69, took a pair of 73s to finish well in the money with 283. Len Dodson, Kansas City, Mo., pro, had a 70 this morning and was tied with Kunes at 210 for second position behind Harbert at the end of 54 holes. He blew to a 78.

Kunes wad headed for another great round until he strung out three bogies in a row and failed to catch his balance thereafter.

Jimmy Thomson of Del Monte, Cal., was forced to withdraw from the tournament after being struck by a ball.

CLAUDE NEEDS WARNEKE'S AID IN 7 TO 6 BATTLE

Olsen Loses 1st, 5-4; Novikoff Hits Hard.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Claude Passeau, who is better than one-third the Cub pitching staff, on the accomplishment basis, this afternoon rang up his 15th victory of the season when the Cubs finally got around to beating the Dodgers, 7 to 6, in the second game of a double header after they had lost in 10 innings, 5 to 4. Claude's victory was something short of glamorous, however, for he couldn't hold a 7 to 3 lead going into the latter half of the ninth and Lon Warneke was barely able to save the decision for him.

Claude Passeau.

Until Passeau blew up in the final inning it appeared that Lou Novikoff's big bat had afforded him success. In the first inning Lou knocked a double off the center field wall to score Bill Nicholson from first base and in the fifth he broke a 2-all tie by smashing a homer with Charley Gilbert on base.

Cavarretta's Double Decisive.

With the Cubs leading, 4 to 3, at the end of the eighth, Novikoff, who had warmed up with three singles in the first game, was the big offensive shot, almost en solo. But it developed that honors were to be shared by Phil Cavarretta, who drove home two runs with two out in the ninth and scored the winning run himself on a single by Lou Stringer.

The Dodgers' startling threat in the ninth inning of the second game started with a double by Bill Herman. Then followed singles by Peewee Reese and Augie Galan off Passeau. Warneke went in and Lew Riggs singled. Warneke steadied and the game ended with the tying run on first.

In the first game the Cubs had the great pleasure of knocking out their old buddy, Larry French, with three tying runs in the eighth inning, but their joy faded after Lawrence went away, with runners on third and first and the score at 4 to 4. The Dodgers won in the tenth on Peewee Reese's triple off Vern Olsen and Pete Reiser's fly to Cavarretta.

Cubs Drop to Sixth Place.

The Cubs' salvaged triumph in the second game in which they had the pleasure of knocking out Kirby Higbe, another old pal, gave them their fourth favorable decision in 19 games with the pace setters, but did not keep them from plunking into sixth place, the Pirates winning two from the Phils.

The double header, conducted before 27,698, closed the eastern phase of the Cubs' current road trip with a record of four victories and nine defeats.

In the first game this afternoon, French and Bill Lee, long great pals and roomies on the Cubs, lasted into the eighth. Bill went out for a pinch batter in the same inning that brought about Larry's departure. The Cubs made 13 hits off French, but could add only one after he departed, a wasted double off Max Macon by Cylde McCullough with one out in the Chicago 10th.

Jimmy Foxx, restored to the lineup after an absence of several days, led the Cubs' first game attack with two singles and a double to drive in the first two Chicago runs and score the third. Novikoff was runner-up with three singles and a walk.

The Cubs were trailing, only 2 to 1, when the champions loaded the bases in the seventh on Arky

ALTICE IS VICTOR OVER GUNLOCK IN SHOTGUN EVENT

Wins Shoot-off in Ducks Unlimited Firing.

BY BEN MARKLAND.

Harry Altice and Virgil Gunlock, members of the Lincoln Park Gun club and duck shooting companions, had a series of shotgun tests against each other and against a field of Chicagoland's best skeet and trap shots yesterday in the Ducks Unlimited shoot at their home club, and when the floodlights were turned off and the last clay targets had dropped into Lake Michigan, Altice went home with the top trophy of the day.

Each Breaks 98 Targets.

The stage for the Altice-Gunlock final round was set when the two men each scored 98 in the regular events, Altice hitting 49 in trap and 49 in skeet, and Gunlock scoring 50 in skeet and 48 in trap. To determine high gun the men took the field for 50 more targets divided between the skeet and trap fields, and Altice broke all 50 birds while Gunlock fell to 22 on the trap range and missed one bird on the skeet field for a shoot-off mark of 46.

The women's trap event was just as close as the Altice-Gunlock duel, with Miss Loretta Kemp of the Lincoln Park club defeating Mrs. Robert Guthrie of the South Shore Country club in a 100 target match made necessary when both were even at the 50 and 75 bird marks. Both hit 45 birds in their first tests, and went to the 16 yard marks to settle the deadlock. When the second heat was scored both had hit 20 of their 25 birds, but in a third test, Miss Kemp missed only one bird while Mrs. Guthrie lost five.

Joe Kroeck Wins Shootoff.

Joe Kroeck of the home club won the regular skeet event in a five-man shootoff made necessary by five perfect scores. The other four perfects were tallied by Gunlock, C. A. Tilt, president of the Lincoln Park club; M. R. Randolph of the Chicagoland Gun club, and Bill Clark of the Northwest Gun club. Kroeck hit all his birds in the shootoff, Gunlock and Tilt hit 24 each, Randolph tallied 21, and Clark defaulted.

Altice's 49 was high gun in the senior trap, followed by Dr. J. W. Stanton with 48, Milton Rudolph and Larry Korsen with 47, and Chris Stoelting and Miss Kemp with 45 each. Summaries [Lewis class scoring]:

SENIOR SKEET—Joe Kroeck, high gun, 50; Virgil Gunlock, class 1, 50; G. L. Tallman, class 2, 49; L. S. Korsen, class 3, 46; William O'Donnell, class 4, 43.

SPECIAL SKEET—Joe Kroeck, high gun, 50; Harry Altice, Virgil Gunlock, H. G. Heins, all 49. [In shootoff, Gunlock 25-20, Altice 25-18, Heins defaulted.]

NOVICE SKEET—Hugh Riddle, high gun, 39; M. O. Smith, class 1, 39; M. F. Lloyd, class 2, 34.

SENIOR TRAP—Harry Altice, high gun, 49; Dr. J. W. Stanton, class 1, 48; Milton Rudolph, class 2, 47; Larry Korsen, class 3, 47; Chris Stoelting, class 4, 45; Miss Loretta Kemp, class 5, 45.

SPECIAL TRAP—Milton Rudolph, high gun, 50; Harry Altice, class 1, 49; Dr. J. W. Stanton, class 2, 48; Peter Homacher, class 3, 48.

NOVICE TRAP—Elmer Johnson, high gun, 43; Fritz Prigg, class 1, 42; Mrs. George Barkhausen, class 2, 37; Mrs. William Barkhausen, class 3, 34; C. M. Myers, class 4, 29.

Bill Petersen Faces Eagle at Marigold

Charley Eagle, the lean light heavyweight of Waterbury, Conn., who upset Altus Allen in an earlier appearance on July 20, will oppose the onrushing Bill Petersen in a 10 round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. It is probable that Eagle may score his second Chicago victory at the expense of the Indiana Harbor heavyweight, but it would not surprise if Petersen scored a knockout. This would give Bill his eighth consecutive triumph and his sixth by a knockout.

If Petersen wins, it will be his 19th success in 24 starts since opening his professional campaign in 1940. He has floored 12 opponents for the count, one of them twice. Of his other contests he fought one draw and lost four. Two of those setbacks were knockouts inflicted by Allen and Mickey Hayes, the latter embarrassment in 1940 and the one by Allen last year.

Eagle gave a fine boxing exhibition in beating Allen.

Tito Taylor, aggressive south side welterweight, will test Mike Sopko, also of Indiana Harbor, in a four round supporting match. Sopko, who has won 11 decisions in 18 appearances, will be making his first encounter since losing to Lou Woods in the Coliseum on April 24. Al Walker and Bill Jordan, south side junior welterweight rivals, will clash in a rubber contest of five rounds. A six round event will bring together Ramey McKnight, Milwaukee welterweight, and Joe Dupont. In addition there will be a four round opener between Walter Schramm, East Chicago heavyweight, and Al Jordan of Kansas City, Mo.

Walter Palmer, north side heavyweight wrestler, will face Charles [Gorilla] Grubmyer in a featured bout in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, this evening. Rudy Kay is paired with George Becker.

Rhapsody Captures Star Class Yacht Championship

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 2 (AP). — The Rhapsody, skippered by Roger Friskey of Wilmette, Ill., today won the 1942 Great Lakes Star class championship on lower Lake Huron. The Rhapsody, superbly handled, took the fourth and fifth races of the five race series this morning and afternoon to finish with 42 points. The Rhapsody won three firsts, a second, and third in the series. The Loch Lomond, another Chicago entry, was second and the Ripple, a Sarnia boat, was third.

Valiant Wins Yacht Race to Calumet Buoy

Valiant, C. J. Thiebeault's auxiliary cutter, won the Jackson Park Yacht club's Calumet gas buoy race yesterday with an elapsed time of 2:05:48 and corrected time of 2:04:56. Mrs. Edna L. Holbrook's Avalon was second, and Weldy Smith's entry, Vulcan, finished third. Light winds prevailed over the course, from Jackson Park harbor to the Calumet buoy and return.

H. T. Martin's Sea Puss won the Chicago Yacht club's race for 110 class sloops off Belmont harbor with an elapsed time of 1:43:20 for the six mile course. Hunt Schlagel was runner-up with his Scout in 1:46:54.

Bergman Wins with Glider.

Don Bergman, who sailed his Star sloop Fram to victory Saturday off Wilmette harbor, took command of another Sheridan Shore Yacht club Star, Glider, yesterday, and defeated four other boats. Glider is owned by the Bingham-Clay-Floyd syndicate. Its winning elapsed time for the six mile course was 1:42:02. Emerson Raymond's Dolphin was second in 1:42:05, and Robert Cossum's Pegasus third in 1:54:08.

Mrs. M. Van Arsdale won the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's third lady skippers' race of the season in the Arrow class, also off Wilmette harbor. Sailing her husband's boat, Vanity, with William Coveney as crew, Mrs. Van Arsdale led 13 boats around the six mile triangle. Her winning time was 1:27:45.

Skippy, the Wade-Lange syndicate sloop, won the Columbia Yacht club's Star boat race off Chicago harbor. The Hodeck-Parkss entry, Adara, was second, followed by Fran Byrne in his Cherokee.

Winners in the Chicago Corinthian Yacht club's third annual harbor regatta follow:

BIG BOAT SKIPPERS' RACE—Won by Dr. H. S. Bayless; Milton Stern Jr., second; Fred Lugge, third.

PIE PLATE DINGHY RACE—Won by William Wingard; Milton Stern Jr., second; James Creighton, third.

LINCOLN PARK BOAT CLUB CANOE RACE—Won by Lou Ruelius; Ed Johnson, second.

MENS' DINGHY ROWING RACE—Won by Charles Edwards; Dr. H. S. Bayless, second; F. Banka, third.

WOMENS' DINGHY ROWING RACE—Won by Betty Barnes; Mrs. Harry MacNeil, second; Elois Rawson, third.

Hummer Is Recovered.

Skippers and crews of the Jackson Park Yacht club's fleet of Star class sloops canceled their scheduled race yesterday to volunteer to raise Robert Brandebury's Star boat, Hummer, which was sunk in the Jackson park harbor Saturday in an accident. With the aid of two coast guardsmen, Carpenters' Mate A. J. Moriarty and Seaman E. C. Brinker, both former yachtsmen and now on duty at the Jackson park station, the 22 foot yacht was recovered. The hull was found sound, altho the rudder was missing and the mast was in pieces.

Congratulations!

RAY ELIOT, successor to Bob Zuppke as head coach at the University of Illinois, yesterday wired his congratulations to the veteran football strategist on his selection as head coach of the College All-Stars who will meet the Chicago Bears the night of Aug. 28 in Soldiers' field. His message: "Congratulations! No one could be more deserving. I will be pulling for your victory.—RAY ELIOT."

44 MATCHES ON JUNIOR AND BOYS NET CARD TODAY

Culver Academy Host to 14th Annual Tourney.

Culver, Ind., Aug. 2 [Special].—Led by top-seeded Edward [Budge] Patty of Hollywood, Cal., 109 of the country's best young players today awaited the start of the 14th National Junior and Boys' Tennis tournament, a fixture at Culver Military academy. The 18 year old Patty, defending the junior title he won in 1941, drew a bye in tomorrow's opening round, but thereafter will face one of the most evenly rated fields in recent history. Forty-four matches are scheduled for tomorrow.

With the announcement today of the seedings and pairings for the first round, it appeared that California contenders this year again will dominate the junior division. West coast players drew four of the eight seeded positions. Following Patty, the following favorites were selected: 2—Harry Likas Jr., San Francisco, Cal.; 3—Bob Falkenburg, Hollywood, Cal.; 4—Jack Tuero, New Orleans, La.; 5—Ted Norpoth, Houston, Tex.; 6—Arthur McDonald, San Gabriel, Tex.; 7—Jim Brink, Seattle, Wash., and 8—Bruce Daniels, Worcester, Mass.

Dark Horses from Chicago.

Tournament officials, however, are not infallible and there are many youngsters capable of upsetting the seedings. Among such possible dark horses is the quartet from the Chicago district, Howe Atwater, Larry Daly, Benny Migdow, and Jerry Evert. Richard Randall, Oak Park, and Marvin Beskin of the north side complete the Chicago representation. Randall had the misfortune of drawing Harry Likas as his opponent in a first round match. Likas holds an early season victory over Patty in the California championships.

Pairings for the first round include:

Howe Atwater, Wilmette, vs. Howard McCall, Atlanta, Ga.

Larry Daly, Evanston, vs. Ray Zohlen, Sheboygan, Wis.

Benny Migdow, Chicago, vs. Teddy Prior, West Palm Beach, Fla.

Jerry Evert, Chicago, vs. Dick Friedman, St. Louis, Mo.

Marvin Beskin, Chicago, vs. Andy Paton, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Bob Falkenburg, Hollywood, Cal., vs. Bill Friel, Portsmouth, O.

Jack Tuero, New Orleans, La., vs. William Johansen, Burlington, Ia.

Ted Norpoth, Houston, Tex., vs. Norman Appel, Cincinnati, O.

Art McDonald, San Gabriel, Tex., vs. Henri Salaun, a French refugee, entering from Boston, Mass.

Jim Brink, Seattle, Wash., vs. Toby Thomas, West Hartford, Conn.

Bruce Daniels, Worcester, Mass., vs. Wallace McDonald, Austin, Tex.

Ted Peterson, Milwaukee, vs. John Hayman, Louisville, Ky.

Robert Stuckert, Milwaukee, vs. Charles Oliver, Perth Amboy, N. J.

Bob David Fifth in Seeding.

Chicago's champion, Bob David, placed fifth in the seeding in the boys' division, a position several notches lower than was expected. On his season's record, young Bob is one of the hottest players in the tournament. Sammy Handel, Philadelphia, Pa., was given the No. 1 seed, followed by Wade Herren, Birmingham; Billy Smith, Orlando, Fla., and a pretourney favorite; Allan Watson, Short Hills, N. J.; Bernard Bartzen, San Angelo, Tex., completed the list.

David is expected to survive his first round match against Don Woolsey of Ventura, Cal., without much trouble, but Joey Weiss of Chicago drew Sam Handel, and a probable defeat. Charles Smeeth, Oak Park, also is a probable loser to Bob Ziervogel, St. Louis district champion, according to the form experts.

Stanley Drobac, Milwaukee, drew a first round bye.

Oak Park Is Beaten, 6-5, in Legion Final

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 2 (AP).—Rockford won the Illinois American Legion junior baseball championship today with a 13 inning, 6 to 5, victory over Oak Park.

It was the second straight for Rockford, which took yesterday's opener of a best two out of three game series, 18 to 17, with a six run last inning rally, and moved the winner into regional competition against champions from Missouri and Iowa.

Two of five errors committed by Oak Park figured in Rockford's winning run. Stan Peck, first man up in the 13th, was safe on an error and took second on Molander's single, both advancing a base when the Oak Park right fielder failed to field the ball cleanly. Gordon Johnson then grounded to First Baseman Bob Clark who elected to try for Peck at the plate, but Peck beat the throw.

Frank Wilkie led off with a triple in Oak Park's half of the 13th, but the next two men popped up and the third fouled to the catcher.

Oak Park had tied the score in the eighth when Bob Ciaramelli singled home Dawson and Kempner, who also singled. Catcher Frank Bagdon then took over the mound duties, relieving Jim Bagdonas, and shut out Oak Park the rest of the way.

Ray Wiedow, a left hander, hurled all the way for Oak Park and had one bad inning, the sixth, when Rockford scored four runs on three hits, two bases on balls and an error. Score:

Rockford ....001 004 000 000 1—6 14 2
Oak Park....000 010 220 000 0—5 13 5

Batteries—J. Bagdonas, Bagdon and Bagdon, Johnson; Wiedow and Kemper.

PARICHY GIRLS, RHEINGOLD AND PITTSBURGH WIN

Rheingold Girls defeated Match Corporation, 7 to 3, in Rand stadium; Pittsburgh scored a 4 to 3 triumph over Garden City in Shewbridge field, and Parichy whipped Des Moines, 6 to 0, in Girls' Major Softball league games last night.

On tonight's schedule, Rockola will play Garden City in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, and Parichy will play Rheingold in Rand stadium, 75th street and Euclid avenue. The games will start at 9 o'clock.

PLAY OPENS IN CITY AMATEUR TOURNEY TODAY

CDGA Closed Junior Meet Also Gets Under Way.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 38th annual City Amateur Golf tournament, oldest competition in the game in these parts, will begin today with an 18 hole qualifying round in Jackson park, original site of the event. Today also will witness the medal play examination for youthful contenders in the Chicago District Golf association's annual closed junior tournament at Medinah. The city meet will continue thru Saturday's 36 hole championship match, while the CDGA junior will be concluded Thursday afternoon.

Chick Evans of Edgewater, for whom the city amateur was the vehicle of his first important golfing victory 35 years ago, has entered the tournament at the old south side course. Eddie Kletcke of Beverly, winner of the 1941 title, already has worked out over the Jackson park layout in preparation for the defense of his title. Other former champions, in addition to Evans, who are among the advance entries are Harold Mathisen, Bill Fitzgerald, and Gene Budd.

Low 64 in Title Flight.

The low 64 scorers in today's qualifying round will be placed in the championship flight. The remaining entries will be distributed in subsidiary flights, depending on today's scores. Match play will begin tomorrow and continue thru Saturday. The entrance fee is $1, plus daily green fees of 50 cents.

The juniors, many of whom competed in the Open event at Edgewood Valley last week, will hold their competition over Medinah's No. 3 championship course. Bill Ludolph of Aurora, who won last year's title by defeating Jack Duers of Park Ridge, 3 and 1, in the final at Twin Orchard, is exempt from today's qualifying test. Duers, recent winner of the Midwest Public links title, also is entered. Other contenders include Bob Judson, Jack Kuhlman, John H. Kehl, Bill Hoier Jr., Douglas Beath, Ted Liphardt, Aaron J. Jones III., Connie Creed Jr., Ronald Ellis, Pete Smith, Steve Seidel, Ralph Goldwyn, and Richard Hoffman.

Continues Thru Thursday.

Following today's qualifying round, the tournament will continue at 18 hole match play thru Thursday afternoon. It is open to junior members of CDGA clubs, or sons of members, 21 years old and under. Tee entries will be accepted.

Wally Brewer Wins Illinois Casting Title

The Illinois state casting tournament, held yesterday at the Lincoln Park Casting club, was turned into a one man show by Wally Brewer of the host club.

In the individual events he won the ⅝ ounce bait, the ⅜ ounce bait, and the dry fly, placed second in the wet fly and tied for third in the bass bug. For all these accomplishments he received trophies and the undisputed title of Illinois all around casting champion for 1942.

Three Perfect Scores Made.

There were three perfect scores during the day. Frank Steel hit every target to win the bass bug and Howard Chatt duplicated his feat in the wet fly. Brewer's only perfect mark came in a castoff against Ronald Giese Jr. in the ⅝ ounce accuracy test. Both men had 96 in the event, and in the castoff Brewer hit every ring and Giese dropped to 93.

Mrs. James Neary, who won the women's state championship more than 20 years ago [so long ago that she has forgotten the year] came back to win the title again by scoring 94 in the ⅝ ounce event. In the interim she had forgotten casting for golf, but this spring returned to the game with satisfying results.

Mrs. De Launty in Castoff.

Mrs. Clara DeLaunty, who casts with Mrs. Neary at the Jackson Park Casting club, also scored 94 in the ⅝ event, but dropped to a 91 against Mrs. Neary's 92 in the castoff. Summaries:

BASS BUG—Won by Frank Steel, 100; Ernest Lambert, second, 98; Carol Steel and Walter Brewer, tied for third, 97.

DRY FLY—Won by Walter Brewer, 93; Anthony Arado, second, 92; Jack Helmer, third, 91.

Washington Park Meeting to Open Today consider him ready to go to the post again.

Shut Out Steps Up Pace.

Meanwhile, however, Shut Out has been adding the Yankee Handicap and the Arlington Classic to the victories which he previously had won in the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes, giving Alsab something to shoot at. It is quite likely that these two will meet before Chicago fans in the American Derby. There's still time for Alsab to get in some damaging blows at his rival's prestige before the season is over—but Shut Out has given ample evidence that he is a first class horse and that those stake victories of his weren't just temporary flashes of speed.

Tho a field of 17 was named in the overnight entries it is considered unlikely that more than 12 or 13 will go to the post today. Among the nominees are many seasoned older horses which have demonstrated great speed over a short route. Best Seller, Woof Woof, Smacked, Technician, and Signator can be depended upon to make it hard for Alsab. Thumbs Up is a horse of Alsab's own age which has shown considerable talent during the Arlington meeting.

CLUB ENTERTAINS SERVICE MEN IN GROUPS SUNDAYS

Each Sunday 15 service men spend the afternoon and evening at the Idlewild Country club in Flossmoor as guests of the club. It's a long, lazy day or a busy, athletic one as the service men wish, for the club's athletic facilities, dining rooms, and game rooms are open to them.

In June the board of directors of the club agreed that everything possible should be done to provide recreation for the nation's fighting men. On June 20 a party to raise funds to entertain the men was given and more than $1,000 was raised. Auctioning of articles donated by club members brought a most fabulous price—$40 for a dozen golf balls, $60 for a bottle of Scotch, $100 for a duffle bag.

The service men are invited to the club thru the United Service Organizations. Their transportation is paid for and cars both meet them at the train when they arrive and take them back in the evening. Lunch is served and there is a full course dinner at night. Charles L. Schrager, member of the board of directors of Idlewild, is the entertainment chairman.

REDS LOSE TO BRAVES, 7 TO 0; THEN WIN, 4-2

Javery Yields Five Hits in Winning Shutout.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 2 (AP).—Home runs proved the decisive factors in both games of a double header divided by the Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds today, with the Reds winning the second, 4 to 2, after the Braves blanked them in the opener, 7 to 0.

Max West's 11th homer, in the first inning with the bases loaded, gave Boston more than enough runs to win the first game, for Al Javery limited Cincinnati to five hits and issued no walks. Boston seemed headed for a double victory until the seventh inning of the second game when the Reds broke loose with home runs. With one out, Eric Tipton hit his third four bagger since he recently joined Cincinnati. Then, after Frank Kelleher walked and Buck McCormick fouled out, Eddie Joost's fifth homer of the season won the ball game. Scores:

Cooper, Cards Win; Hubbell Gets 5 in Row

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—For the second time in two days, the New York Giants divided a double header with the St. Louis Cardinals today, dampening the pennant hopes of the Cards and leaving them nine full games behind the first place Brooklyn Dodgers in the National league.

Carl Hubbell, who had beaten the Cards on two previous occasions, scattered nine hits as he pitched the Giants to a 7 to 1 triumph in the opener, with the help of some lusty stick work by his boss, Mel Ott, but Mort Cooper shaded Hal Schumacher in a hurling duel to give the Cards the second game, 3 to 2. Ott smashed his 15th and 16th home runs in the first game, the latter with the bases loaded, to help Hubbell hang up his fifth straight victory and his sixth of the year. Cooper's triumph was his 13th victory.

Enos Slaughter of the Cards hit safely in both games to run his batting streak to 16 consecutive contests. Scores:

Cubs Win, 7-6, After Dodgers Take 1st, 5-4

Vaughan's single and passes to Reiser and Dolph Camilli. Two runs came home on Bill Herman's fly and Mickey Owen's single. That made it necessary to remove Lee for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The Cubs leveled on French in the eighth. Novikoff singled and scored on Foxx's double. Lou Stringer's strikeout slowed up matters, but Clyde McCullough walked. Rip Russell's pinch batting effort, a fly, sent Foxx to third. He scored on Bob Scheffing's pinch single. Stan Hack's single brought in McCullough with the tying run and Max Macon relieved French. Hack tried to launch a double steal, but Len Merullo, running for Scheffing, was caught between third and home.

Reese opened the Brooklyn 10th against Olsen with a triple down the third base line. After the bases were filled by intentional walks to Lew Riggs and Frenchy Bordagaray, Johnny Rizzo popped out. Then Reiser sent a long fly to Cavarretta for the winning run. This made Ed Head, who had relieved Macon in the tenth, the winning pitcher.

Novikoff Cracks One.

The Cubs dashed into a 1 to 0 lead in the first inning of the second game when Bill Nicholson walked with two out and scored on Novikoff's double off the center field wall. Herman's double and Billy Sullivan's single gave the Dodgers a tie in the second inning.

Higbe retired after loading the bases with none out in the third. Hack's single was followed by passes to Charley Gilbert and Nicholson. This brought in Les Webber, eventual losing pitcher. The result was only a run, Hack scoring when Cavarretta hit into a force play at second after Novikoff had lined to Herman. Singles by Reiser, Joe Medwick, and Herman gave the champions a 2 to 2 tie in the fourth.

Gilbert, who had beaten out a bunt, was on first base with two out in the Cubs' fifth when Novikoff hit Webber's first pitch high over the right field wall. When Cavarretta singled, Schoolboy Rowe relieved Webber and got the side out. The Dodgers came back with a run in their half on Reese's double and Rowe's single.

Just a Triple for Nick.

Nicholson missed a home run in the seventh when the ball bounced back into the field after it had gone over a sign board atop the scoreboard in right center. He stayed on third while Rowe retired the next three batters.

Hack opened the victory ninth by walking and was forced by Gilbert, who stole second. Then Nicholson walked. Novikoff's pop fly to Reese was followed by Cavarretta's double over Medwick's head for two runs. Phil came home on Stringer's single to right.

Browns Waste 19 Hits; Lose Pair to Yanks

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 2 (AP).—Hitting doesn't necessarily provide runs, the Browns found today, as they dropped a double header to the New York Yankees, 4 to 2 and 10 to 0. The Browns, leading the Yankees two games to one in their five game series at the beginning of the double bill, made 19 hits for a total of just two runs while the Yankees were producing 14 runs off 22 hits.

SOX, SENATORS' DOUBLE HEADER WEATHER VICTIM

Chicagoans Play Today at Camp Grant.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

James Dykes' White Sox had some unexpected rest forced on them yesterday by the weatherman and, for a very sound reason, they promised to make use of it. They'll be routed out early this morning, the purpose being to get them aboard a 9 o'clock bus for Camp Grant where they'll endeavor to spread entertainment this afternoon in an exhibition with the Army nine.

Just to make sure there'll be no chance to accuse him of not providing the best amusement at his command Dykes has a bus seat for every man on the roster. What's more, he's going to furnish some good pitching for the soldier athletes. It will be Joe Haynes, Bill Dietrich, and Lee Ross, each in a three inning whirl—that is, unless the soldiers bounce one or more with a shower of base hits.

Sox to See Some Pitching.

Joe Skurski, the Camp Grant skipper who made his debut June 1 and whipped the Cubs, plans on letting Dykes observe a kid right hander who is White Sox property. The youngster is Pvt. Richard Hirsch, who was with the Sox Waterloo, Ia., farm club last season. The boss of the khaki nine also has Joe Rogalski primed for action. Joe, a veteran class AA minor leaguer, is the guy who did eight innings of work in the game that the Cubs dropped.

The Sox will return to formal big league competition tomorrow afternoon in the opener of a three game series with the Tigers. Ted Lyons will operate in the first affair.

A Busy Week in September.

Postponement of yesterday's double header with Washington tossed complications into the Sox schedule and at the same time served to fix them up with about the most strenuous week ever experienced by a big league outfit. The week will go something like this:

On Sept. 7 the Sox must take care of Cleveland in a twin bill. Luckily the next day [Tuesday] is open. On Sept. 9 Washington was originally scheduled for a night game. This will be changed into a twilight-electric light double header to take care of one of yesterday's erasures. The other will be handled by playing a double header with the Senators the next day. This means four games in a 24 hour stretch. Then the Yanks show up for two single games and the busy week will conclude in a double header with Boston Sept. 13.

GREAT LAKES TO PLAY TIGERS AT STATION TODAY

The Detroit Tigers, once managed by Lieut. Gordon S. [Mickey] Cochrane, will lead another parade of major league baseball clubs to the Great Lakes Naval Training station today, when they meet the Bluejackets before more than 8,000 recruits.

The Cleveland Indians will play at Great Lakes next Saturday and the St. Louis Cardinals will move in for an exhibition game next Monday.

SAILORS WIN NO. 50

St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 2 [Special].—The Great Lakes Bluejackets won their 50th baseball game in 60 starts this season here tonight, defeating the St. Joseph Autos, 2 to 0 in seven innings. The game was called in the eighth because of weather.

Pitcher Frank Marino scored the first Bluejacket run with a homer in the third inning. Third Baseman Ernie Andres hit a home run in the seventh for the second score. A crowd of 2,465 saw the game. Score:

DON'T LET YOUR HAIR DOWN, YOUNG MAN!

"Twenty years ago I took the Thomas treatment, and since then I have taken care of my hair in the manner prescribed by Thomas. Today, at 50, I still have a good head of hair. Perhaps I might have retained my hair anyway, but I sincerely feel that without proper treatment and care I would be bald by now." These statements are typical comments heard almost daily in Thomas offices.

Each day 1600 men who realize that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" are taking Thomas treatment. Thomas is helping these men in their "hair defense" program by removing dandruff and soothing the scalp itch which dandruff may cause. Let Thomas help you, too, in your battle against baldness. Come in today for free consultation and advice (in private) and see for yourself exactly how the reliable Thomas method works.

ASHER TO FIGHT TRIAL IN CAPITAL AS SEDITIONIST

Publisher of X-Ray Denies Committing Crime.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 2 [Special].—Court Asher, publisher of the X-Ray, a weekly newspaper, today conferred with an attorney in preparation for the fight he plans to make against removal to Washington, D. C., to stand trial with 27 other persons on charges of conspiring to break the morale of America's armed forces.

Asher, who served nine months overseas in the World war, said he intends to attempt to withdraw a waiver to removal proceedings he filed before the United States commissioner in Indianapolis. He then will file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, probably Tuesday, in federal district court there, he said.

"I signed the waiver before I had a copy of the indictment," Asher said. "Now that I have this copy, I can find no overt act charged against me.

Never Saw Conspirators.

"I am charged with conspiring with people I've never seen or talked to in my life. I wouldn't know them if I saw them. I'm not connected with any foreign outfit. Both of my grandfathers fought in the Civil war and my great-great-grandfather was with Washington at Valley Forge. But I don't intend to hide behind my own or my relatives' war records."

Asher also has two nephews serving with our army in Australia, and a brother-in-law in the navy, he said. Married for 26 years, he lives with his wife in this city where he has long been active in the American Legion and its affiliate, the "40 and 8."

"Those Legion boys know me and they may do something to help me defend myself," he said. "I haven't got a dime."

Acted As Own Attorney.

Asher acted as his own attorney in his unsuccessful attempt to block revocation of the second class mailing privileges of his newspaper in June. The government declared that 13 consecutive issues had "shown clearly a purposed attempt to embarrass and defeat the government in its effort to prosecute the war." He continues to publish the X-Ray, however.

Asher said he regards the indictment faulty in that it accuses him of conspiring with the other defendants in Washington. He has never been in Washington except under government subpena before a grand jury and the Dies committee, he said.

Excerpts from articles quoted in the indictment are his reprints of matter previously published in the Congressional Record and newspapers, he said.

"The New Dealers are trying to silence congress by persecuting organizations which publish the news of congress," he declared.

CHANDLER WINS NOMINATION IN KENTUCKY VOTE

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 2 (AP).—Kentucky Democrats have nominated A. B. [Happy] Chandler for a full term in the senate, where he is serving by appointment.

Returns from 3,595 of the state's 4,373 precincts showed that in yesterday's primary Chandler received 113,013 votes to 46,017 for his opponent, John Young Brown, a former congressman. The counting of votes halted last midnight and will be resumed tomorrow.

Republicans nominated Richard J. Colbert to oppose Chandler in November. The Republican primary was overshadowed in public interest by the Chandler-Brown contest, in which Brown criticized Chandler for accepting as a gift a swimming pool from a Louisville war contractor.

The Republican vote in the 3,595 precincts was Colbert 16,574; G. Tom Hawkins, 3,489; Hector Johnson, 3,923, and Charles B. Candler, 8,404. Under Kentucky law only a plurality is required for nomination.

John M. Robsion, lone Kentucky Republican in congress, defeated Eugene E. Siler for renomination in the 9th district and will have no Democratic opposition. The vote in 477 of the district's 624 precincts gave Robsion 17,703 and Siler 6,209.

RENT CZAR SUES ONLY 1 LANDLORD IN FIRST MONTH

During July, first month of federal rent control in the Chicago area, only 1,280 complaints that the law had been violated were received at the rent offices, Earl Dean Howard, area rent dirctor, reported yesterday.

Howard, who described the month as peaceful, said there were 4,165 petitions for increases and decreases in rents. Of the total, 3,309 landlords petitioned for rent increases and 856 tenants sought decreases from the March 1 ceiling levels.

"These figures show the vast majority of landlords are satisfied with the March 1 ceiling," Howard continued. "The fact that it has been necessary to file only one lawsuit in settling the 1,280 complaints shows a willingness on the part of landlords to comply with the regulations when advised of their provisions."

The Chicago rental area includes Cook, Kane, Du Page, and Lake counties with a population of 4,400,000.

EYE, EAR CLINIC TRANSFER TO BE MADE TOMORROW

U. of I. Will Take Over State Infirmary.

Administration of the Illinois Eye and Ear infirmary, 904 Adams street, is to be transferred from the state department of public welfare to the University of Illinois, according to an announcement made yesterday by Gov. Green.

The formal transfer will be made tomorrow at a meeting of the governor and officials of the university and the welfare department at the infirmary.

Another Step in Program.

Gov. Green described the transfer as another step in his program of improvement of public welfare service. It will be the second service and training institute transferred during his administration. In April, 1941, the Illinois Neuro-Psychiatric Institute of Juvenile Research, 912 South Wood street, was taken over by the University of Illinois.

Gov. Green said the principal reason for the transfer of the Eye and Ear infirmary is to give the institution a larger and more comprehensive medical staff, to expand clinical work and to provide more training facilities for students and physicians.

"By placing the administration of the infirmary with the University of Illinois," Gov. Green said, "the institution will have access to a medical staff and faculty which it could not hope to obtain otherwise. This institution has become one of the largest of its kind in the world, servicing more than 100,000 dispensary patients annually, and nearly 6,000 hospital cases each year."

Given New Hope to Many.

The governor said the institution has given new life and hope to thousands of people who otherwise might have lived in blindness the rest of their lives. The institution, he said, has carried on a continuous war against trachoma and glaucoma. Its work, he added, has been "humanitarian work."

Gov. and Mrs. Green will be luncheon guests tomorrow of Dr. and Mrs. John B. Cipriani at the infirmary. Dr. Cipriani, an assistant professor of medicine at the University of Illinois, is managing officer of the infirmary. Later the governor will inspect the institution.

REPORTS $1,772 BURGLARY.

Burglars who entered his apartment while he was away took furs and jewelry worth $1,772, George H. Craig of 7321 South Shore drive reported to police yesterday.

HOTELS JAMMED AS ARMY CROWDS OUT RESIDENTS

Rooms Also Scarce in Outlying Areas.

Chicago's first week-end without the Stevens and Congress hotels produced a jam of record proportions in other hotels. The two hotels with their combined capacity of 5,000 guests became units 1 and 2 of the army air force radio school at midnight Friday.

Hundreds of visitors canvassed the major hotels Saturday and yesterday, and finally found rooms in obscure apartment hotels or rooming houses. Those few accommodations still available in the loop and near north side hotels were of the de luxe class, at rates most visitors could not afford to pay.

Turned away from downtown hostelries, thousands went to outlying hotels.

"Everybody wants a hotel room," cried Miss Katherine Lowry at the Hotel Sherman.

YMCA's Are Crowded.

After an assistant manager at the Palmer House minimized the extent of the overflow, a caller who asked for a room was told in matter-of-fact manner: "Sorry, we're filled to capacity and can't guarantee a thing until Tuesday."

The largest hotels kept in touch with the smaller ones to route the business they could not handle.

Nearly all of the YMCA's in and near the loop were striving to absorb the crowds but could not find enough space. In the Central and Wabash avenue YMCA's, cots were set up in the gymnasiums at 35 cents a night, and in the latter place 300 were turned away even tho sleeping on sofas in the lobby was permitted.

Other factors than the closing of the Stevens and Congress hotels to the public were cited by hotel men. Chicago has thousands of service men in training here and relatives frequently visit them on week-ends. Soldiers and sailors from Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes and more distant posts make Chicago their goal for week-end pleasures.

Move to City from Washington.

An ever increasing number of federal employés, including the entire personnel of the railroad retirement board shifted here from Washington, D. C., now live in Chicago. Many do not have their families here, however, but these folks visit occasionally. The national convention of the CIO Automobile Workers' union is in progress in the Sherman.

Pressure of these factors has been noticeable on week-ends during the last two months, hotel men said, but it took the Stevens and Congress closings to bulge the accommodations in a city long accustomed to sudden influxes of visitors.

CICERO HONORS ITS NO. 1 HERO, A FLYING TIGER

Yesterday was Robert Brouk day in Cicero, as the city turned out to pay homage to its No. 1 hero, who, as a member of the intrepid Flying Tigers downed four Jap Zero planes over China.

Parades, speeches, and band music were the order of the day, and the flyer was paid a fitting tribute in language he could readily understand when an army pursuit plane flew low over the crowd and dipped its wings in salute.

The Western Electric company donated the use of its Memorial field for the affair, which drew thousands of admirers of Brouk and other flying heroes. Brouk, who was wounded by a straffing Jap plane when his ship was grounded, spoke briefly—and modestly—of his heroic exploits.

GIRL AND 2 MEN ARE DROWNED IN LAKES NEAR CITY

Drowning claimed three lives yesterday at Chicagoland lakes.

Selma Jean Rankin, 17 years old, of Waukegan, a high school pupil, drowned in Channel lake near Antioch. She and Paul Fitzgerald, 19, of Waukegan, a defense worker, were diving from a rented boat anchored about 75 feet from shore. She shouted for help. Fitzgerald dived to her aid, but was unable to subdue her struggles and bring her to the side of the boat.

Two men, one a Chicagoan, drowned in Diamond lake, near Mundelein. They were Matthew Fazzi, 22, of 3565 Belden avenue, and Joseph Pierce, about 40, of Mundelein. Fazzi, according to Mundelein police, was swimming with two friends when he went down. Pierce fell out of a boat from which he was fishing, and drowned before aid could reach him from shore.

INTENDED VICTIM DISARMS BANDIT AND SHOOTS HIM

An attempted lovers lane holdup near Aurora yesterday backfired when Victor Goninez, 30 years old, the intended victim, siezed the holdup gun and routed the bandits, shooting one of them below the heart.

The injured man is Joe Schwigen, 20, whose wound is expected to prove fatal. His companions were Robert Dellante, 19, and George Mikle, 20. All are of Aurora.

Schwigen and Dellante approached the automobile in which Goninez and Vivian Pena, 23, were parked near the Spring Lake cemetery, while Mikle sat behind the wheel of the bandit car. Goninez was ordered to get out of the car, and while Schwigen was going thru his pockets, he grabbed the bandit's gun. The three confessed to Aurora police that they have ocmmitted numerous lovers lane and gasoline station robberies.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

SOARING TAXES CUT PROFITS OF WAR INDUSTRIES

Rails Alone Retain Part of Gains.

New York, Aug. 2 [World Wide].—A sharp turning point toward lower profits, and thus a major mile post in the economic side of the war, appears to have been reached, experts agreed today. Enough earnings reports for the June quarter and first six months of 1942 have been made public thus far to warrant this conclusion, many financial men believe.

This observation applies almost altogether to manufacturing companies, altho the long starved railroads still manage to get rising benefits for security holders out of increasing war traffic.

Offset Record Volume.

But industrial companies in many cases have reached or passed the point of diminishing returns, where taxes and other increased costs of operation incident to war have stopped or reversed the rise in profits despite large, and in many cases record breaking, volumes of gross business.

A compilation of the earnings of 290 companies in the manufacturing, mining, trade, and service industries for the first half of this year, made by the National City Bank of New York, set the figure at 475 million dollars, after paying taxes, compared with 725 millions for the same group in the first six months of 1941.

Tax Burden Mounts.

The 155 manufacturing companies which gave details of federal income and excess profits tax provisions reported their estimated tax liability for the half year was 884 million dollars, compared with 578 millions a year earlier, an increase of 34.6 per cent.

Thus 73 cents of every dollar of profit before taxes of this representative group of companies went to the tax collector in the first half of this year, leaving 27 cents as the possible source of dividends to stockholders. Statisticians report that at the peak of taxation in World War I., in 1918, the proportion of net income before taxes which went into the tax bag was 45 per cent for manufacturing companies.

Aircraft Firm Reports Gain in Net Income

The United Aircraft corporation reported yesterday that its shipments in the three months ended June 30 totaled $132,592,433, more than in the entire first half of 1941 and about double the amount shown for the June quarter a year ago.

United's net profit was $3,478,408 for the recent quarter, equal after preferred dividends to $1.18 a common share, against revised net income of $2,353,854, or 89 cents a share in the parallel 1941 period.

For the first six months of this year shipments totaled $242,708,318 and net profits were $6,954,988, equal to $2.37 a common share.

Taxes to Cut Figure.

Shipments during the first half of 1941 were $121,712,362 and revised net income was $5,583,340, or $2.10 a share.

The company explained it had figured income and excess profits taxes at 80 per cent, but that under the revenue act passed by the house income for the half year would be cut $677,000 to the equivalent of $2.12 a share.

United's backlog of orders on June 30 totaled $914,191,113, nearly 50 per cent higher than on April 1. The report was issued from company offices in New York.

Koppers Earns More.

The Koppers company, Pittsburgh, reported consolidated net income of $5,688,673 for the 12 months ended June 30, compared with $4,690,805 for the preceding 12 months. Earnings were equal to $4.49 and $3.49 a share in the respective periods.

The Inspiration Consolidated Copper company reported net income for the six months ended June 30, without deduction for depletion, was $860,284, equal to 73 cents a share, against $978,092, or 83 cents a share in the 1941 period.

Standard Oil company of Ohio reported $2,089,315 net profit for the first half of 1942, against $2,542,311 a year ago. Taxes climbed to $7,061,000 from $3,616,500.

Job Insurance Payments Dip for 3d Straight Month

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—For the third consecutive month, job insurance payments dropped during June, but claims for unemployment benefits increased over May, Paul V. Mexico to Aid Victory Thru Rubber Pledge

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 2 (AP).—Virtual agreement has been reached on an understanding between Mexico and the United States, informed sources reported today, under which all this nation's resources of rubber will be pledged to the democratic war effort.

The negotiations were termed an important phase of the United States drive to alleviate the united nations' "serious" shortage of rubber before it becomes "critical."

Mexico's entire production of guayule—about 9,000 tons a year—will be sold exclusively to the United States for processing. Final price terms have not been settled, but are expected to be fixed within a few days.

In addition President Avila Camacho's administration has committed itself to measures to conserve the nation's stocks of finished and raw rubber which run into thousands of tons. An inventory to determine the exact amount is in progress. Mexico produces about 3,000 tons of tree rubber annually. In the past it has imported 2,000 additional tons a year to satisfy domestic requirements.

Under the projected conservation program internal consumption, it was said, will probably be reduced to less than 3,000 tons and large surplus stocks accumulated before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor will be turned over to United States war industries.

INDUSTRY ASKED TO PREPARE ITS POST-WAR PLANS

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers today sought to stimulate consideration of postwar problems among its 8,000 members thru an educational campaign.

William P. Witherow, president, said that "over 66 per cent of the American people are extremely interested in what industry is doing to prepare for after the war" and "among industrialists the figure is closer to 100 per cent."

Witherow asked NAM members to make these considerations in studying postwar problems:

"First, to take practical steps which will bring us out of the war in a sound and strong position, able to carry on under private enterprise the No. 1 job of industry—which is production. Second, to outline our own framework for the pattern of American society in the postwar world."

Patterson said that United has 4,100 persons on its pay roll.

Young Reports 13% Increase in Midwest Pay

Higher wage rates and expanded operating schedules have increased midwest pay rolls of manufacturing industries to a level 13 per cent higher than last year at this time, Clifford S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, said yesterday in his monthly economic survey.

"While the war has brought no boom in total employment in this district," he said in commenting on conditions in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin, "it has substantially increased the purchasing power of the workers."

Increase Since Mid-March.

As war plants have been steadily expanding, other industries have shown a loss in employment, but since the middle of March there has been a combined rise of 2 per cent in manufacturing employment, Young said.

The number of jobs in this classification in the 7th federal reserve district is at a level 4 per cent below that of June, 1941, and 7 per cent below the peak of last September, he said. This reflects the curtailment of industries unable to convert to war production.

Steel Production High.

In commenting on general conditions, the reserve bank president said:

"The overshadowing economic problem is production of a maximum of war goods for the armed forces and a residual as large as practicable for civilians. While steel shortages continue to be a serious problem, steel producers are maintaining a most enviable record and in spite of the serious scrap situation, production has not fallen below capacity since the week of Pearl Harbor."

NEW FINANCING FOR CARNATION CO. IS APPROVED

The Carnation company, producer of evaporated milk, announced yesterday that its stockholders had approved plans for the sale of $2,050,000 of 4 per cent first preferred stock and 4 million dollars of 3 per cent 15 year debentures in connection with a refinancing program. The stockholders also approved a reduction in the dividend rate on the outstanding $2,950,000 of first prefrred stock from 5 to 4 per cent.

The new preferred and the debentures will be sold privately to insurance and investment companies thru Kidder, Peabody & Co. and A. E. Ames & Co. About 4 million dollars of the proceeds will be used to liquidate serial bank loans and the rest to increase working capital.

Sunray Oil corporation announced it had placed with a group of banks and insurance companies, thru Eastman, Dillon & Co., $4,500,000 of five year 2½ per cent first mortgage instalment notes and 12 year 3½ per cent first mortgage debentures of Sunray Oil company, a wholly owned subsidiary.

RE-RATING STEEL ORDERS FOR WAR SNARLS INDUSTRY

The magazine Steel reported yesterday that rerating of steel orders, to place most essential needs under the new higher designations, is at such a rate that order departments find difficulty keeping pace and that some sellers believe the purpose may be defeated.

"The full range of new ratings is represented in new or reclassified orders, from AAA to A-1-A, the latter being accepted but no delivery promise being made," the trade publication said. "The rush for preferred position not only involves much paper work but develops many scheduling problems, some of which are complicated by splitting old orders into several priority classes."

Because of furnace repairs, the national ingot production rate fell one-half point last week to 98 per cent of estimated capacity, the magazine said.

TREASURY 'TAP' ISSUE REOPENED FOR NEW SALES

Unlimited Amounts to Be Offered.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau tonight announced a government offering of an additional amount of 2½ per cent 1962-'67 treasury bonds of which 880 million dollars' worth was subscribed in May. Unlike most issues, the amount of additional bonds was not specifically limited. For this reason, it is known as a "tap" issue.

Subscribers will be allotted the full amount asked for. The bonds will be offered thru the federal reserve banks at par and accrued interest from May 5, the date of issue.

New Issue Later in Week.

This issue is in addition to an offer of 1 billion 500 million dollars in treasury certificates of indebtedness to be made later in the week. Details of this financing were not yet available.

Morgenthau said the new 1962-'67 bonds would have additional rights not heretofore accorded to the issue. They will contain a provision for their optional redemption, at par and accrued interest, upon the death of the owner, for the purpose of satisfying federal estate taxes.

The bonds will not be available for subscription by commercial banks accepting demand deposits, nor eligible for transfer to such banks for a period of 10 years from the date of issue.

Subject to Federal Taxes.

The treasury reserved the right to close the subscription books at any time without notice. Income from the bonds will be subject to all federal taxes, now or hereafter imposed.

In another announcement, the treasury said that sales of war bonds in July reached $900,900,000, the second highest monthly total since sales of the securities began. Sales in January, the month following the attack on Pearl Harbor, totaled $1,060,546,000. June sales amounted to $634,000,000.

Morgenthau announced the August war bond sales quota had been set at 815 million dollars.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Field Again Acts Up.

Aug. 3, 1942.

THE "hoodoo" field at the farm is acting up again and causing more trouble. This one field of 22 acres just south of the tool shed causes the farm manager more trouble and work than all the rest of the land put together.

Here is the criminal record of the field to date. For the last five years the field has been put into oats and clover except for last year. Each year either the oat crop was light or the clover also in the field failed to catch or produce any tonnage. Last year the ground was to be put into oats again.

Before planting time a heavy rain made it impossible to work the fields. Long after the rest of the land dried out this particular tract remained soggy and unworkable.

Decides to Plant Corn.

Oat planting time passed and the ground remained wet and sprouted a luxuriant growth of quack grass. The manager finally was forced to change his plans and put the field into corn. By planting at the last minute and working the ground constantly the quack grass was subdued.

Acting like it had decided to be nice for a while, the field yielded a good corn crop. But now the manager has discovered the field was merely taking it easy and preparing for the big surprise of its career.

When the combine moved into the field the other day to start harvesting the oats the manager found that the land was covered with bindweed—one of the most destructive weeds that can infest a field.

The bindweed, or morning glory, is primarily a creeper that spreads rapidly thru the fields, robbing the crops of food and moisture. Roots of the plant may extend nine feet into the soil and when the weed is cut off at the surface it produces new shoots in two or three days.

Farm Manager Stumped.

The manager is stumped now as to what action to take. The field—double cropped—also is seeded down to alfalfa and there is a good catch of the legume where the bindweed permits it to show thru. To plow the field now would destroy the alfalfa, but to let the weed remain means it will spread to the other fields.

As is typical of the field, the oat yield is running lighter than any of the other fields. Because of the bindweed the oats are filled with weed seeds and should not be put in with the other oats which are relatively clean. The manager probably will have to go to the expense of having the oats cleaned before he can store them in the bins.

If they are not cleaned but fed to the stock containing the weed seeds then the bindweed will return to the fields thru the manure, thus infesting the rest of the farm.

Undoubtedly the best course of action to take with the field is to plant it to a smother crop of either soy beans or buckwheat. This will kill the weeds. Grazing by sheep or cattle will not help as the stock does not get down to the plant roots which must be destroyed.

The manager now is planning to lime the field heavily and put on phosphate in hopes that this treatment will help to straighten out the soil.

BROWN COMPANY

Berlin, New Hampshire, U. S. A.

Interest Payment on General Mortgage 5% Cumulative Bonds, Series A

Brown Company will mail on August 20, 1942 to the registered owners on that date of its General Mortgage 5% Cumulative Bonds, Series A, checks for interest for the period from December 1, 1939 to June 1, 1940.

Under the Standby Provisions as set forth in the Bond Indenture no interest on the General Mortgage Bonds is payable until June 1, 1943; however, pursuant to a vote by the Board of Directors of Brown Company and upon request by the Board, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has waived these Provisions so as to permit this payment in advance.

This action has been taken in recognition of the situation of the Bondholders, who received no interest on their old Bonds during reorganization and who under the Plan of Reorganization received new Bonds carrying accrued interest from December 1, 1939. This payment, which is the first partial payment on the interest accrued, is made out of the consolidated net earnings of 1942 to date of Brown Company and its subsidiaries.

Some of the old securities have not yet been exchanged under the Plan of Reorganization which was consummated November 29, 1941. While the Plan is binding on all old securities, holders of the old Bonds who do not exchange and become registered owners of the new Bonds prior to August 20 will receive this interest payment only upon making the exchange under the Plan. Hence it is suggested that all such holders should promptly present their old Bonds for exchange to the duly appointed Exchange Agents:

LEGAL NOTICES.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION.

Pursuant to law in such case made and provided, public notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment will be submitted to the electors of the State of Illinois for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 3, 1942.

Article IX.

Sec. 1. The General Assembly shall provide such revenue as may be needful by levying a tax, by valuation, so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her, or its property, such value to be ascertained by some person or persons, to be elected or appointed in such manner as the General Assembly shall direct, and not otherwise; but the General Assembly shall have power to tax peddlers, auctioneers, brokers, hawkers, merchants, commission merchants, showmen, jugglers, innkeepers, grocery keepers, liquor dealers, toll bridges, ferries, insurance, telegraph and express interests or business, venders of patents, and persons or corporations owning or using franchises and privileges, in such manner as it shall from time to time direct by general law, uniform as to the class upon which it operates.

Notwithstanding the foregoing requirement that a tax shall be uniform as to the class upon which it operates, the General Assembly shall have power to exempt from the provisions of any Act imposing an occupational or privilege tax the business of selling food for human consumption, and in providing for such exemption the General Assembly shall have power to define the word "food."

EXPLANATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The proposed Section 1 of Article IX of the Constitution differs from the present Section 1 of Article IX only by reason of the addition of the second paragraph, which is entirely new and which provides that the General Assembly shall have the power, in imposing an occupation or privilege tax, to exempt the business of selling food for human consumption, and gives the General Assembly the power to define the word "food."

REASONS WHY PROPOSED AMENDMENT SHOULD BE RATIFIED BY THE VOTERS.

The Constitution requires that the General Assembly, in levying an occupational tax, shall make the same uniform as to the class upon which it operates. Therefore, the General Assembly has no power to exempt food sold for human consumption, but must impose an occupational tax on all retailers, or none. By giving the General Assembly power to exempt sales of food from the operation of the sales tax, a way is opened to remedy the injustice existing under the present law.

The proposition for the adoption or rejection of the proposed amendment will appear on the official ballot at the left of the names of the candidates following the explanation hereinabove made in substantially the following form:

For the proposed amendment to Section 1 of Article IX of the Constitution.	Yes
	No

In order for the proposed amendment to be adopted it must receive a majority of all the votes cast at the general election, not just a majority of all the votes on the proposed amendment. All who neglect to vote on the proposed amendment are really voting against it. Each voter of Illinois is urged to study this question carefully and to vote according to his or her best judgment.

D. 1942, the originals of which are now on file in this office.

WHERE EUROPE MAY BE INVADED FROM ENGLAND

This is a new war map showing where the united nations, principally the United States and Great Britain, might hurl an invading army from England into France or the Low Countries in the event of an attempt to establish a second front against Germany to relieve the Nazi pressure on Russia. The north shoreline of Europe, from Denmark to Spain, guarded at many points by guns seized by the Germans when they took the Maginot line, presents hundreds of miles of open coast and bays, where boat borne troops, protected by swarms of planes, might effect landings. How many American troops are in the British Isles is a secret. The British themselves are said to have about three and a half million men under arms on the isles. Lines of advancement by land of an allied invading army, as shown by arrows on the map, follow the river valleys.
